Dr. A. W. Welsh Delivers Baccalaureate Sermon

The Rev. Dr. A. Augustus Welsh, pastor of Church Evangelical and Reformed, has been the speaker at the Baccalaureate service at Ursinus College, held May 30. Prof. Welsh urged his hearers, the graduating class, their friends and relations, and the congregation of Trinity Church, to "go the second mile," to do the extra work and activity, to be creative, those who are willing to do more than is expected of them by their colleges or by the trained persons should be leaders. Those who are willing to do the little bit more are those who find others satisfactory, those who are willing to do the "little bit more" are those who receive the strength to do the "little bit more". We can all live the great life "on our own".

From Ursinus in 1949, he has been pastor at Bethlehem since 1939, pastor of Trinity Church in Philadelphia since 1949, and is a very interesting and enlightening speaker.

The Rev. Dr. Robert J. S. Pollock, president of Ursinus College, introduced Dean William S. Pettit and the Rev. Dr. A. Augustus Welsh, pastor of Church Evangelical and Reformed, for the invocation of the college. President Norguth, in a word on the occasion, stated, "The scripture, Mr. Wallace Anglin, is minister of these offices."
The congregation joined in the singing of "Oh, God, Our Help in Ages Past," and "Cruise Me, 0 Thou Great Jehovah."

Dear Mrs. Pancoast,

I enjoyed this year's May Pageant and thought you might enjoy a little bit about it, so I'm writing to you today. The following letter was received from an Ursinus student, Noah Price, who attended the May Pageant. The letter was written by Noah Price, a junior at Ursinus College, who attended the May Pageant this year. The letter describes the pageant in detail and provides some insight into the various events that took place. It also includes a list of the names of the students who performed in the pageant. The letter is a wonderful example of the spirit and creativity that is present at Ursinus College and is sure to bring a smile to your face.

Sincerely,

Ray Hamilton

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

May 17, 1954

Dear Editor,

Is our student government a government at all? Is it a government of our students, or are the student leaders merely a group of students who have been selected by other students to represent them? It appears that the student government is not functioning as it should be. The student leaders are not being held accountable for their actions, and the students are not being given a voice in the decision-making process. The student government needs to be restructured so that it can better serve the needs of the students.

Sincerely,

Ray Hamilton

SOME LIGHT ON THE LANTERN PROBLEMS

Dear Editor,

I am writing to you today to express my concern about the problems that are currently facing the student government. It appears that the student leaders are not functioning as they should be. The student government needs to be restructured so that it can better serve the needs of the students.

Sincerely,

Ray Hamilton

Dr. McClure Greets Alumi Back to '84

Saturday, May 30 was the date of the 1904 Alumni Day at Ursinus College. Returning alumns met their friends and classmates at reunions of ten different groups of classes, including all five-year classes back to the year 1894. The graduating classes from 1904 to 1916 held one group reunion together, and of the following classes: 1909, 1914, 1919, 1924, 1930, 1935, 1939, 1944, and 1949, had individual five-year reunions following luncheon. Plans and entertainment for the separate reunions were arranged by the reunion chairmen of each individual group. Bill Power of the class of 1910 was chairman of the Ruby.

The annual meeting of the Alumni Association followed the reunion and was held at 2 p.m. in Bomberger Hall, after which the retiring alumni welcomed by Dr. Norman E. McClure at the Alumni Memorial Library at 3:30 p.m.

Alumni Day was climaxad by a dinner and an evening of entertainment at 6:30 p.m. in Thompson dining room.

The Collegetville - Trappe Story . . .

Collegetville and Its People

By Claude McClure

In the past several weeks, this series, The Collegetville - Trappe Story, probably has made us much more aware of the small community in which many of us are spending four years of our lives. We have learned to appreciate the town, we have heard about its famous people, we have had its politics explained to us, we have had a reality check of the people of Collegetville today — now, when many of us are seeking Collegetville for the last time, let us try to get acquainted with some of the people of Collegetville.

Collegetville students are notably self-centered — and understandably so. The curricular and extra-curricular life of the average undergraduate (itself a being exists) is full and demands our constant attention. That is why of the many thousands of people in all of us, the small colleges are apt to think of themselves little communities in which are encouraged our various alma mater merit, personality, decorative, and unobstructive backgrounds for our scholastic and non- scholastic activities, as a collection of stones, gift shops, and eating places set down here for our convenience on a cool, comfortable level. For our incoming mail. Encouraged completely in college, in the first week we are prone to forget that Collegetville is more than the perfect location for our campus. It is more than the small community, the small, distinct personalities just like the people in all of them.

