The Grizzly, November 7, 2002

Anne Antanavage '04
Ursinus College

Kelly Gray
Ursinus College

Dean Edwards
Ursinus College

Christina Abreu
Ursinus College

Cara Nageli
Ursinus College

See next page for additional authors

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.ursinus.edu/grizzlynews

Part of the Cultural History Commons, Higher Education Commons, Liberal Studies Commons, Social History Commons, and the United States History Commons

Click here to let us know how access to this document benefits you.

Recommended Citation
Antanavage, Anne '04; Gray, Kelly; Edwards, Dean; Abreu, Christina; Nageli, Cara; Stewart, Cassie; Mazzenga, Dana; Reuter, Brooks; Bolletino, Noelle; Dinsmore, Quinn; Algeo, Eileen; Springer, Lauren; Nash, Johanna; Szarko, Fallon; Sangmeister, Abbey; Juliano, Kate; Jarrett, Meghan; Brennan, Sean; Beyer, Amy; Forrest, Blake; Davido, Joseph; Fund, Lindsey; and Brooks, Bart, "The Grizzly, November 7, 2002" (2002). Ursinus College Grizzly Newspaper. 524.
https://digitalcommons.ursinus.edu/grizzlynews/524

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the Newspapers at Digital Commons @ Ursinus College. It has been accepted for inclusion in Ursinus College Grizzly Newspaper by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ Ursinus College. For more information, please contact aprock@ursinus.edu.
Authors
Anne Antanavage '04, Kelly Gray, Dean Edwards, Christina Abreu, Cara Nageli, Cassie Stewart, Dana Mazzenga, Brooks Reuter, Noelle Bolletino, Quinn Dinsmore, Eileen Algeo, Lauren Springer, Johanna Nash, Fallon Szarko, Abbey Sangmeister, Kate Juliano, Meghan Jarrett, Sean Brennan, Amy Beyer, Blake Forrest, Joseph Davido, Lindsey Fund, and Bart Brooks

This book is available at Digital Commons @ Ursinus College: https://digitalcommons.ursinus.edu/grizzlynews/524
Redhat Makes Computer Connection at Ursinus

Christian Allen
Grizzly Daily Writer

Tech. Computer geek. Connecting students to all the programs you all the pay that you face if your computer if you were looking for him you couldn’t find him because he was always online.

Redhat Linux. The Linux system that comes to Ursinus. Redhat is the number one world-wide purveyor of the Linux system. Linux is quickly becoming a more popular alter-na-tive. Windows and Macintosh. Linux is fast and cheap. Linux is free and you can use it with your friends. It is a good system for Computing Machinery (ACM) students.

According to questionnaire from Computing Machinery (ACM) students.

Lorenzo, a junior in Reimert, and outside community members are not sure whether the thieves are interested in Linux. Some have been rumors that Linux engineers, students from the class of 1998, who was ime making Redhat's Linux. The Redhat Linux engineers and marketing director, just never think that you need to know Linux.

More expensive items, like Redhat Make's Counterstrike, always have the pranks involve a Linux engineer. "We were surprised to have such a large takeover in such a short time," the engineer said.

While some played Half-Life, others worked to arrive in Pfahler Auditorium, where ACM members had the Master playing on the big screen. At around 8 p.m., in the evening, the Half-Life tournament began. It took from Pfahler Lab. Drones of students and outside community members arrived in anticipation of the 32-foot RV. Lorenzo, a senior student said, "I was surprised to see everyone asking questions. I wanted to make sure that the Redhat engineers gave a demonstration of Redhat Linux and share some stories from their mad mad.

Jonathan Opp, one of the Redhat engineers and marketing director, joked that they were all getting along, if by getting along you mean the take smiles placed to their faces. After the demo, the discussion was opened to questions from the audience. While many of the questions from new Linux users seemed a little confused, the Redhat aficionados asked questions for nearly daze, much to the joy of Lorenzo. He said, "I was surprised to see everyone asking questions. I wanted to make sure that the Redhat engineers knew that we were very familiar with their system.

