A Sulphurous Lake.

A strange phenomenon has been discovered in a few Dekers, a village in southern Indiana. A small lake about 400 feet in diameter and existing a peculiarly odoriferous.

The water is very acrid and reposing near the burning lake is very productive. The lake was first discovered by two boys. When they reached it, they were startled by the strange sight and fled away. The lake is a beautiful spot of water, curiously in the middle of a large expanse and is bordered by a heavy growth of swamp

The fire covers the entire country with a bloody red mist, and at night its glare can be seen for a considerable distance.

The most curious aspect of this is that the distance of the lake is not under the sun and the water is the same as the sulphur and salt of the salt beds of Cuba.

Towards the south, there is a small island in the center of the lake, on which a little village is located.

The inhabitants of this village are engaged in mining the lake, and the lake is considered as a source of great wealth.

The weather is now improving, and we hope to see much better times in the future.

The smallpox is reported to be prevalent in various parts of the country, and it is urged that all should take precautions to prevent its spread.

We are informed that the wheat prices have fallen considerably, and it is feared that the farmers will be seriously affected.

A committee was appointed to investigate the cause of the recentie high prices of wool.

A number of sales are announced for this week, and it is hoped that a large number of people will attend.

The local clergy are very active in their work, and it is hoped that they will be able to reach all the voters, if possible, to influence them in the coming election.

The young men have very much increased their association for the purposes of improving their moral and intellectual deportment.

The young men have increased their association for the purpose of promoting the interests of commerce.

The continues to be a very general desire to improve the moral and intellectual deportment of the young men.
