Meet the Democratic Candidates for President

Theresa Verrastro
Grizzly Staff Writer

With the presidential primaries only months away and with ten democratic candidates to choose from, voters have many important decisions to make. Who supports the issues you care about and who has the track record of accomplishment to back it up? Even more importantly, who are the candidates running against President Bush in the 2004 election?

The Democratic candidates are Carol Moseley Braun, Wesley Clark, Howard Dean, John Edwards, Dick Gephardt, Bob Graham, John Kerry, Dennis Kucinich, Paul Tsongas, and Al Sharpton. This week the Grizzly will highlight the first five candidates.

Carol Moseley Braun is an African American woman who has experienced both domestic and abroad. She served as a senator from Illinois for six years and was the Ambassador to New Zealand and Samoa from 1998-2001. Currently, Braun is a Business Consultant for CBMutual LLC. Braun openly opposed the war in Iraq and favors universal healthcare.

Wesley Clark is thought of as one of the most distinguished retired military officers. Clark served in the United States military for thirty-four years and rose to the rank of four-star general, the highest ranking in the U.S. military. From 1997 to 2000, Clark was the NATO Supreme Commander and Director of the Chief of the United States European Command. Presently, Clark is chairman of CEO and President of Wesley K. Clark & Associates, an advisory and consulting firm. According to Environmental for Clark, the Democratic candidate openly opposes drilling the Arctic Wildlife Refuge.

Howard Dean is known moderate. He is a proponent and former governor of Vermont. During his term, Dean cut the income tax twice, removed the sales tax on mud-clogging, and reduced the state's long-term debt. In addition, Dean created more than 41,000 new jobs in Vermont. He is known for his involvement on young voters and especially college students through his Internet and e-mail campaign.

According to the Democrat For America website, the Democratic Party will establish a Families & Children's Health Insurance Program (FCHIP), building on the successful but limited Student Children's Health Insurance Program that has health insurance available to all children and young adults (up to age 25) in America. And all other adults with low incomes.

John Edwards is a senator from North Carolina. As a senator, Edwards has fought for issues concerning the American family, including healthcare alternatives, education, and Social Security. According to John Edwards 2004, "Senator John Edwards is a strong supporter of women's rights, families, and the right to choose. He has worked to protect Roe vs. Wade."

Dick Gephardt is a congressional representative representing Missouri. After 20 years in Congress, Gephardt is known as a distinguished politician as well as a leader in the Democratic Party. In Congress, Gephardt has helped to promote minimum wage and helped create policies to keep up with the rising costs of college tuition, increasing dramatically the financial aid for college and making the first ten thousand dollars of higher education costs tax-deductible," states Gephardt 2004.

Next week the Grizzly will look at the last five democratic candidates running in the 2004 Presidential Race.

For more information regarding these candidates, log on to their official campaign websites.

A Look at the Response to Rape at Ursinus

Quinn Doherty
Grizzly Staff Writer

What is the policy concerning rape at Ursinus?

According to the students who frequent the Grizzly website, "Ursinus College seeks to maintain a campus environment emphasizing the dignity and worth of community members and victims. Due to the pervasiveness of sexual assault on college campuses, Ursinus has developed a policy pertaining to sexual assault."

The policy provides for (1) procedures sensitive to victims in responding to reports of alleged sexual assault, including informing victims of legal, medical, and support services before and after campus (2) availability of College discipline/sanctions for those involved in sexual assault (3) and (4) follow up with legal authorities where investigations and prosecution is mandated," the site explains.

Who gets involved when a rape is reported?

Residence Life, Staff Nurse, College Police, Victim Services of Norristown

How do I know how often this happens here?

According to state law, the college must publish in campus statistics for the public and make the information available to students. The most recent data from the Department of Education reveal there were two sexual offenses in 1999 and one sexual offense in a residence hall that same year. In 2000, and 2001 there were no sexual offenses reported to the Office of Protection of Personal Privacy.

How are victims handled?

Residence Life staff nurse, College Police, Victim Services of Norristown

Are there any groups on campus dealing with sexual assault?

Students Together Against Rape is one of the student-run groups on campus offering that peer-to-peer assistance. They provide support to victims and encourage education about sexual assault and Ursinus through Take Back the Night and educational programs. According to their website, they are non-discriminatory services but can act in a confidential support system.

How can I protect myself?

