May Day Activities To Be Featured by Crowning of Queen

This Saturday will see the presentation of another of Ursinus's annual May Pages. This year's selection will be "The Man Who Came to Dinner," written by Philip Barry and directed by Ruth Broede, in the Thompson-Gayman gymnasium, at 3:00 p.m. MILDRED WILSON

GALA JUNIOR DANCE MARKS RETURN OF THE PROMENADE

The musical strains of Nick Man cino's orchestra and the blue-lighted ceiling combined to create a dreamy atmosphere in the Thompson-Gayman gymnasium for the annual Junior Promenade.

One of the highlights of the evening was the selection "In the Moonlight," from "Roberta," by Blue-eyed Sue Belles, which was chosen as the outstanding personality. A new plan instituted was the naming of the queen's selection of groups of girls from the class of '48. Chosen were Mary Carter, Mary Murray, Betsy Greaves, Anita Mann, and Anit Mottier. Members of pre-war days were brought back with the names of "the best," and the top 425 couples, led by Mr. and Mrs. Schell-Cole, checked by Miss Mrs. G. S. Parrochet, participated. This was a custom at Ursinus several years ago but has been discontinued for the past few years.

Cancer Authority To Address Pre-Medical Society Tomorrow

Dr. G. R. Kofr, President of the Pennsylvania State College of Pharmacy, will address the pre-medical society Wednesday evening. The meeting will be in the auditorium of Paul Hall.

Metamorphosis

With the advent of another editorial regime, it is only proper that the newly-constituted organization should issue a prospectus concerning its aims and ambitions. Our program has been largely influenced by suggestions and comments offered by members of the new staff and by various students who felt that certain innovations would enhance the status of the paper. A number of suggestions were adopted by the newsprint shortage for the effecting of any outstanding changes in the present format until next year, when the prospectus should be ready. In the meantime, we shall be glad to receive any ideas or advice that may be well-reasoned. We only ask that the current program be continued. We are, of course, very glad to hear from any student who wishes to be employed exclusively for the pursuit of writing, editing, or any other activity that he deems important to the Daily's welfare.

Inevitably, we're going to make mistakes; whether our projects reach fruition or not, we shall not hesitate to utilize this method in order to learn from our errors. Indeed, the general depravity of the concert-going public is woe to the musical director of any university, whether grossly commercial or artistically sound. Although, as the January 30 editorial stated, "It is all well and good to speak of peace for it is another word in the dictionary. We never had peace, war, and peace are but thin veils of a period in history. Do we know what we seek in trying to find peace, and what it is?"

It is true that peace as we look at it means the destruction of war, peace is not merely the absence of hostilities. It does involve, surely, more than a mere cease-fire; it means in every way and in every sphere the complete absence of war. That is the position of the world. It was never meant to be a perfect place in which to live, or it would have been created for us. We should then not even dare to dream of a world of peace. We may still argue that peace can be attained; a lasting peace that will find all nations brother. The real world has repeated itself. Will it again?"

C. Schwantes Speaks On Problems of Life At Religious Program

Students of all denominations joined in a union service Wednesday evening in Bomberger chapel at which time Mr. Charles Schwantes was the guest speaker. Mr. Schwantes is director of student work of the Evangelical and Reformed Church.

The program, conducted by two student leaders, Calvin Garber '47, and Carolyn Howells '48, was open with a welcoming address by Garber. Following a hymn, Rev. Charles Wallack, college chaplain, read the Scripture and prayer. Marion Bell '47, accompanied by Ada Thorne '48, sang "Inward and Outward Is the Forest Prayer." Mr. Schwantes was introduced by Carolyn Howells. He emphasized the fact that in our generation very few people actually know where they are headed. It is by rules that such situations are brought to a head. Today we are often unable to recognize principles of right and wrong. But the answers to our problems can be found by a study of the Bible.

Following the program there was an informal meeting in the girls' Day Study.
