Treatise of Diphtheria.

Dr. F. W. Babcock, of Boston, has given a new treatment of diphtheria, which promises much benefit. It is a combination of potassium bichromate and salicylic acid, which has been found very effective in the treatment of this disease.

The treatment consists in the application of a paste made of potassium bichromate and salicylic acid, which is applied to the affected part. The patient is then confined to bed, and the paste is applied every day until the disease is cured.

There have been many cases of diphtheria treated successfully by this method, and it is now widely used in hospitals and private practice.

The success of this treatment is due to the fact that the combination of potassium bichromate and salicylic acid has a powerful antiseptic action, which destroys the bacteria causing the disease.

The patients treated with this method have shown a rapid improvement, and many have been cured within a few days.

In conclusion, it is to be hoped that this treatment will be widely adopted, and that many lives will be saved by its use.

W. F. Babcock, M.D.
The Providence Independent, published on the 14th of May, contains an article discussing the importance of improving roads. The author argues that the public should not allow the state budget to be used for activities that are not beneficial to the whole people. The article also mentions the power of railroads and the need for careful consideration in their development.

Another article in the same issue is about the campaign for a reform election bill. The author praises Blaine and Martin for their efforts in this direction.

In other news, the article mentions the death of Mr. Blair's father, which led to his withdrawal from the political scene. The article also reports on the expected application for Mr. Edmunds' seat last seen in town, and a special train containing seventy firemen was sent to the Assay District.

The article concludes with a brief report on the Providence Independent, mentioning its expected edition on the 14th.