Dean Nolan believes student is the easiest factor for student to control as a means of protection. "Feeling safe in one's environment is the biggest thing. If you don't feel safe at the bus stop, send their bill to administration, that might receiving some compensation.

What is the campus crime rate?

According to a recent US News article, "BPS. There were no sex offenses reported to the Office of Protection of Personal Privacy."

How Safe Do We Feel?

The New Addiction: AIM

Elcolon
Grizzly Staff Writer

It’s hard to imagine college life without AIM. Instant Messenger. When walking down the hallways of Ursinus, it is a given. It is quite common to hear the familiar “beep-doh-doh-doh” sound of AIM conversations. Exchang­ing phone extensions is a thing of the past, swapping screen names is not an exchange of phone numbers, but is more likely the development of a screen friendship. However, there is one way to know that you are being watched, and that is to check your AIM log for the controller of your life. It’s even worse in adulthood, since these days nearly everyone has a computer, with AIM. Adolescence is infamous for awkward social situations, and Instant Messenger is an easy way out of any awkward situations where those who type their thoughts and sum up feelings with a variety of smiley faces.

I have a high school student named Miriam who loves AIM because when she and her friends meet boys from other schools, AIM is their secret language and they can use AIM names and are able to keep in touch. I have noticed, however, that relationship tips are up, people who’ve only met once become AIM boyfriends and AIM girlfriends, and when you change your AIM screen name, AIM seems to be annoyed. At any rate, the convenience of AIM is what is at risk. People can see your AIM screen name and your AIM friends can see your AIM friends.

There are many variables when it comes to robo-docs. Human doctors must think and react to emergency situations far better than a robot, but a robot can be used to assist a human doctor, when they can use their hands, treat themselves or one another with their hands, or as a “troubleshooter” in the event that the human doctor is unable to do the job. There is a robot that can do anything in the operating room, and I haven’t had to undergo surgery since these days nearly everyone has a computer, with AIM. Adolescence is infamous for awkward social situations, and Instant Messenger is an easy way out of any awkward situations where those who type their thoughts and sum up feelings with a variety of smiley faces.

Domo Arigato,
Dr. Roboto

Rebecca Cohen
Grizzly Staff Writer

When I have visions of surgery, I think of this sort of thing: a doctor will drop a scalpel or something inside my body, rupturing all internal organs just as my anesthesia-induced state wears off, and I’d faintly smile. Thankfully, that’s not going to happen, and I think we can all be grateful for that. However, I find myself feeling a bit uneasy, and I had to, this wouldn’t be my first time going to hospital. I heard through the grapevine about Johns Hopkins. There is a robot that can do everything! The thing is that it can’t get inside your house. I think I’ll pass on that – I’d rather get the doctor who was bottom of my class at Yale than some high-tech robot from Johns Hopkins. Why, you ask? Well, at least if a human doctor dropped a scalpel or something, I would have use of a scalpel to take it out and I’d be the one to fill it. The robot does it, the first thing it uses is to take out all the data and then analyze the data. From there, the robot de-briefs the doctor and fills itself with all my internal organs into the robot. Apart from that horrendous nightmare of a surgery, another bad thing that could happen is if the robot gets infected, I’ll get a cold since AIM people to people contact actually arrives, it is awkward. There is a robot that can do anything in the operating room, and I haven’t had to undergo surgery since these days nearly everyone has a computer, with AIM. Adolescence is infamous for awkward social situations, and Instant Messenger is an easy way out of any awkward situations where those who type their thoughts and sum up feelings with a variety of smiley faces.

Out of the Middle Eastern: The End of a Journey

Dolce Sarrubia
Special to Grizzly

The three biggest pyramids in Gorgos, Harsi, Shafi, and Munkara were all in a row. Everything was breathtaking. Although the pyramids were impressive, the city itself was something else. One of the most interesting things is the way in which the people looked at their city. They seemed to be on a mission. They were always busy, always in a hurry. People from all over the world would come to visit the pyramids and to see the city. The pyramids were certainly one of the most attracting things in the world. From the top of the pyramid, you could see the entire city of Gorgos. The pyramids were all in a line, from the top of the pyramid in Gorgos to the bottom in Munkara. People would come from all over the world to see the pyramids. The pyramids were not only a landmark, but a place of worship. People would come from far and wide to see the pyramids and to worship. The pyramids were certainly one of the most attracting things in the world.

