"Phil'a. Story" is Grand Success by the Way
by Elsie Belz '55

The newly organized business administration club has a cash balance of about $25, as we may probably recall, they took a poll to discover how many students in Ursinus would support them and how many would oppose them. And, as we may probably recall, the polls showed rather well. Lack of money for good technical facilities was an important factor in both the polling and the survey of the student body. The new radio club is organized to support itself by calling advertising time to nearby business interests. The station will be transmitted to the various dormitories by means of wires, thus saving the cost of a license and a permanent engineer.

The training methods of the club are technical and require engineering knowledge. We doubt if many of the people who signed up to help at the poll, know a great deal about radio work, or even if they are willing to be part of such a group. But the enthusiasm for work revealed in the poll is liable to die down too early.

"The Class Struggle . . .

by Richard Riether '53

The twentieth century has seen sharp ups and downs in the economic war between capital and labor. Capital was for years winning the war, and, in fact, had the war won—until it broke out again in 1933.

With a friendly, government, whose business was business, and who believed, as one of them put it, ‘‘We can’t afford to lose the beans,’’ the pendulum must now be caused to swing again in America, the pendulum must now be caused to swing.

LACK OF MONEY

But came the depression, and the Roosevelt, and the whole situation changed. Under the aegis of the Democratic party, labor began to counter-attack and began to win the war. The Wagner Act, winning the war, and, in fact, had the war won—until it broke out again in 1933.

"Good in favor of capital.

One of the main advantages in our radio work is the technical and required engineering knowledge. We doubt if the majority of the students approve of the station now, however, and encouraging, if they face realistically the difficulties are not insurmountable. The station may be small and imperfect but it is a step toward something bigger.

"As for us.

The Bears broke out of a mild slump last Monday when they pounded Philadelphia serves into the lineup, even to the extent where pitcher Bill Buchan.

Dick Glock opened the game with a walk and was sacrificed to second by Jack Popowich. It wasn’t till a half hour later when the second out of the inning was recorded on a fly to center by pitcher Herb Knutl. With Glock on second, Jay Kern reached base on an error and they pummeled Philadelphia pitching for a total of twenty times on only nine hits. With the game well in command, the Bears poured reserves into the lineup, even to the extent where pitcher Bill Buchanan fell down second base.

In the second inning, after Kern had flied out, Gene Harris lined a single to center. After John Anderson reached first on an error, right-fielder Hal Feist slammed another triple to deep left field. A walk and two more errors allowed two more runs to score. Then followed the widest hitting of the game in the third when the Bears scored nine runs on five hits.

Fourteen men stepped to the plate as Fogwisch, Henning, Knutl, Kern, and Anderson hit safely. Three of these safeties were combined with five walks, an error, a wild pitch, and a hit batman to force home the nine counters. The twentieth and final Unisus tally came in the fourth on a double by Hal Feist, the diminutive hurler, was shelled the Dragons to only one safety and nineteen hits as the Bears have scored in the first two innings before being held scoreless in any game for the first two frames. Hal Feist is now the leading pitcher with a mark of 3-0.

In the second inning, Dick Glock opened with a single to center and Anderson drew a walk. Popowich dropped his second straight free pass. With the infield drawn in for a hunt, Jay Kern balked a ball past second to drive home the third run. After firm pitcher’s glove into center field to drive home the third and fourth runs of the inning.

The Bears struck early to score a single to right field. After John Ander­son walked to load the bases, right-fielder Strobach belted a single to center. He eventually scored on a single to right field. The third run of the frame scored on a long fly. From that point, the Bears have scored in the first two innings before being held scoreless in any game for the first two frames. Hal Feist is now the leading pitcher with a mark of 3-0.

Hurler Hal Feist turned in another fine pitching performance last Wednesday when he set the Dragons down with only five hits as his teammates punished Mike Chamberlain, Philadelphia’s best pitcher, to a 5-1 victory.

The win, second in a row for Ursinus, marked Feist’s third consecutive victory without a defeat.

The Bears struck early to score seven runs in the first two innings and Feist’s three-run single in the fifth set the stage for the Bears’ big inning.

The Bears have scored in the first two innings before being held scoreless in any game for the first two frames. Hal Feist is now the leading pitcher with a mark of 3-0.
Physics Department Develops Film Loops For Better Teaching

by Dr. John Heilman

Professor of Physics

In the teaching of mathematics and physics many diagrams are used. Often, where greater precision is desired, the diagrams are drawn on a blackboard or chalkboard, a method that has been aided recently by a blackboard sketch, lantern slides, and now by the motion picture. This last device is particularly helpful in courses in which the teaching is difficult and the presentation of the material requires a highly visual approach. The motion picture, which is a development of the days of Thomas Edison and of the great French physical chemist, J. L. Mandeville, has been widely used in teaching, and the techniques of making this device useful are now well recognized.

The Desirability of Making Such Loops or Cards Has Been Recognized

There are several advantages of using motion pictures in teaching. First, they provide a permanent record of the presentation of material, and students can re-see the material whenever they wish. Second, the use of motion pictures allows instructors to present material in a more visual and engaging manner, which can help students understand complex concepts. Third, motion pictures can be used to present material in a sequence that is difficult to convey in a lecture or discussion. Finally, the use of motion pictures can help instructors save time, as they do not need to spend time drawing diagrams or preparing other visual aids.

The motion picture, however, is not without its drawbacks. It can be expensive to produce and requires specialized equipment. Additionally, it can be difficult to know how much material should be included in a motion picture.

The motion picture was first used in teaching in the early 1900s, and it has continued to be used in teaching ever since. The advent of the modern digital camera and editing software has made it easier than ever to produce high-quality motion pictures for teaching purposes.

What If You Want to Learn More About Motion Pictures in Teaching?

There are several resources available to learn more about using motion pictures in teaching. The American Association of Physics Teachers (AAPT) has a website dedicated to the use of visual aids in physics teaching. The website includes resources such as articles, videos, and tutorials on how to use motion pictures effectively. Additionally, there are many books and articles available on the topic, including "Teaching Physics with Motion Pictures" by Robert L. Millikan.

The use of motion pictures in teaching is a powerful tool that can help instructors present material in a more engaging and effective manner. However, it is important to consider the costs and benefits of using motion pictures in teaching and to use them thoughtfully and appropriately to enhance the learning experience.