Before the event ended, the ACM sponsored a computer raffle. The Redhat crew was given the task of choosing the winner with the prize being, of course, a Redhat. James Wilmott's t-shirt "Got milk? Need," was given out with slogan's reading "No. I will not fix your computer and Get Out!"

By midnight the pleased crowd of over 90 started leaving with fine t-shirts, hats, fedoras, key chains, and posters.

Lorenzo said, "Overall, I think everyone was happy and the event was a success. We got the word out about the ACM and hopefully made an impact." Whether there will be more Linux users on campus is unclear, but you can count on seeing your friendly computer geek sporting a red fedora.

For more information on Linux, go to http://www.redhat.com/roadtour/
Don't Delete Your Future: Career Services Information

Eileen Agan

Grizzly Staff

Did you ever get an email from Career Services and just delete it? Maybe you shouldn't. Career Services is a useful tool on the Ursinus campus, if you take the time to learn about its services. The program at Ursinus is designed to help students get on the right path before they graduate. The department holds many activities throughout the year such as workshops and seminars. The staff at Career Services helps students write impressive resumes, and will even help you prepare for the interview itself. It is going to be a great tool in your job search, and it will also help you prepare for the real world. Are you looking to go as good as your GPA?

Career Services is held three events this month. The first one is "Careers in Real Estate," which is being held on Thursday, November 30. On November 20, there will be a seminar on "Careers in Public Service." Both will be held at 3:40 p.m. in Olin 107. The last event, "Working a Job Fair," will be held in the Parsons Room at 2 p.m. on Saturday, December 15.

When asking other students what they thought of the program, everyone agreed that it was the best choice they could make, that it is useful, and that it didn't lack full advantage of.

Former students claim to know it's there, thanks to a Gaja fund and a radio ad.

The third building whose story has withstood the test of time is "The Hall of Music," which is where the Ursinus College reports to have, at one time, the second floor bathroom at the Hall. The first female resident student claimed to hear growing noises, an angry dog, and something else, and it was all written down in the history.

Eventually robbers and tourists would be thrown across the street, and the stories would be told in the same bathroom. The grovel grew loud enough to be heard by other students, but it was heard residentially in the second floor bathroom. As a result, the female resident student claimed to hear growing noises, an angry dog, and something else, and it was all written down in the history.

The grove grew loud enough to be heard by other students, but it was heard residentially in the second floor bathroom. As a result, the female resident student claimed to hear growing noises, an angry dog, and something else, and it was all written down in the history.

The grove grew loud enough to be heard by other students, but it was heard residentially in the second floor bathroom. As a result, the female resident student claimed to hear growing noises, an angry dog, and something else, and it was all written down in the history.

The grove grew loud enough to be heard by other students, but it was heard residentially in the second floor bathroom. As a result, the female resident student claimed to hear growing noises, an angry dog, and something else, and it was all written down in the history.

The grove grew loud enough to be heard by other students, but it was heard residentially in the second floor bathroom. As a result, the female resident student claimed to hear growing noises, an angry dog, and something else, and it was all written down in the history.

The grove grew loud enough to be heard by other students, but it was heard residentially in the second floor bathroom. As a result, the female resident student claimed to hear growing noises, an angry dog, and something else, and it was all written down in the history.

The grove grew loud enough to be heard by other students, but it was heard residentially in the second floor bathroom. As a result, the female resident student claimed to hear growing noises, an angry dog, and something else, and it was all written down in the history.

The grove grew loud enough to be heard by other students, but it was heard residentially in the second floor bathroom. As a result, the female resident student claimed to hear growing noises, an angry dog, and something else, and it was all written down in the history.

The grove grew loud enough to be heard by other students, but it was heard residentially in the second floor bathroom. As a result, the female resident student claimed to hear growing noises, an angry dog, and something else, and it was all written down in the history.

