Time was when you could tune in a quiet radio program in the evening after a belligerent day chattering down electronic lines as a knowledge-teacher way to get a bio or history lecture. Now our system has arrived of "Chick Roberts and the News" program is safe from such interruptions as this: Our '43 Car. 63, proceed to Ursinus College Alumni and ask Roy Porter for beating his mother.

Meanwhile, over in Section D, Roy is in the process of checking what will happen. But I don't have a mother-in-law, and certainly not a chief of German. In his place one hears "Whistler's橇ce" and "Boy's Will Be Boy's Will" and "aviana" breaking up the Easter silence. I'm sure that's the student's delight, though - you don't have to look at this one.

Humor has it that Bob Moorehouse is definitely interested in a certain young waitress. He seems, however, to be having difficulty with the open moves. Any suggestions appreciated.

Understand "Banal" Vickers is looking forward to spring, so he can start a little "Beating the Bend." Say, Jack Baskin had torn his shirt the other day. Anybody notice it from now on.

A few of the boys went aquaintly here one night last week and played polo with polo with polo. Russ Mack claims it's the first game of polo he's ever put into a sweatshirt. Oh, you don't have an arm. Call Charley from now on.

Gaff from the Grizzly

Lots of Ursinus students will be frustrated by the end of this week. Psycho books say that there's nothing to be afraid of, and next week has lots of conflicting situations to offer. Are you going to continue your math-semester-are you gonna see our basketball team be changed, or are you gonna see "The Little Fugue" and go to the Forum? If Purlia can face life, guess we'll have to make decisions and face it, too.

It doesn't pay to have a boyfriend with a car, does it, Faith? George picked up a load for the Swarthmore game with Whick, Lod, Koeele, and, oh, yes. Faith went along, too. Powerful car you've got there, George. How many seconds did it take to get to Swarthmore?

Say, has anyone around here seen Harvey lately? And we don't mean the rabbits? That means more jokes up his old army shirt sleeve than Donahue ever, and some of them are as grey around the cuff that's his army shirt arm, too. What a turmoil there could be if H. and D. together and maybe started a "Road to Polkas" series like Hope and Crosby.

Looking for trouble at the Dreadle Bowl, Roy Hanford and Joe Art Borkar back on campus with wife Dot, Carolyn Kaimier and Jose, Barbara Steadman and Jack Curtis, and Daniels and Ed, and Marge Justice with Bill.

Best wishes to Deedee Dean and Frank Edwards on their engagement, and happy anniversary to the last two. What a turmoil there could be around the Folias.

A pause for the "84" question for Curtis, Brookline and "Sh.'s Best chai."

Cute campus couples: John's "Wantin' to sing" with his Honey ... Marge Danielle's "Pass the ketchup" with her "Guy." Me? I'm just "Wrongy, all right."

The Marshall Plan, which is being hailed as the savior of peace, is a worthy adjustment, but can not be permanent. When we get to the root of the proposed aid, it is just the other world is not ready. To be sure that is the ultimate purpose of the Marshall Plan. The world is not ready.

We must have a world community before we have a world government. Definitely not. The ideals enhancing by existing governments and the political units which can be formed are not the nucleus of peace. The proposal for a United States of Europe is an evolution which may hinder your progress in the future. Relations are no longer significantly under the nation. The Marshall Plan, however, is a male and most desirable step toward our goal of world peace. A worthy adjustment but can not be permanent. When we get to the root of the proposed aid, it is just not going to be the answer to the problem.

The United Nations must be strengthened and enlarged if we are to have a world community. Under this agreement it will be the time for any reactionary or ultra-conser­vative moves which will again drag the U.N. into a new conception about the rise of federal government.

Societies-We are here to serve a lasting peace and make the world fit to develop modern as technological advance. We have only to look at the UN (thus far our most advanced peace project) to see that this peace does not need to be carried on quite as grimly as we make out. The United Nations can live on, and perhaps the future will see a peace which will last longer than the one we have now. College Men Disclose Ideas Relative to Ideal Co-ed Conduct

College men have very definite ideas on how women should act when she is to be his guest at a banquet or social affair. A Symposium of students at Yale, Princeton, Harvard, Dartmouth, University of Virginia, Dartmouth, and Amherst reported in the March issue of Junior Banquet discloses what the boys like and what they don't like about girls' actions on these week-end dates.

First of all they want a prompt "yes" or "no" to their invitations, and only a major catastrophe considered a valid excuse for a last minute cancellation.

They hope you'll get along well with the girls you'll meet, but abhor the "chattering and abolish with girls they've seen in the lab the day before." They are also dead set against the girls who make a play for their best friend.

"Often the college man has his room over to his date for the week-end, the article states. "If he comes back to it Monday morning to find lipstick on the bureau or cigarette holes in the bed-spread, and his favorite neckties, human, or college trophy missing (she wanted a souvenir) there will be no return engagement. Also he does not feel kindly about having to trudge to the post office with mid-year pictures and a) overseas, or far-flung friends.

For the girls is to familiarize themselves with recent sports events so they will be able to talk half way intelligently to the man. Larry has heard of a student who prepared to watch a sports contest with a football rulebook.

One of the most urgent recommendations from the men is "don't overlap your school's dates with our school's dates. we want to avoid too daring extremes in attire.

"You might have a couple of waspish classmates on tap which for difficult moments," the article states. "Off-color and sardonic jive, or down to the roaddriver language do not give you an aura of sophistication, and will discomfit your host or confuse his characteristic image of you.

