A DETERMINED WOMAN

BY MARY BENSON

In one of the back settlements of our Great West—far from the circuit rider, far from the schoolmaster, the post office, and the telegraph—lived a woman of unusual determination. She was the oldest daughter of a pioneer family who had come West ten years before. She had never been to school, and was as ignorant as the next savage who comes to this country. But she was as honest as the day, and as independent as a man.

One day she was at work in the garden, when she suddenly heard a noise in the bushes. She stopped work and listened intently. Then she turned to her husband and said, "I must go into the woods—something is there."

Her husband, who was a practical man, said, "Don't go, dear. It's nothing."

But she wouldn't listen. "I must go," she said. "I've a feeling it is important."

So she went into the woods, and after a time she came out with a rock in her hand.

"What is it?" asked her husband.

"I don't know," she said. "But I wanted to bring it home for you."

When she laid the rock on the table, her husband exclaimed, "But it's a gold nugget!"

"I know," she said. "And I'm going to make something of it."

She took the nugget to the nearest town, where she sold it for a hundred dollars. And from that time on, she was known as the woman with the gold nugget.

The end.
WASHINGTON LETTER.

From the Springfield Republican.

The Primary has been over and it is now time to clean up the political business of the season. The Democrats have failed to make any headway in the election. The Republicans have held their own and will probably continue to do so. The primary has been conducted in a far more orderly manner than the previous one. The count will be made by the Cheshire County Committee.

Boston, D. C., Nov. 14, 1860.

John R. Quincy Adams, 36 years old, the son of the late President, was born in Salem, Mass., on the 10th of May, 1802. He was a member of the Adams family, and his father was one of the greatest men of the age. He was a man of ability and integrity, and his influence was felt in all parts of the country. He was a leader in the anti-slavery movement, and his name is remembered in history as one of the great men of the age. He was a man of great courage and energy, and his influence was felt in all parts of the country.