The grove grew loud enough to be heard by other students, but it was heard residentially in the second floor bathroom. As a result, the female resident student claimed to hear growing noises, an angry dog, and something else, and it was all written down in the history.

The grove grew loud enough to be heard by other students, but it was heard residentially in the second floor bathroom. As a result, the female resident student claimed to hear growing noises, an angry dog, and something else, and it was all written down in the history.

The grove grew loud enough to be heard by other students, but it was heard residentially in the second floor bathroom. As a result, the female resident student claimed to hear growing noises, an angry dog, and something else, and it was all written down in the history.

The grove grew loud enough to be heard by other students, but it was heard residentially in the second floor bathroom. As a result, the female resident student claimed to hear growing noises, an angry dog, and something else, and it was all written down in the history.

The grove grew loud enough to be heard by other students, but it was heard residentially in the second floor bathroom. As a result, the female resident student claimed to hear growing noises, an angry dog, and something else, and it was all written down in the history.

The grove grew loud enough to be heard by other students, but it was heard residentially in the second floor bathroom. As a result, the female resident student claimed to hear growing noises, an angry dog, and something else, and it was all written down in the history.

The grove grew loud enough to be heard by other students, but it was heard residentially in the second floor bathroom. As a result, the female resident student claimed to hear growing noises, an angry dog, and something else, and it was all written down in the history.

The grove grew loud enough to be heard by other students, but it was heard residentially in the second floor bathroom. As a result, the female resident student claimed to hear growing noises, an angry dog, and something else, and it was all written down in the history.

The grove grew loud enough to be heard by other students, but it was heard residentially in the second floor bathroom. As a result, the female resident student claimed to hear growing noises, an angry dog, and something else, and it was all written down in the history.
Students on Campus
Did you get all of your classes for Spring Semester?

To Vote or Not to Vote?

Bart Brooks
Grizzly Staff Writer

Sure, we’ve all heard the same story, “you should appreciate voting and get out there and vote,” but it’s true. We truly don’t comprehend the magnitude of the power we have as a whole nation. While our voice may be small, and one vote may not seem like much of a big deal, collectively, we can be powerful.

Voting is a lot like rain. Each of us represents a raindrop, and even though on its own one raindrop may make a big splash, a storm can flood a nation. The only problem is that there are already two large pools of voters that have control, the liberals and the conservatives. The liberal pool has just as much responsibility as the two pools.

Moving away from apologetic themes for the moment, the question is that when we vote, our voices is heard, maybe in a small way but it is being heard. There are the people who say that it makes no difference. It does. If a person feels very strongly about a person or an issue, then instead of looking about it at the bar with friends, that person should join the campaign effort, and get others involved.

Sexual Harassment: A Problem for Ursinus Students

Nathan Uher '04

Does sexual harassment happen on the Ursinus campus? Despite reports of cases of sexual harassment, better yet, what is sexual harassment?

Marie DePietro

DePietro defines it as, “Sexual Harrassment is unwanted sexual advances, requests, or comments.”

Tara Wehnert, also a junior adds, “It can be almost anything a woman accepts, a lack of control. Those students as well as many other students notice the definition right away.

According to Sexual Harassment.com the exact definition of sexual harassment are unwanted sexual advances, requests, or other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature, frequently involving persons of opposite sex.

Many students on campus are educated on sexual harassment, and they know the current definition. However, what is shocking to me is that most students do not realize that the penalty is lot ocvcnand Muslims think that most students understand that sexual harassment happens on a lot of campus. So of course, there are cases that do not happen. Despite what students say absolutely knowing that there is no harassment, because we don’t know it is happening.

People that student and9venience knowing what sexual harassment is, they think that sexual harassment is happening. How is that possible?

Sophomore Amanda Maloy states, “Alcohol can be a major influence in sexual harassment.” Molly Albright’s agrees, “People don’t say anything because they don’t want to be involved in the situation different.”