Unless we live completely isolation in the field, we cannot take any single foot of the boundaries of the campus into the town, we in- crease the number of people with whom we have many close friends, with many of whom we have never learned who any Ursinus student who does not live in the off-campus housing is just another name to us. They help provide us with a chance to see what everyone always finds necessary in daily life. We can see just how many of us have met many of us. They help us to see how many everyone who has everyone always finds necessary in daily life. We can see just how many of us have never really talked to each other. While many of us have not talked to each other, we are often just as friendly and easy to know as the people in our town, but only a few of us even get to know them.

And so there are many other others who, of all of the people we meet now and then whose names we will never get to know, the patient mailman, who often stops at dinner time for a mail for the students who just cannot wait to have the mail delivered; the elderly gentleman who walks in the dinner line every afternoon; the people who keep forever coming by to see us every day as we walk into the gymnasium, etc., etc.

It is probable that we are missing a great deal by keeping them so small a part. The few of us who work as return at the weekly for publication every week have really enjoyed getting to know the Collegeville people who make up the staff of the Independent, Collegeville's newspaper. We have learned to know Mr. Leven- son, who runs the paper; Mrs. Verke, the reporter; and we've also learned about the newspaper business from the typewriting girls, the press operator and the printer. We've enjoyed their company and are grateful for their advice and their help. We've taught them something else, too — something probably more important than how to set up a new paper. They've taught us that the people of Collegeville, who represent all the neighbors we've ever had and ever will have, can give us a great deal if only we give them the chance. We've learned that it is our privilege to take the opportunity to get to know our neighbors, whoever and wherever they may be.

A great deal has been written and said about the frequently strained Town-Gown relationships in college towns. For some reason college towns and the townspeople of college communities have always had notoriously hard times getting along with each other. Perhaps one of the reasons is that these men and women of Collegetville will refuse at the time to take the weather of their discomfort on the conversational topic. Yet how of- ten do we like to talk to them? To our students? To our country? To our local? We always had notoriously hard times getting along in the college towns. Bears Beat Defenders In Late Innings, 6-2

The Ursinus Bears pounded 13 hits off of three LaSalle pitchers on May 18 to win their eleventh game in 15 starts, 6-2 on the LaSalle diamond.

Paul Neborak started for the Bears but was pounded in the 2-1 innings he worked, Don Allebach relieved him in the third and picked up the first hit that the remainder of the game to receive credit for the win.

A single and a walk were wpped out on a double play in the LaSalle home half of the first frame.

An error and another single netted nothing in the second, but in the third LaSalle pushed across their only two runs. Gene McDonnell bunted second but O’Connor doubled. Lucia was safe on a fielder’s choice and singled singles by DeVincent and George McDonnell scored two runs. Allebach came in to relieve Neborak. He knocked down Finley’s but smacked him and threw him out and forced Guerrini to fly to Kayn Kern in left for the final out. That ended the LaSalle scoring in the third.

Ursinus tied it up in the sixth. Bill Burger singled and moved to second on an error. Neborak singled, stole second, and scored on John Anderson’s single. A walk, error, and singles by Cub Haris and Allebach accounted for three runs in the sixth. An single, two walks and a fielder’s choice netted the final two runs of the game.

The Ursinus trackmen of 1954 explored the field of track and field competition by crushing F. and M. 87-38, May 22 in a meet that featured Dick Bowman '55.

By dual-winners Dick Eshbach, Dan Schwenk, and Jim Morris and Phil Stadler's 3-0 victory over a talented alumnae, the Bears found the going rough but the team was still able to take the meet.

The Varsity won over the regional Owls and Doug Johnson, ss, and Jack Popowich, ss, p., had the winning walks, which set the stage for the rest of the meet.

The Bears had the winning score of 6-0, 6-1, and 7-0 to clinch the team victory.

Weekly Editors Lay Down Law

It occurs to the editors of the Weekly that occasionally a visit to the alumni at Ursinus College who have been very successful, such as Mrs. Harriet Elston of the Philadelphia Press, might be very beneficial. The practice is, however, almost nonexistent in most high school newspapers. However, there is a real opportunity here if they care to make observations of this sort in Bomberger; but there are a great many who are so preoccupied that they are going to work but unfortunately do not keep their assignments or fly off on Fridays without looking at the paper. This laxity must stop or heads will roll, at least, according to the floor. The Reign of Terror following the appearance of the Weekly is to be a child's game compared to this. At that time they were afraid of doing those directly beneath him, and a few gentlemen who took the pen in this time of need are doing 50 percent of the work. This should not be the situation at all. The paper, if properly handled, should be a great many tall willing to work towards higher standards of work instead of their assignments in early and the edicts which should only be to co-ordinated everything, line up the paper for the following week, beginning Monday morning—without staying up all night aching their heads, or spending the entire week working on the paper. And so we make a plea. If you would like to work toward a better, let's take a more interest in the paper. Many people who have writing ability, even in the five to eight grades, once they do it, it does not take a more than a few minutes a day. If we all did our part, let us see a few more energetic students. We extend our congratulations to the graduating seniors, who have been most successful in the different events.
