The Farmers Union

The Farmers Union of the state of Pennsylvania was organized in 1867, and has since become one of the most powerful organizations in the country. The Union's main goal is to protect the rights of farmers and to ensure fair treatment in the agricultural community.

At a recent meeting of the members of the Farmers Union, held at Schuylkill County, it was decided to propose a resolution to the state legislature for the establishment of a land bank. The land bank would be a nonprofit organization that would purchase and hold land for the benefit of farmers, providing them with a source of income.

The resolution was unanimously approved by the members, who believe that the land bank will help to stabilize the agricultural community and ensure the future of farming.

The Farmers' Union

The Farmers' Union met last week to discuss the current issues affecting farmers. The meeting was attended by a large number of farmers from the surrounding area.

The main topic of discussion was the rising cost of feed. Many farmers expressed concern about the current prices and the impact they have on their businesses.

As a result of the meeting, the Farmers' Union has decided to lobby for government assistance to help offset the high cost of feed. The union has also called on farmers to continue to work together to find solutions to the current problems.

The Farmers' Union will hold its next meeting on the first Tuesday of each month.
WE ARE SHOWING

THE GREATEST ALL-WOOL MEN'S SUITS

IN AMERICA

At $350, $400, and $500.

Let us tell you a little bit of history, now. Last January when all those men playing box outside with water and water's ends was having a great time, the clothing manufacturers from Boston down to the south were concerning their commercial relations, and at a meeting, as it was called, they decided that men and women must be in the line of business in the morning, evening, and middle of the day. So they wrote a letter to the editors of the New York Times and said, "We are going to show the greatest all-wool men's suits in America." And they did it. They showed them, and they sold them. And now they are back again, and they are showing them again. They are showing them to you, and they are hoping that you will buy them. And if you do, they will be happy. And if you don't, they will be sad.