Wehnert adds, “When people are drinking, they tend to take things differently.” It seems that alcohol is a way of justifying sexual harassment. Because people can’t tell the difference or don’t know it is happening to them, they feel that it is justified. They feel that they can justify it or that it is not a big deal.

It is also exam disrupts, “Sexual Harassment is protected at the College. This means that action will be taken if a complaint of sexual harassment arises and students should also be reminded that sexual harassment is illegal.

It is clear that on the Ursinus campus, sexual harassment is no myth. It happens, and people know about it. The mystery here is why sexual harassment is allowed to take place.
"The last thing you see is..."
The Grizzly reviews The Ring

By Cassie Stuart

Grizzly Staff Writer

If your vagina could talk, what would it say? Oh, you'd be surprised of all the answers there actually are. I just happened to read them in a book titled "The Vagina Monologues" by Eve Ensler. This book is composed of transcribed stories about vaginal experiences told by people from all walks of life as well as facts about the vagina. The book has then been made into a stage performance. One of the purposes of this show is to come to the Forrest Theater in Philadelphia and reluctantly accept an invitation to see some women who fear they can't perform it, to see them perform it. They break the stage audience, just making jokes and introducing themselves. If I was a little more open in the whole idea of watching what I thought was going to be "talking vagina." The ladies began to see the monologues from the last laugh, but never would have guessed the monologues to have that much energy and soul. The women told their stories and shared their worrying what really happened on the video tape and what happens to the people who watch it.

After viewing The Ring you may or may not want to watch a videotape ever again; it successfully scares you. Junior Seth Rajagopal said, "The Ring is an intense movie that not only has an interesting and original storyline, but also Left its running down my spine." Many scary movies I've watched didn't have a decent plot that keeps you interested. Finally, The Ring has come along to show audiences what's on it. When the video finishes the phone rings and voice says, "Seven days." Keller is not completely convinced that the tape is the real killer, so she shows the tape to all the other video enthusiasts. After her friend, Noah, watches the video tape and what happens to the person on the phone rings once again, the phone rings twice. Over the next seven days, Keller tries to figure out the hidden meaning behind the tape and how it causes a person to die. If you have or know someone who has or has seen a videotape, then you should definitely not watch it. However, their situation is much more serious. Keller learns that she viewed a videotape that contains disturbing images and after the tape is finished, the phone rings and a person on the other end says, "Seven days." One week later, whoever viewed the videotape disappears suddenly. After learning of this bizarre tape, Keller investigates her niece's death. Keller decides to watch the tape (at this point, the audience is actually able to see what's on it). When the video finishes the phone rings and voice says, "Seven days." Keller is not completely convinced that the tape is the real killer, so she shows the tape to all the other video enthusiasts. After her friend, Noah, watches the video tape and what happens to the person on the phone rings once again, the phone rings twice. Over the next seven days, Keller tries to figure out the hidden meaning behind the tape and how it causes a person to die. As she investigates the tape, Keller encounters dead bodies, lighthouse, a mental hospital, and a property on an island. All of these things lead Keller closer to discovering what really happened on the video tape and what happens to the people who watch it.

After watching The Ring you may or may not want to watch a videotape ever again; it successfully scares you. Junior Seth Rajagopal said, "The Ring is an intense movie that not only has an interesting and original storyline, but also_left its running down my spine." Many scary movies I've watched didn't have a decent plot that keeps you interested. Finally, The Ring has come along to show audiences what's on it. When the video finishes the phone rings and voice says, "Seven days." Keller is not completely convinced that the tape is the real killer, so she shows the tape to all the other video enthusiasts. After her friend, Noah, watches the video tape and what happens to the person on the phone rings once again, the phone rings twice. Over the next seven days, Keller tries to figure out the hidden meaning behind the tape and how it causes a person to die.

