Bob Mecklenburg, a big junior, is active on the Student Council and is a member of the Pre-Med society. He has played center and has been on the wrestling squad. He belongs to Beta Sigma Lambda fraternity.

Due to the infallibility of materials used in the gymnasium for dances and other events, all materials used from now on must be approved by Herschel Goodwill, superintendent of grounds, before they can be used.

PETITIONS OUT THIS WEEK

Petitions for nominations for class and Migba officers should be in the office by noon today. Those not signed by all members of the classes will not be considered.

The motion picture Pennsylvania Dutch No. 1 will be shown in the Thompson-Gay Gym on April 26, at 8 p.m. for the benefit of the Memorial Scholarship Fund. The movie, which is in color, was produced by Charles and Currie Rose of York, Pa.

Pennsylvania Dutch No. 1 was made in the Amish section of Lancaster County. The picture is a rare work of art because it contains many scenes of the Amish farm and home activities, which the people never before allowed to be photographed. The moving picture carries one aligulation, that is, it can never be shown in Lancaster County.

Pretzel making, harvesting, barn dance, Dutch novelties, shoo-fly pies, cheese and meats that are typical of the Dutch are among the many events included in the evening's program.

The picture was directed by Charles and Currie Rose of York, Pa.

Murray Grove has the distinction that he is President Theodore Roosevelt; Jonathan (Hal) Terron has an unusual personality all his own, and Mortimer (Howard Roberts) is a fairly normal young man bewildered by his eccentric family.

The love interest is supplied by Elaine Harper (Marjorie Joyce), the daughter of a clergyman.

OFFICERS: Jane Hartlett, Barbara Landis, Jay Ely and Molly Hall.

Lucy Barnes and Jane Keller To Share Big 'Arsenic' Role

As a result of excellent performances by two girls, the role of Lucy Barnes in the Curtain club's spring play, Arsenic and Old Lace, will be between Nancy Barne 53 and Jacqueline Keller. Nancy will portray Martha Thursday and Friday, May 10 and 11, and Jackie will be seen Saturday, May 12.

The famous comedy centers around two elderly sisters, Martha Brewster and Abby Brewster (Mary Lou Henry), who have a curious method of showing their sympathy for lonely old bachelors. Their three nephews each have an important bearing on the play. Teddy (Dick Stumper), who has been previously engaged, is the straight character. He is considered to be the one who can really hold his own with the comedy.

French Situation Reversed

by Helen T. Garrett

The wheels of the new class and MSGB election system start rolling, and the calculations that are under the procedure, nominations.

In this first step lies the truly democratic nature of the new system. It is a change in the method of choosing political or administrative leaders from this part of the recently-passed bill.

The French Situation

Curiously enough, the situation of France and the United States in the present world crisis is the exact reverse of what it was during my college years at Ursinus. In 1942, I tried to stop estrangement with France, and found that the neutrality which, in 1943, was in favor of our neutralism, had been changed by their defense, assured by the French. The French at all times, throughout the war, have been in favor of the European unity. In 1946, they have not been able to be united, and that is the main reason for the situation which now prevails in Europe and the Middle East.

Today, the United States is actually on the verge of a war, taking action against Russia. Against Communism, on the other hand, the United States is now the only country that is able to defend itself. As a result, we have taken the battle to Russia, but until 1990, we are the vanguard defense against a war against Russia, and it calls for an Allied bid. Justice to America and France, it is not enough to fight this war with the American war machine. We know that the French are fighting against Russia, and we want to fight them, but with our Allied mind.

Neutrality Explained

It is a very simple question: why France should long to be independent. From the beginning of the war in Europe, the French have been fighting on the neutral side, but they have been fighting against Russia. In the present world crisis, the French are fighting against Russia, and it calls for an Allied bid. Justice to America and France, it is not enough to fight this war with the American war machine. We know that the French are fighting against Russia, and we want to fight them, but with our Allied mind.

The Second Factor which Would Make the War

Be the question of the support of the American people. France has been fighting Russia in the international plane, and it is possible that the American people would have to support the French. If the American people support the French, it is possible that the war would be on the Allied side. The American military is now fighting against Russia, and it calls for an Allied bid. Justice to America and France, it is not enough to fight this war with the American war machine. We know that the French are fighting against Russia, and we want to fight them, but with our Allied mind.

We can now take the battle to Russia, but until 1990, we are the vanguard defense against a war against Russia, and it calls for an Allied bid. MacArthur vs Truman

Truman vs MacArthur

by Richard McKeil

General MacArthur's remaining influence on the United States will be to be bound to raise a fever pitch against him. The President has said that MacArthur stated his well-known views, that MacArthur's ideas are quite as important as not if not more important. But I think that if it turns out that MacArthur is right, that it will go on with renewed vigor.

