A Hunter Hunted.

An old gentleman was receiving one of the young men of the village at the door of his house. He had a lotion of linseed meal in his pocket, a slight basket of flowers on the ledge of his window, and a loaf of bread in his hand. The young people were assembled around him, all waiting to be introduced to the old man.

"I have a message for you," said the old man, taking the lotion from his pocket. "It is a secret, and I will not reveal it to anyone but you." The young people stood around him, eager to hear what he had to say.

"I have a secret," continued the old man, "and I will not reveal it to anyone but you." The young people stood around him, eager to hear what he had to say.

STEAM - HEATING -!

The superiority of Steam is comparison with the older systems of heating cannot be question-ted, for twice as much heat can be obtained from the same amount of gas. It can be used for any purpose, as there is no difference in the results, or in the cost. The efficiency of a steam heating system is increased by the fact that the common fuel, in every house, is used for heating purposes, and the steam is prepared in a manner that is both safe and economical. The steam heating system is also advantageous as it is easy to regulate and control.