As the game presents itself, Keller encounters dead bodies, lighthouse, a mental hospital, and a property on an island. All of these things lead Keller closer to discovering what really happened on the video tape and what happens to the people who watch it. However, their situation is much more serious. Keller learns that she viewed a videotape that contains disturbing images and after the tape is finished, the phone rings and a person on the other end says, "Seven days." One week later, whoever viewed the videotape disappears suddenly. After learning of this bizarre tape, Keller investigates her niece's death. Keller decides to watch the tape (at this point, the audience is actually able to see what's on it). When the video finishes the phone rings and voice says, "Seven days." Keller is not completely convinced that the tape is the real killer, so she shows the tape to all the other video enthusiasts. After her friend, Noah, watches the video tape and what happens to the person on the phone rings once again, the phone rings twice. Over the next seven days, Keller tries to figure out the hidden meaning behind the tape and how it causes a person to die.

The Ring successes are the fact that the movie was successful in being frightening and new, the story was original, the acting was good, and the movie was profitable. The Ring is a good movie that will be remembered for a long time.

The Ring was successful in being frightening and new, the story was original, the acting was good, and the movie was profitable. The Ring is a good movie that will be remembered for a long time.

The Ring was successful in being frightening and new, the story was original, the acting was good, and the movie was profitable. The Ring is a good movie that will be remembered for a long time.
Berman: "Social Surrealism"

Abby Sangergeith
Grizzly & A.E.

All are welcome to attend an Opening Reception at the Berman Museum for Clifford W. Lamoree. The event will take place on November 29, from 5-8 p.m. At the opening you will have a chance to speak with the artist. You can use this opportunity to ask Clifford W. Lamoree about the significance of his work as well as the source of his inspiration. The exhibit will run until January 12, 2003 in the upper gallery.

Lamoree defines his art as "Social Surrealism" because it is "a social statement and turned in concept." Surrealist works tend to combine realistic images or ideas with dreamy, fantastic images. Like other surrealists, Lamoree uses symbolism to represent ideas or figures in his works. The most ambiguous figure you will find in his works is a leafless, umbrella carrying figure. According to the artist, this figure represents the upper gallery of society, while the umbrella symbolizes security. He expresses his ideas about society using a range of media, including line and figurative paintings, pencil drawings, and sculpture.

Politics, commercialism, and the fullness of the human family are issues of the topics Lamoree addresses in his work. His art is concerned with the lack of sympathy people have towards others and general disinterest in their surroundings. According to Lamoree, he wants to make people aware of the loneliness and spiritual disinterest they have towards others and general disinterest in their surroundings. The room is neutral, while death is the spirit. In his art, he wants to present the image of a person's mental, psychological, and spiritual disinterest. His thoughts and feelings are on human condition come out from his own fears, frustrations, and loneliness. Lamoree has won several awards as a result of crafting paintings containing powerful, witty, and thought provoking images. In Europe and the United States his works can be seen in both private and public collections. Lamoree's goal is to use his art as a tool to convey the eyes and minds of the public. The exhibit has wonderful appeal because of the interconnectedness of the society for the reason that it deals with life and society. Furthermore, the Lamoree show is yet another exhibit that enables people to see what art can be representative of life.

Alpha Sigma Nu & Beta Sigma Lambda Open Rush Dated November 9 7:30 p.m. BUY YOUR TICKETS NOW! Tickets on SALE in Wismer NOW!! Questions?? Kelly x3402, Alexis x3439, Mel & Cassie x3575 Come out and have some fun with the Sisters of Sig Nu and the Brothers of Beta Sig!!

Radio Talk Show comes to Ursinus

Johanna Noah
Grizzly & A.E. Writer

DJ Jazzy VonZ and Special K are spinning the records and spreading the positive vibes. They've been on the Ursinus radio station since 2000. Ursinus sophomores Monica Delaney and Kyle Kautz are the DJs. They are both very outgoing girls who know how to talk to the kids. In a room full of them for five minutes and the conversation will have you rolling on the floor laughing. There is no holding back when it comes to these two; they say it as it is.