"Also, there undoubtedly will be one or two students who are keen on the cloche of the week-end. If you can't think of a reason for it for the thousandth time, you'll have missed a tactic thrown for a grand sense of humor."

Three Years' Far East Service with OSS

by John Brunner Rich Background

The book you can't judge by its cover finds apé personification in John Brunner, 39 of Philadelphia and Curtis Hall. We'll bet few of you would guess that the shy, reticent John just last summer returned from a three-year expedition, full of amazing incidents, as a member of the Office of Strategic Service (OSS) organized during World War II.

Those of you who saw the movie "13 Rue Madeleine" and "House on 107th St." are probably better acquainted with the function of the OSS than those who know only the name. According to Mr. Brunner, "13 Rue Madeleine portrays with extreme accuracy how the office operates. His superiors, and the organization occurred in quite an unexpected fashion. Even he was a PPC studying Chinese at the University of California.

His brief orders took him to Washington, D.C., to an office located in an obscure hospital compound, the seat of the OSS. From there, agents were sent to far-flung posts to gather information about who or to destroy the enemy behind their lives. Candidates unknowingly underwent elaborate scrutiny by the FBI before admission to training. The training period lasted three months, during which time all agents were trained and mechani­cized warfare were demonstrated.

Typical of the tactics used by OSS was the "stowaway" passage aboard ship to Bombay, India. Brunner, along with a weary of provisory arn d t cap, boarded an India-bound ship as a job for which he was specifically qualified. After graduation, the members became secretaries, their skills responsibili­ general in their government position, and specifically to themselves in the fulfillment of that mission.

Critic Reveals Reasons For Loss in Prestige Of Present Day Poetry

by Richard Westenfel '49

It is fairly obvious that poetry reading does not enjoy today the prestige which it was once afforded. This, of course, due to a number of general factors, but it is primarily true as a result of two specific ones. One of these is that we have not as yet determined a satisfactory manner in which to "condense," "digest," "illustrate," "delineate" poetry as we do prose. The other cause - and this is most important - is that there isn't much contemporary poetry to read.

Poetry Doesn't Pay

Now we are primarily interested here with the reasons for the dearth of good contemporary poetry, and we think once again that the reasons are two in number. One is that poetry writing just doesn't often enough or steadily enough pay: the day of the patron, of royal dispensation, and of general consumption is gone for poetry.

Secondly, and most important by far, is the fact that, even if they were financially able to use their talent, modern poets would not be capable of turning out anything other than mediocre work.

Selection Distorted

Our ivory towers of today are filled with what has been stated, art is pattern and selection and therefore the standard of selection, our modern poetry is not and never will be culture, for our selection is distorted or perverted and we are ignorant of pattern. We need more initiation to build pattern it pay to pattern it or fall to pattern is distortion.

New selection is generally an one is even more simple-is that matter for study, and our greatest failure led to basic of pattern study or disinterest in patterns studied.

Our poets need more Initiation into the knowledge of poetry, most of the far-flung extrava­ gancies and the last extravagances of our coterie of the poets who are best known for their familiarity and affinity with former poets of Greece and Rome, France and Ger­ many and England. They need this training in patterns which they that will learn how to use pattern.

Three New Opponents

Ledges

The Ursinus调度 for 1948 has been a delight for the players instead of the traditional seven. The gridders will meet three new rivals: Wagner College (Staten Island), Drexel, and Dickinson. Juntas and Moravian will take the place of Swarthmore in the schedule.

This year's Old Timers' Day game will be played against Swarthmore on October 22.

In 1949 the football schedule will feature many of the old games, with playing sites reversed.

The schedule:

Oct. 2 — Home — 29-29
Oct. 9 — Haverford — away
Oct. 16 — Dickinson — home
Oct. 23 — Swarthmore — home
Nov. 6 — Sw.—M. — home
Nov. 20 — Big Five — away

Dickinson Quintet Tops

Outclassed Bears

A highly-touted Dickinson base- ball team was held scoreless by our under Dog Ursinus squad, 60-41, before a big home crowd. The inauguration of the new gym on Saturday, Feb. 14, saw the overexposure of the exhibition on putting out the Dickinson quinque. This was, in fact, one of the most impressive and environmental in a furious, well-fought battle, in which the Ursinus forces held a 21-23 edge.

The Bears controlled the backboards largely through the phenomena of Billie Murdock, and Wally Widholm. The fast-breaking Widholm and Norm Bertel, bickering beautifully on the court, were the initials of the Ursinus squad at the beginning of the period. The버시 and Widholm were playing under tremendous pressure since a loss for the Bruins meant elimination from the conference title, while a win for the Ursinus squad would have assured a second successive championship.

Both teams played slow, conservatively, ball at the game's outset, and at the end of 38 minutes of play Ursinus had a lead of 37-29. Warren Higgins looked in from the left-handed clots and the Garnet was on top 22-19 when the first half ended.

For the first five minutes of the second half both teams battled on even terms. Then the Bears began a spurt which didn't stop until they had led the ball game.

Bears Sink Two

After Ursinus had battled back to even terms, Widholm gave the Bears a four-point lead going into the second half. The Garnet was replaced by Bahney. When Bahney came into the fray, the score was 47-27. The Garnet making a strong bid for the lead, and the Bears in the process of a decisive long shots by Bahney pro- voked the Ursinus attack and the Bears took control of the ball game.
