LETTENS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

In response to the editorial published in last week's issue of the "Weekly," I would like to answer Mr. Harkins's comments on the subject of the WSGA Constitution. I believe that any person interested will read the constitution that has been published in the "Weekly." If there are any parts of the constitution that are confusing or unclear, there are two more copies of the WSGA Constitution that are kept in the office of the Student Council. If you are one of the students who have not yet looked at the constitution, I would be willing to show you it and answer any questions you may have.

Sincerely yours,

In the interest of the students who are not aware of the WSGA Constitution, I would like to mention that the constitution is based on the idea of giving students the opportunity to participate in the government of their school. The constitution outlines the structure of the government, the duties of the various offices, and the procedures for conducting business. The constitution is designed to ensure that the government is efficient, fair, and representative.

Sincerely yours,

Three Officials Embroiled

by Richard McKay '51

The New York Times, this week, announced that the official word was that the New York Times had made a mistake in its story about the three prominent officials being the source for any argument, from any claims, counter-claims, and rebuttal. The Committee's report is not a blatantly sensational or significant, but has been changed at the point of view. The Pentagon fears that the investigation would prove embarrassing for the foreign policy. The Wake Island conference in 1905 was a lively fair ground where crowds swarmed all afternoon buying cakes and roses from booths, having their fortunes told by a Madame Zambo, eating a punch supper in Bomberg Hall, and in the evening, enjoying a straw ride. The ride was sponsored by the Women's Christian association to raise money to send delegates from the college to summer conferences.

British Problems

"Our affairs," said Winston Churchill last week referring to the British problems but using words applicable to the whole western world, "we are at sea, and we win. We are in a morass of confusion, chaos, disorganization, and trouble. In Iran a new government is in power labeled the Islamic Republic, anti-Russian, anti-American, and anti-British. The administration has already nationalized the British owned Anglo-Iranian Oil company.

May Day, the yearly all-cored festivity suffering in the fair spring time, is once again to be promised this Saturday. Every year since 1965 some sort of festive celebration has been planned and executed in the merry month of May by the women students of Ursinus. The type of celebration has varied, but the spirit was remarkably the same in 1965 as that of 1951. According to Dean Camilla Brownback's account in last year's Alumni News, in 1965 the campus was a lively fair ground where crowds swarmed all afternoon buying cakes and roses from booths, having their fortunes told by a Madame Zambo, eating a punch supper in Bomberg Hall, and in the evening, enjoying a straw ride. The ride was sponsored by the Young Women's Christian association to raise money to send delegates from the college to summer conferences.

The same general type of entertainment was carried on until 1977 when the Ursinus Women's club days when then termed the Women's Graduation association employed the first Director of Physical Education for Women. Miss McClean, one of the early directors, introduced dancing in the physical education classes, and in 1939 the girls presented dances in the late afternoon of May day on each campus before their mothers. The first written May Day program was thus presented, and the first May queen, Miss Marian Jones, was crowned. She sat on a floral throne with her attendants beside her watching horse-rides, butterflies, gypsies, beauties of a May morning and the spirit was remarkably the same in 1905 as that of 1951.