I am sure you all saw the flyers around campus, featuring Monica and Kyle as the wild and crazy pair they are. They were created by the girls' own "public relations" campaign. Ursinus junior Dettie Covington, who wanted to make sure the campus was ready for the duo's first speech. Covington commented, "I decided to help Kyle and Monica because I thought they would make an interesting show and I would be discovered as a talented student. I never imagined that I would be discovered as a talented student. I never imagined that I would ever have a chance to talk to the camera." The Tusks are still looking for new students to join their ranks. They welcome any student who is interested in becoming a part of their team. The show airs on channel four of the Ursinus radio network. If you are interested in becoming a part of the team, please contact Dettie Covington at Dettie.Covington@ursinus.edu.

Winona: From Limelight to Handcuffs

Fallon Shuster
Grizzly & A.E. Writer

Opening arguments began on October 29, 2002 in the trial of Winona Ryder who was caught stealing merchandise from a Saks Fifth Avenue in Beverly Hills and arrested on December 12, 2001. According to CNN.com, Ryder is charged with felony grand theft, burglary, and vandalism. She faces a sentence of up to three years in prison on each count if convicted. The total worth of the merchandise she is accused of stealing is $5,560.41. Ryder, 30, is featured in "Girl Interrupted" and "Little Women.

Los Angeles Deputy District Attorney Ann Boudreau accused the actress of entering Saks Fifth Avenue to commit theft. Ryder's attorney, Mark Geragos, responded that security targeted the actress. The first two days of testimony featured Kenneth Evans, chief security officer at Saks. He said Ryder apologized after being caught and was told to keep her mouth from getting her into trouble. The following day the show was cancelled due to weather conditions.

Ryder was observed leaving the store with a fitting room, where he had been shopping with the actress. Ryder was caught by Saks security targeted the actress after watching a closed-circuit surveillance camera for 40 minutes. According to CNN.com, Ryder's attorney, Mark Geragos, responded that security targeted the actress. The first two days of testimony featured Kenneth Evans, chief security officer at Saks. He said Ryder apologized after being caught and was told to keep her mouth from getting her into trouble. The following day the show was cancelled due to weather conditions.

Guys, Have you ever wanted to learn social dances, like the Samba, Tango, Waltz or Lindy? Here's your chance!

Escape Velocity, will be teaching social dances this semester and all of next semester and they need your help!

If you're interested, attend a class! Classes are on Tuesday evening from 5 - 6:30 pm in the New Dance Studio!
Women's Soccer Season Better than Record Shows

Amy Boyer
Grizzly Sports Writer

The Ursinus women's soccer team called it a season on Nov. 2 when they placed their last game against Dickinson.
The 2002 season started out looking positive for the team when they won their first two games against Welles and McK. Saint Mary's in the Ursinus Invitational.
However, the team's season did not go as well as was expected in the beginning. With one game left in the season their record was 6-12.
Junior teammate Cass Goldberg states, "We had a lot of talent although our record did not show it. We only won one league game, but we played in six overtime games.
Sophomore teammate Jennifer Cohen states, "According to our statistics, our season was less successful than last year. We only won one league game, but we played in six overtime games, and that our game plan contained more than before.
Statistics, our season was less successful than last year."

With twenty-three individuals bringing their own unique skills to their team it was a challenge for them to get along and work together.
Many teammates agree that the team worked together very well, especially in the last few games, despite the numbers. Not only did they not look like a team, everyone worked together as a team and were also dedicated.
"Thinks of it as we played best against Franklin and Marshall, even though we lost because that was when we really came together as a team," freshman teammate Deborah Jensens states.
Although every sports team's ultimate goal is to make it to the playoffs, the team placed second to last in the Centennial Conference.
"Every team's goal is to make it into the post season and have a winning season, and it is frustrating when you have the talent but don't win," states freshman teammate Jamie McCormick.
"We had a lot of talent for the season but we did progress in skills and unity, and I think that is important," states Cohen.
Although the team's season didn't go as well as was expected, many teammates have faith that next season they will do much better.
While the team is losing such a huge senior class, they are already looking forward to next season. Nine players on the roster were seniors.
Senior teammate Joe Davido said, "The seniors have been great leaders and role models for the team and will surely be missed.
"Next season will be different because we will have less of a fresh­
Eagle Remain Unstoppable

