Student expression concerning this vital addition to the campus life for all Ursinus students has been announced by the administration. No student opinion of this action has been received.

A YM-YWCA proposal to set up a Professor's Panel has been made. Student expression concerning this addition to the campus life for all Ursinus students has been announced by the administration. No student opinion of this action has been received.

One of the functions of the Weekly is to mirror student opinion. It is our belief that a definite pulse of opinion can be felt.

We cannot believe that there are no student sentiment concerning new measures that develop on campus. Whether the students take part in the events of that day, that year, or that decade, society-events—never fear, there are thought to be brought about, and the full significance of the opinion is not to keep it to oneself.

The correct title of the organization is The Newsman Society of England, in America. This membership, however, is being opened to all students who are interested in encountering new areas of thought, and those who wish to meet people with similar interests here.

The Newsman Society functions as a social organization. It is not a debating society, but rather a group of individuals who share a common interest in new movements and ideas.

This letter is directed to the editor of the Student Weekly and to the administration of the university.

One naturally wonders if a mere distribution of newspapers in a society's magazine really amounts to a genuine advancement of thought. The truth is, how many of us have even heard of one of the few who have held this position seriously and is a branch of the society: "Were American students to be taught to the best of their ability, our work is well done if we can understand the same kind of suffering, even if at home."

If you have ever walked through a warmly lighted, book-lined study room in a home, you have if you were surrounded by old and new books and a writing desk. But one opened a crumbling old study and saw the rich and inviting smell of antiquity emanating from it? Have you ever opened a magnificent new book and felt a tinge run up your spine as you realize the importance of the author there on the flyleaf, or even in the binding itself?

If you have, you are a potential contributor. Write and let us know you'd like to listen to the advice of one who has fallen upon some of the pitfalls that beset the unwary. Together we can do something to make it possible to buy every book you see and think in the knowledge that we have taken your hand reaching for your book and have saved it for you.

Junior Prom Traditions Seen Through Years; Theme Varies

by Anne Neberak '51

Many traditions have been established around the Junior Prom throughout the years. The crowning of the prom queen and the selection of the Cub and Key members have come to be the two high-lighted events of the occasion.

Going back to the 1947 Junior Prom we find that the theme was the Southern Garden and that the dance was held in the Thompson-Glasier. The selection of the prom queen that year was such a difficult decision that there were two co-queens chosen to reign, Marjorie Guy '47 and Lois Wilson '47.

The Juniors in '48 must have been lacking either in initiative or originality because their Junior Prom was "The Russian." Their queen was the music of Ray Klier's orchestra. Many of you will remember Doris Neil, the reigning Junior Prom queen of '48. Serving her as attendants were Anita Frick, Ruth Ann Fraction, Jeanne Wald, and Norma Young. The theme of '49 was the Butterfly Ball with the music of Howard Lain and his band.

Prom escorted his as her maid-s-in-waiting were: Marge Justice, Thelma Lindberg and Norma Young. The theme of '49 was the Butterfly Ball with the music of Howard Lain and his band. Harold as queen, in 1950 was Marilyn Joyce Miller '51, a historically-social studies major. Attending her as her maid-in-waiting were: Mary Justice, Thelma Lindberg, Mary McPheron and Betty Billing. Providing the music was the Ken Moore Karavan which kept up a sunny atmosphere throughout the April thirteenth theme.

This Friday evening, April 20, the Juniors will transform the Sunnybrook balcony into a Seventh Heaven. Select your favorite

Poll Reveals Students' Views on MacArthur Ouster

by Nancy Wiseman '51

An on-the-spot poll conducted on the Ursinus campus Thursday revealed collegiate attitudes concerning President Truman's dismissal of General MacArthur.

Question: Was Truman justified in removing MacArthur?

Questioned:

Further comments were:

Yes. Few tears need to be shed for General MacArthur when we stop to understand two basic principles in American Government. The first of these is the bare fact, stated in our constitution and based upon 150 years of interpretation, that the president makes our foreign policy, carries out that policy and is directly responsible to the people for his actions in this field. Military men are tools of our government and are not the builders of policy. This leads to the second principle. The president is commander-in-chief of our armed forces and MacArthur is a secondary officer. The latter's repeated statements in the field of foreign policy have gone against direct orders from his superior. We could not allow MacArthur's actions to stand uncorrected and still hope for a workable government with duty and responsibility placed in the proper perspective. - Roger Den Hollander '51.

Unhappy Decision.

Yes. Truman made a necessary, though unhappy decision. MacArthur has great prestige in Japan and is a great military leader, but foreign policy is made in the Department of State by civilians, advised by military leaders where necessary. MacArthur has a perfect right to advise Truman and Acheson, but not to go ahead on his own hook with his own foreign policy. Truman made a courageous, necessary decision. - Bob Herber '51.

Yes, as far as our foreign policy in the Korean crisis is concerned, MacArthur's determination to bomb China might have led to an all-out war which may still be prevented. On the other hand, his role as commander of the occupation forces of Japan should not have been taken from him as the Jap­anese have looked up to him as an able leader and have supported him with full cooperation. This change in command may bring difficulty in Japan and an added task for the new commander, Ridgway. - W. Braun.

Should Have Retired

No. MacArthur should have been retired at the age all generals are, for if Truman were a strategist, as he claims to be, he certainly knew of MacArthur's ideas about the Far East long ago. MacArthur never hid his strategy, and the State Department until recently didn't even have a Far Eastern policy. Furthermore, I believe, on the international level Britain's imperialism in China, especially Hong Kong, has been a thorn in the side of progress far too long. I side with MacArthur. - Nelson J. Weaver '51.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

Number 17... THE OWL

"So I'm a wise guy

Specsysum cyanidius" -- Speco, for short, majors in the classics. But in this case, he's dropped his Latin heavings and slings American slang with the best of them. He comes right out "cum loudly" whenever he voices his opinion on these quick-trick, one-puff cigarette tests. They're a snub to his high I.Q.

He knows from smoking experience there's just one intelligent way to judge the mildness of a cigarette.

It's the sensible test... the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as a steady smoke -- on a pack-after-pack, day-after-day basis. No snap judgments needed. After you've enjoyed Camels -- and only Camels -- for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), we believe you'll know why...

Preparing Catalogue is Year Round Job, Dr. Phillips Says

The preparation of an Ursinus bulletin is an all-year job which begins the moment the last bulletin is issued, according to Dr. William J. Phillips, registrar, and William P. Pettig, assistant, who prepared this year's publication. It involves many consultations with the publishing company in order to bring the old information up to date.

This year Dr. Phillips first experience in preparing the catalogue, and if he compares this year's catalogue with last year's it can be said that he has done an excellent job. The Livingston Publishing Company in Barberton, Pa., which has for a long time prepared the "booksheets" of the livingston is no use for prospective students, is responsible for the picture on the cover and for the neat printing in the whole volume. The newly designed catalogue is larger than last year's and is printed on a different kind of paper. The chief difference in contents which it contains are the new psychology major courses, the new requirements for admission to the business administration course and the program for concentration in the business administration course. The old material has also been slightly rearranged for convenience. As matter of fact, the new catalogue with its face lifted, doesn't look like an ordinary dry bulletin at all although it contains just as much informative material. Copies of it are now available at the Registrar's office.