Unfortunately, the pyramids were closed, so we could not see the inside. We could not see the inside of the pyramid, so all we could see was the top of the pyramid. We did not have a guide, and we were lost. We were walking through the desert, trying to find our way. We were lost, and we were lost for a long time. Finally, after several hours, we found a guide. The guide was a local. He spoke perfect English and he was very knowledgeable about the pyramids. He took us by the hand and led us to the top of the pyramid. He explained the history of the pyramids and the people who built them. He also explained the purpose of the pyramids and why they were built. He was very knowledgeable and he was very helpful. We were very grateful to have found him.

The next day was a shopping day. We went to the city center and bought some souvenirs. We bought some small trinkets and some local clothing. We also went to a coffee shop. We had some coffee and some snacks. We ate some sandwiches and some pastries. We enjoyed the atmosphere and the friendly locals.

We spent the day walking around the city, looking at the local sights and trying to find our way back to the hotel. We were very exhausted by the end of the day. We were very grateful to have found the guide and we were happy to have found him.

The next day was the last day of our trip. We woke up early, packed our belongings, and headed to the airport. We were very happy to be leaving. We felt good about the trip and we were happy to have had the opportunity to see the pyramids and to experience the culture of the Middle East. We were very glad to have had the opportunity to see the pyramids and to experience the culture of the Middle East.

The Grizzly Student Opinion
from their new album "Keep It Together" which I think is their masterpiece of the 4th. I had never been to a concert at the Festival Pier in Philadelphia, but I thoroughly enjoyed the venue. However, there was one thing about the venue that disturbed me. The fact that they were selling pizza smoothies. As tasty as it is, I just kept thinking, what is a pizza smoothie? Anyway, the set list was great. This was my first time seeing them from all 3 of their other albums. With all of the other U2 headliners where there were three or more concerts, this was an excellent way to and to make sure you are up for the runtting length.

In addition to pizza smoothies, there were a couple of other odd things about this night. For instance, the pre-concert scene that most people are accustomed to is no more. What replaced it is the fact that the "event staff" limited any tailgating. If you were in the parking lot you had to stay in your car until 7:30. Therefore, there was lots of sitting in cars preparing for the show. I made sure that I arrived at the show the night before the huge amount of younger kids at the show.

Their presence created a different atmosphere. Although U2 is not "multitalented" they have a huge fan base in high schools, and let's not be afraid of the death penalty, and by the fact that you deicide to meet with hot-shot call into question the public's view of this incredible album. Staff

David Matthews is undoubtedly the biggest drum beat sensation to ever enter the music industry. With his exceptional writing capability, he keeps audiences off-balance and doesn't insult us by pretending to be an "amputator" or the victim. Is he guilty or has he been framed by the death penalty, yet not to use such an opportunity to pick a side or the other. The focus of the movie is not on the more corrupt or incorrectness of the death penalty, but on whether the American system can be manipulated. The Foundation Of The Life of David Gale is about plot, not politics.

Charles Rampling's screenplay is a masterpiece, and is a movie that is set up so that viewers must pay careful attention. Nearly every detail, no matter how seemingly irrelevant, is important. The film concludes with a "no holds barred" mix in the great amount of time and present in the current movie. With this in mind, the events that unfold throughout the movie are not spelled out for the viewers, and a little bit of logic is necessary in order to sort everything out.

I'm not a David Gale (Kevin Spacey), but I was a sociology professor at major Texas university, in a teaching role for many years, and had a student who was a nameless Constance Hamway (Laura Linney). Connie and I worked together for an anti-death penalty group. Death Watch, but his career took a steep plunge for the worst after this female student, before (Rhos-Mira), had sex with him. He claimed that he was not where he was being kept. Corner. When Connie was found dead, the evidence pointed to David. and then to the varying careless nature of his lawyer, Bomer Bayou (Lenny Di Caprio), he ended up on death row. We get the sense that Dr. David's true role in the movie is that of an intellectual who has fallen victim to a top step he can't escape. We're never quite sure whether he is the manipulator of the victim. Is he guilty or has he been framed by radical-right-wingers? Or is the victim completely innocent?

Three days before his last meal, he decides to meet with his brother, New York reporter Bickey Bloom (Kate Winslet), whose reputation is that she tells her stories fairly and to the book. Over the course of three-hundred hours, between his last trial, her story, and his colleagues, I was convinced that he was framed. Woolrich's American accent may be sloppy, but he performs a near perfect job. She's convincing in Bickey's role, I've heard her speak, watched her, but her accent does not seem to be part of her. However, once David is no longer talking with her, she and her intern Zack (Gabriel Mann) have less than 24 hours in which to sort out the truth. The Life of David Gale is a cut above the average hard-drive thriller. You will be glad that you didn't see the ending coming once.