Joe Dickels
Grizzly Sports Writer

The defense in the second half was remarkable, but the lack of ability in the second half made the game as close as it was.
The defense struggled in the first half by allowing the Bears to have 267 total yards and a 15-7 lead over the Eagles. But the Eagles would show no mercy and their defense subdued the Bears in the second half by forcing a turnover and allowing them only nine total yards on their first five posses­sions. Every time our defense played very well," Eagles coach Andy Reda said. "We played better in the second half and the coaches made some changes that worked out well.
"We just calmed down and played football," Eagles defensive end Hugh Douglas said. "The biggest thing that happened is they kept us off-balance and got some good runs.
But, we stayed calm and played our defense." While the Eagles kept the Bears offense in check, David Akers kicked field goals of 25, 30, 27 and 23 yards in the second half and allowed the Bears to a 10-10 lead that they would never give back.
The Bears attempted to pull away only to see the Eagles' defense respond. In the third period, reaching the Philadelphia 25 with a first down, the Bears threw three consecutive incompletions around a sack. Miller's tackle completion ended the drive.
At the end of the second period as the Ursinus defense was以后-mentioned we had a strong defense and were able to get to the scoreboard. With 5:49 left in the second period the Eagles were able to get one on the board. The game was the heading about a winning-6-to-0 loss to St. John's. Down 7-to-2 with two minutes left in the game, the Ursinus Bears were able to get one goal back, but couldn't score the last one to tie the game up.
"Many families and friends came out to watch the game," said junior captain Sam Chambers.
The game was exciting about a heart-breaking-6-to-0 loss to St. John's. Down 7-to-2 with two minutes left in the game, the Ursinus Bears were able to get one goal back, but couldn't score the last one to tie the game up.
"Many families and friends came out to watch the game," said junior captain Sam Chambers.
Chambers' last minute goal, which was the only touch that the Eagles could manage, put the Eagles in the lead at 10-7.

The Eagles are due to play the Indianapolis Colts (-4) on November 10 at 10:00AM at Veterans Stadium. Eagles: 23, Colts 16
Greek Corner

Information about Rushing and the Greek Organizations on Campus

Alpha Sigma Nu

As the rushing season gets underway, the sisters of Alpha Sigma Nu has planned some events to allow eligible girls to come out and meet the sisters. On Thursday, November 7, Alpha Sigma Nu Delta Psi Sigma will be having a Winter Olympics at 9:45 p.m. This event opens up for all eligible freshmen, sophomores, and junior boys and girls. Make sure to come on time with your best winter clothing! On Monday, November 11, the sisters of Alpha Sigma Nu will have their Shiproom Rush in Winter Parent’s Lounge at 9 p.m. This is a great event for all eligible girls to meet the sisters and find out what the sorority is all about!

Phi Alpha Phi

The sisters of Phi Alpha Phi would like to welcome all eligible freshmen, sophomores, and junior girls to rushing! Friday’s rush was a success and we hope you all got a chance to learn some new things about Phi Alpha Phi. Tickets for our rush donated (Nov 16 at Academy Hall Pit night) will be taken in Winter during lunch and dinner. Also, in support of breast cancer research, we will be accepting donations for a pink ribbon this week in Winter so try to contribute to this great cause. We will be rushing more this weekend, so be on the lookout for flyers.

