W. C. T. U.'S COLUMN

COLEVILLE, PENN., MAY 9, 1889.

COLONEL W. D. THOMPSON.

W. C. T. U.'S COLUMN.

The experience of the baker is that of the man who gives away rings of grapes, of which the people in general accept only the small portion that grows near the center, while he who by good fortune has picked the grapes which are most plentifully coated with sugar and nutmegs, and who by the aid of the sun and the air, has prepared them for consumption, always finds an instant demand, while the bread of that one who has been laboring to ripen the grapes, and to make them suitable for consumption, will be rejected and cast aside.

It is precisely so with the temperance movement. Nowhere else can we find so fine an opportunity of supplying the people with an article which, they are already asking for, and which they would wearily accept if we would only offer it to them. The fact is, that the people have found that the article of temperance is the one thing which they desire, and which will supply all their wants. The man who has failed to supply the people with this article, has failed in his duty, and has failed in his mission. The man who has supplied the people with this article, has done the work of his life well, and has done it well.

The man who has failed to find the article of temperance, has failed in his mission, and has failed in his work. The man who has found the article of temperance, has done the work of his life well, and has done it well.

The closing information is from Harrison to different sections of the country that the Senate and House are busily preparing to adjourn. The new government, legal, good, and unadulterated, is being rushed through, and will not quite complete itself.

As the gavel and the pen are up, it may be safely said that the nation is reckoned out. The weight of the balance rests on the side of the Constitution and of the States. The general rule is that the punishment of Mataafa if the law be carried out is to be enforced.

Had Cleveland been elected, and the other fellow left, the country would be safe all the same. Nevertheless there is going to be a change in the Administration.

We expect to remain here, and by fair and honest dealing and living margins, we will hope to continue.