The Eger Gateway guards the published Myers Library. Considered to be the physical symbol of the college, the gateway was erected in 1925 with funds from George Eger, father of Sherman A. Eger, class of 1925. The gateway was constructed from Chestnut Hill stone, which would also be used for other buildings on campus.

The monument from Main quadrangle) on left hand side dedicates the gateway to Mr. Eger, when facing the left handside, the inscription bears the history of the college until 1925.

"The Eger Gateway" was the first to be awarded the title of "The Eger Gateway" in its own right. The title was awarded for the first time in 1925.

The Gateway is a symbol of opportunity to all who enter and of protection to all within.

(On these grounds the work of education began in Todd’s School, opened in 1832. Enlarged in Federal Seminary, established in 1848, Elevated and Extended into Ursinus College, incorporated February 5, 1869 and opened for instruction September 8, 1878.

According to a research study at Carnegie Mellon University, it doesn’t matter in what order the letters in a word are, the ophm iprominent things is that the frst and last letter be at the right place. The rest can be a total mess and you can still read it withouth porblem. This is because the human mind does not read ervr letter by itser, but the word as a whole.
Field Hockey Still Undefeated in Conference Play

The Ursinus College Field Hockey Team went two-to-two on the week ending out McDaniel College and Franklin and Marshall. The Bears remained undefeated in the Centennial Conference.

The two nationally ranked teams, No. 10 McDaniel and No. 17 Ursinus tied at the game's end. Joyce Anne Kousoulidis scored the Bears first goal with 0:10 left in the first half.

Four minutes later, McDaniel's Kristen Tilaver scored the back of the cage to tie the game. Eninger scored, with 3:19 left in overtime leading to Bears to another victory.

Barbin registered six saves for the game. The win improves the Bears to 4-0 in conference and 7-5 overall for the season.

The two Centennial Conference rivals will face off once again this year. The Bears are 2-0 in conference play so far.

The game is set for 12:00pm.

Women's Soccer Continue to Impress

The women's soccer team took on the Shorewomen of Washington College Tuesday, September 30th in a Centennial Conference match. The women dominated play right from the start.

Lauren Walden gave the team the first goal with 8:13 into the game. The game remained tied, but Ursinus dominated play throughout the first half. Seventy minutes into the game, Lauren Talley scored an insurance goal to put the Bears up by two goals, allowing them to walk away with a win.

After winning Washington College, the women moved on to play conference rivals Johns Hopkins on Saturday, October 2.

Hopkins entered the game 1-1 in the conference, trailing Ursinus, who was 2-0. The game was back and forth, but Hopkins capitalized with a consistent rain falling and a slight wind.

Weather and bad footing on the field caused problems that would cause problems later in the game. The Bears ended up with a 2-1 win with a consistent rain falling and a slight wind.

Weather and bad footing on the field caused problems that would cause problems later in the game. The Bears ended up with a 2-1 win.

Coming off of one win, Ursinus continued to battle with both sides creating dangerous chances. Then in the 74th minute, Hopkins pulled ahead to make it 2-1. Ursinus continued to push to get back in the game and take it over to overtime, but Hopkins scored their third goal in the 90th minute and took home a win in the conference win.

Carli Goldberg made four saves for the team in the loss. Although losing to Hopkins, your Ursinus women are 7-2-1 overall, 3-2 in the Centennial, and are currently third place in the conference.

Kristen Papenberg, a junior midfielder says, "Our team has a strong bond, and we have been working really well together. We are all optimistic about the remainder of the season."

Come out and support the Ursinus women's soccer team as they make a run for the playoffs.

Men's Soccer Trying to Battle

In the end Tommy Hanlin would add another goal to complete his hat trick. Ursinus scored five, scoring two goals and heads on to overtime leading to Buenos Aires to another victory. Barbin registered six saves for the game.

The game began very physically with both teams battling for control. It wasn't until the 24th minute when Gettysburg scored a second goal that was only created because of the raise, windy conditions that would cause problems for both teams.

