Representatives Attend Intercollegiate Meeting Held as Model Congress

Five Ursinus students, with Miss Eva Conlin Chosen to Serve as Chairwoman, attended this year’s Intercollegiate Conference on Government, held at Harrisburg, from March 29 to March 31. Kitty Schoeppe, ‘47, and Betsy Loomis, ‘48, were members of the conference’s executive committee; Mrs. Pancoast, ‘49, the conference’s faculty advisor; and Mr. Brownlow, ‘46, the conference’s faculty advisor.

The conference, which this year was called the Pennsylvania State Model Congress, included delegations of members from all the four-year state universities of Pennsylvania— with the University of Pennsylvania, the Pennsylvania State College, and the Pennsylvania State College of Education, as well as the Pennsylvania State College of Technology. The conference met to discuss ways and means of strengthening American education, and several other topics.

The purpose of the conference is to provide a means of giving undergraduates an opportunity to work together on how their government operates.

A number of concerts, including a concert by the Ursinus College choir, were held.

The assembly, which met to review the conference, began with a panel discussion of the conference's most important decisions. The panel consisted of representatives of the various countries represented. A formal vote on proposals was then taken, and the results were announced. The conference adjourned at 1 p.m. on Saturday, May 25.

Dick Duden’s Home Run Clinches Victory For Annapolis as Bears Open Season

Ursinus Alumnae Lose League Championship To Ford-Kendig, 50-48

The Philadelphia Suburban Girlls Basketball League Championship was determined on Thursday night when Ford-Kendig defeated the Ursinus Bears, 50-48. This was the second game in the play-off, the first ended in a 35-35 deadlock. Buzzy Harn, Ford-Kendig’s star, led the scoring for the alumnae with 9 field goals and 5 penalty counts. Ursinus’ Haiti position on this year’s girls’ varsity basketball team has been determined. Dick Duden was determined to show his strength to the Navy hall club to victory. His home run was a tremendous blow. Dick Bicksch, centerfielder, was running full tilt from the crack of the bat but the ball still cleared his head by a good six or eight feet. By the time Dick had recovered the ball Duden had scored.

‘Ursinus Before 1870 and After’ Reviewed

At English Club Meeting by Dr. Yost

by Betsy Shumaker ’46

Setting aside book reports for a while, English club members last Monday evening were privileged to hear Dr. Calvin Yuast read them a paper he had entitled ‘Ursinus Before 1870 and After.’

Originally written by Dr. Yuast as a means of connecting early college history with his own field, the paper has nonetheless enjoyed great popularity and has been presented before several groups, each with equal enjoyment.

Starting some years before the founding of Ursinus, Dr. Yuast discussed the issues that caused the break in the group at Lancaster, which led eventually to the establishment of Thomas Easter Memorial as an Institute of Learning of “for the purpose of imparting instruction in Science, Literature, the Liberal Arts and Learned Professions.” He spoke of the town to be found here at that time—town consisting of very few houses, Freeeland Seminary, college property was purchased by the town to be found here at that time—town consisting of very few houses, Freeeland Seminary, college property was purchased by the presidency of Rev. J. H. A. Bomberger, who had been the guiding light in its founding, it gradually caught hold and eventually became a successful and thriving institution in the early years of its organization.

Especially interesting to the present day student of Ursinus is the chronicle of the liberal arts and science in the early years of its organization. The rigorous schedule of duties was something to strike terror at the heart of the student who today thinks he is rushed if he slides at 4:30 p.m. for a 5:00 breakfast. The schedule then consisted of rising at 5:00 a.m., some- times a bit unwillingly, attending religious services twice a day spending the entire morning and part of the afternoon in classes, eating meals at 6:00 a.m., 12 noon, and 4:30 p.m. and retarding promptly at 4:00 p.m. The courses were something to delight the heart of a genius and few others.

Dr. Bomberger, in addition to being President, taught also “Moral and Mental Philosophy and Evidence of Christianity.” Other courses offered included Theology, Latin, Greek, Natural Philosophy and Greek Testament. As the school progressed, it was inevitable that social groups should be organized. These groups took the forms of many societies, Schaff and Zwinglei. The members of these groups debated and spoke, any time a bit unwillingly, attending religious services twice a day spending the entire morning and part of the afternoon in classes, eating meals at 6:00 a.m., 12 noon, and 4:30 p.m. and retarding promptly at 4:00 p.m. The courses were something to delight the heart of a genius and few others.