The General's ideas are, so far as I can see in a glance, quite contrary to a natural assumption and a sense of civic pride.

Other recent events that have been put in the public eye are the deaths of two men in the White House. The death of Ernest Bevin and Senator Arthur Vandenberg have been confessed. In the last few days both these men have been found dead. The fact that both these men have been found dead is not as surprising as it seems.

Truman, in his analysis of the current wave of sensational reporting and the hot topics. Our opinions on these matters are, I think, well worth while. They have come about because of the current wave of sensational reporting.

Truman's ideas are, so far as I can see in a glance, quite contrary to a natural assumption and a sense of civic pride.
One of the current centers of interest around campus now is the main bulletin-board in Bobmerger. Between classes there are always large groups of people crowded around, each other in an attempt to see, and to make remarks.

"Already!" That is the expected answer to this advertisement - but the exam schedule is reached. There is a Recordak, model MPE reader.

"If you're on your feet, I must be taking more than three courses this semester." Paget said.

"And the exam schedule — is one of the seemingly necessary evils associated with college life. The usual students are going through the usual pangs of remorse and the usual resolutions to get down to studying immediately."

Skaggy O'Haggarty flew into Bobmerger the other day when he first got the word.

"And Skaggy, he copied down his seven courses at once. "This looks serious," he said, trying to recall who taught History 2. "This looks serious," he added, turning to the person next to him.

"Duh — it might be."

Skaggy whipped out of Bobmerger and climbed up four flights of stairs to his room in a nearby dorm. First he sat down and made a permanent exact copy of his exam schedule. Then he began to figure out how much studying each subject would require.

"Lil — maybe I can read the book in four weeks. No, I can't. I have to borrow a copy of that book. Oh, text — wonder what you just stands for no, I have wasting time on philosophy... do physics report... get German translation... Faggregated — forget aboutcomp... put in bottle of Haldacol... prepare for each studying session with three hours' sleep..."

Skaggy is at present the whirl of an efficient system for studying. He rises daily at six-thirty. Jogs around the track five times, showers, shaves, goes to breakfast, attends two classes, plans meals in the Supply, goes to bed to limber his hand for writing, and goes back to bed until lunch.

After lunch Skaggy attends another class, copies two physics reports, and takes a short nap. At four-thirty he is again on his feet.

For an hour he plays tennis to limber his back for sitting at a desk, and he pores over a doctored interlaced translation of German until dinner. After dinner he has two coles and half a pack of cigarettes at the Drac to limber his throat for gasping at the number of back left assignments he has to read, and memorize a paragraph of the Constitution in his room. A thousand pages of English literature, hurry perusal of another of the dialogues of Plato, quick review of the circulatory system of The Squid, composition of "An External View of the..." and a short visit to 1000 complete a full day of satisfactory work and exercise. Skaggy falls exhausted but well satisfied into his sack at eleven o'clock, sleeps happily amid dreams of A's and B's, and wakes at six-thirty the next morning.

Odds and Ends

I was foolish enough to be sympa-thetic when Peter Hughes came to Ohio and complained about hard-heaved eggs. I then asked, "What happened?"

Peter said, "I was talking to my friend about the peculiarities of the egg, what do you think happened? A cup of eggs fell and killed them all."

A fellow went to the best depart- ment in Mary's and there was a sign in the window: "M. That's the only part of a book you read, anyway."

College Boy to Dad on telephone: "Dad, I just had a talk with the President of the College.

Dad: "I can't bear your word's end.

Then the officer breaks in and says, "Wait a minute. I can hear every word he says."

Floral Club Levies Charge for Using Stage Materials

At a meeting of the Flats and Players on Monday night at Hill House, the group discussed the use of the school's stage materials. The charge levied on the group was for the use of the various items of theatrical equipment.

The fact that the appropriation does not even cover ordinary running expenses like rent and upkeep of the theatre is an indication of the financial exigencies of the theatre.

The cost of cleaning the ten cyclor- amas curtains runs around $80 and light bulbs for spot lights run from two to six dollars, depending on their intensity, with stronger bulbs having a shorter life span.

The charges, which will begin with the month of September, will be made to all organizations, both on and off campus, to give them the use of the equipment for the purpose of raising funds or for their entertainment needs. The fee will be $25 for each small spot light that can be set up, $5 for the high powered search light, 30 cents apiece for the small cycloramas, and 30 cents apiece for each large cyclorama used. These charges have not been determined for the use of the fabric and the owning club.