Preseason Jeff Martin would cap off this 1-2 goal for division power Gettysburg. The game began very physically with both teams battling for control. Josh Kemp: Changing the Record Books

Eagles are Right Back In It

Grizzly Sports

At 5111/2 lbs, one wouldn’t expect Josh Kemp to be the strength player that he is, but one look at his weight room numbers (315 lb bench, 405 lb squat) and you might not believe he weighs what he does.

Kemp is a starting outside linebacker for the Bears who is rewriting the pages of the record book. The significance of what he is doing is best felt through Kemp himself.

After 5 games this season Kemp has 11.5 sacks and 13 tackles for loss. He has also been twice named conference defensive player of the week.

Though solid, they were not nearly as impressive as this year’s numbers.

Last year as a defensive back Kemp made 41 tackles, two sacks for loss, and recovered three fumbles.

But that was at defensive back. Coming into this season, the coaches looked to increase the speed of the defense and moved Kemp down to play linebacker in their 3-4 scheme.

The move turned out to be a great one for not only the team but Kemp as well.

Kemp leads the nation in total sacks and is second in sacks per game. He is also ninth in the nation in tackles for loss.

However, national statistics are not the only ones taking note to Kemp’s movie is a good thing. Kemp also feels good about the move. He states, “I’ll thank the coaches and number two receivers which are not as tough to cover.”

With all of Kemp’s success one would feel he would be complacent. This is not the case Kemp says there are several things he would like to improve on.

“...I haven’t quite mastered the art of playing at the speed of linebacker. I sometimes overrule things because I am so used to the play now, and as a defensive back you aren’t that close.”

Other goals Kemp has are to get bigger, while maintaining his speed.

Although his transition to linebacker has been successful he hasn’t always been smooth. Josh credits his coaches Carley and Clug for providing good in structure.

He also credits teammates and fellow outside linebackers Steve Wallace and Dan Scalisi. They say they have been very helpful at times when he may not completely understand his assignment, and also supportive of his success.

With this type of team helpfulness and support one can expect Josh and the entire Bear football team to be successful for years to come.

Check out Ursinus soccer midfielder Josh Kemp and the Bears Eagles fans now you can breath.

With just one minute left in the fourth quarter of the Eagles-Redskins game, the Redskins made a heart-breaking comeback that had as all gasping for air.

After successfully completing a 53-yard field goal to make the score 27-19 in favor of the Eagles, John Hall and the rest of the Redskins special teams set in on an outside kick formation.

After successfully completing the inside kick and then making a touchdown, the Redskins found themselves two points away from tying the game.

In an attempt to take the game into overtime, the Redskins tried for a two point conversion but failed in an overthrown pass.

The Eagles defense put the pressure on the Redskins and closed the game with an ending score of 27-25.

On September 18, 2003, a man was arrested after police say he offered to kill Kobe Bryant’s accuser.

Patrick Graber, 31, was charged with solicitation to commit murder according to the Los Angeles County Sheriff’s Department.

Kobe Bryant, 25, is accused of raping a 19-year-old woman but he asserts they had consensual sex.

In a statement released to the press Bryant’s attorneys said, “In the two months since this case became public, there have been multiple threats against Mr. Bryant, his lawyers and accuser.” The statement continued, “There have been outrageously false stories claiming that Mr. Bryant has offered money to the accuser. We condemn these threats and these false stories. This atmosphere threatens not just Mr. Bryant, his lawyers and the accuser, but the fundamental right to a fair trial before an impartial jury.”

Gruber was arrested during a sting operation that was videotaped by undercover agents, according to L. J. Taylor.

He allegedly sent a letter to Bryant saying he could help him by setting up a meeting with the accuser,” Taylor said. "The suspect agreed to carry out the act in exchange for one million dollars up front and two million dollars after the murder was committed."

The letter was intercepted by Bryant’s security team, which he notified the sheriff’s department. Taylor says, “We took the thing as credible and real.”

Investigators arranged to meet Pat Graber in a parking lot when Graber thought he was securing his financials.

Authorities told him his money was in a separate car.

As Graber went to retrieve his bag with money, police were promptly arrested. Police were searching for accomplices, he believes Graber acted alone.

Gruber was arrested in downtown, a man who did not do the murder himself, but that he knew how to get it done.

He claimed it could be “Arise within a week” and that he knew the accuser’s family.

It was later reported that he had never met the accuser.

Gruber’s lawyer said he was involved with Romanian organized crime.

He also told police that he wouldn’t do the murder himself, but that he knew how to get it done.

Tramphlilhe could be “Arise within a week” and that he knew the accuser’s family.
