GAFF from the GRIZZLY

Some folks think that blushing is a sign of weakness, but to a true Grizzly it is a sign of strength. Rather than labelling these Grizzlies as co-eds reddened in masse at the first signs of thunder and lightning, we'd like to cover up that they had skipped a week's classes and the "Campus Song." There are three verses, given below:

Tara Rentner enjoying her dancing lesson, but not any more than her dance with "Carl" in the dining hall. "The eyes have it," but all depends how you spell that word. "Aunt Sally" in her fashion show came from those who pulled their quarter, but the "eyes" of the crowd loved them to the very end. They were enjoying their work. They didn't have a quarter, either.

Dr. Heileman's new addition making her presence felt all over campus. "Bob, you push the right button. E.J. can work it, but Bob, just keep an eye on the box."

Quiet rowed up for the second week of the season, the A-Sigma Rho dinner dance being sponsored by the Wally and Shirley, Beta Lou and Rhine- baum, Donald Lenkin, Major Logan, Joe Jones and Marge Selts, Chad and Joan Erb, Robert Young and Dick Reich and Whick and Dick of Phi Delta.

"Coachie's" Reds would never get if class if her dad let her keep the family business.

Don't forget the Bobo dance on Friday in the gym. The price is one quarter and a swell time is in store for all.

And last, but not least, congratulations to Art Barker and Dottie Holle on their marriage.

With the campus brother dorms Cousin and Brookfield closed in deadline for the lead in the second and half of the South softball loop, the meeting of these two teams tonight should prove most interesting. A victory over Curtis last week puts the Bob's in the saddle.

The Crossroads of the Campus

Collegeville, Pa.
Maurice W. Bahney, Jr. has had two articles published in American Historical Review, one on the Ordination in Canada, the other on the early re-opened American University in Jerusalem. He was a student of the Foreign Study Center at the University of Maryland.

The Foreign Study Center at the University of Maryland, established to serve the educational needs of American graduate students studying in Paris and Zurich, has been announced by the University of Maryland. The new program, which will lead to a degree of Master of Foreign Affairs, is open to students registered in the University of Maryland for this September.

The program provides for excellent offerings in the field of international politics and diplomacy, and may be worked out in its relations to specific fields.

The program is similar to that of other Foreign Study Centers to serve the needs of foreign students registered in this country in order to provide for advanced study, research and exploration is the function of the Bell Telephone Laboratories. Important research organizations, have come to the communications system of tomorrow.

The Foreign Study Center at the University of Maryland, College Park, Maryland, may be addressed for further information.

Blazing Trails in Communications

To continue to provide the world's fastest telephone service is the objective of the Bell System.

It takes the combined efforts of scientists, manufacturers, and associated operating companies...such as The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania, to provide the world's fastest telephone service.

Continuous research and exploration is the function of the Bell Telephone Laboratories. These laboratories, one of the world's greatest research organizations, have come to a point where they can provide significant advances in telephone, cable, and line communications.

One example of this is the development of toll dialing, a technique that will be used for the first time in the U.S. during the summer of 1947.

For the tomorrow after tomorrow, still more amazing equipment...some of it already in the blueprint stage.

Behind each of these developments lie the skill and imagination of many college men and women. More than ever, the communication system of tomorrow depends on the college classroom of today.