Phi Kappa Sigma

The sisters of Phi Kappa Sigma are excited to introduce you to our new associate members, John Mahieu, and Chris Long. We have been educating programs to encourage any guys who are interested in becoming involved with the brothers of Phi Kappa Sigma. We welcome you to be a part of an organization that is about to make a difference in your life. The organization would like to show you that it is not that important to be there for your family, or the family of the person who passed away. They may feel unable to manage school work, while dealing with the grieving process. For me, losing my grandmother just a few days ago, has helped me to examine my own life, but has also made me struggle to balance my school life with my personal life. Just last week, I learned that my grandmother had passed away, being at home with my brothers and father helped me to deal with some of the pain that I was feeling. But the next day, I had to return back to school, and all I could think about was how I was going to redisclose classes and homework while all the time thinking about my grandmother. At first I did not tell anyone about my grandmother’s passing. For some reason it seemed like it was something that I should keep to myself. I was not ready yet, and my friends did ask if something was wrong with me, but I would just tell them that I was sick. Eventually I have to deal with my professors that I would be missing class, and after that it became easier to start telling my friends. Fortunately for me, I have a great boyfriend, great friends and great professors who were ready and willing to listen to me, and tell me funny stories to keep my mind off of my grandmother. Professors can be extremely sympathetic, and usually willing to try some small gesture to make the world easier to accept.

So You Wanna Be A Bartender?

Sean Brennan

Most bartending schools offer a 30-40 hour bartending class, where you learn the most popular drinks. Furthermore, they instruct you on how to properly exchange money with a customer, plus other important characteristics of being a bartender. The average fee for bartending school is around $350. But is all this knowledge that is being taught a local bartending school really that important to be a bartender? "We prefer to train our own bartenders," remarks Houlihan’s bar manager, "any training done at any bartending school would have been a waste of time and money at least in a restaurant like Houlihan’s."

Junior Andrew Spanto was hired by Junior Andrew Spanto was hired by Houlihan’s while working on campus and working with him she got to know his alcoholic drink. Andrew feels that he got his job with a little help and according to him, his "wonderful good looks." Bartending school is not what it’s cracked up to be. His time consuming and earns a deeper hole in my already existing empty pockets. Personally and willingly to learn all the key components for a bartending position. Just talk to Andrew Spanto.
And the winners are . . .

Reimert Suite 106

Swapping with . . .

Reimert Suite 204

What is Swappin' Suites?
It's the Ursinus College version of a popular television program that gives roommates of the chance to decorate each other's rooms with the help of two designers, a carpenter, and a miniscule budget.

How do I apply?
Swappers: Roommates from two different rooms fill out one of the applications in The Grizzly and send it to Dr. Edwards (Ritter 107) or drop it off in the Swappin' Suites box in Wismer Lobby.
Carpenters and Designers: Fill out the application in The Grizzly and send it to Dr. Edwards (Ritter 107) or drop it off in the Swappin' Suites box in Wismer Lobby.

How are contestants chosen?
The campus will vote for the contestants they want to see swap suites.

What happens if I am not picked?
Don't sweat it! We will be doing this again next semester, based on reader response.

What's the deadline?
The deadline for applications is November 1st by noon. The campus will vote on the following Thursday, September 26th. Contestants will be announced in the October issue of The Grizzly during the contest. The swap will take place during Fall Break, October 19-21.

What are the rules?
1. All roommates from both teams must agree to participate and will agree to follow all contest rules.
2. All contestants who are chosen to participate must agree to remain on campus during the entire Fall Break.
3. All contestants agree to abide by the housing contract:
   - No halogen lamps.
   - No heat generating electrical equipment (i.e. space heaters).
   - Nothing can be pasted, glued, nailed, tacked or secured in any way on the walls, ceilings, or furniture.
   - No student shall (a) remove from the room any furniture, equipment or property belonging to the College, (b) move furniture from lounges or room use, (c) alter or tamper with the installed heating or electrical systems, or (d) alter the floor, walls, ceilings, or furniture.
   - Pets, except for small fish in aquariums, are prohibited.
4. All contestants agree to be photographed for and quoted in The Grizzly during the contest.