Swarthmore Tames Bears' Eleven, 12-0, In Curtain Raiser

Navy-studded Clubs Clash: Garnet Scares Sensational

Pete Stevens' Bears opened the local gridiron season by slumming it out at Swarthmore, but although they lost, some found, for they didn't walk off the field with their pride hog-tied.

The Little Quakers chose the proper time to draw some touchdowns. Midway in the first quarter, they transferred from Lafayette, flipped a long pass to Garnet Capt. Mocher, who ran right over safety quarterback after he scored. Then just after the first quarter started, Jimmy Richardson, of Grove college fame, came back from a tackle and ramped 47 yards behind a screen of the Bears for the second Swarthmore touchdown.

But for the second time following, Captain Dean Steward lost the trio and Bill Shope kicked off to the Swarthmore 39, the Bears first down before being forced to kick again. Steward, who was, by the way, verse around left end for 9 yards, then dropped on the Swarthmore 12, Miss Prouts of 42 3-11. Swarthmore fumbled, Steward tried to knock-tack two Bears after the ball, but the Bears took over at midfield. Shorty after that, Steward again came through and dropped a Bears halfback.

Kienbacher deflected the Bears' attempt at a field goal and the Bears remained 20 yards to go. Then the Swarthmore fumble placement was short.

Bears Stopped On Garnet 25

Steward almost got loose on the Bears' three second down play, but in "front of the goal" got him on Ursinus 45 the Bears fourth down play, right in the middle of 25. That gave Bill Shope the ball on his 33, but Dick Russell booted it to the goal line, where Crabtree took the ball on the 8, and he ran it over. Neither club came close to threat again.

Library Receives 2000 New Books

Many Individuals Present to Collections

New books have now been presented to the college library by many individuals and organizations. Constituting a large part of these accessions were over one hundred volumes of reference, local history, etc., five hundred rolls of photographs, fiction, history, biography, all from the personal gift given by William A. Grubb, of Newtown, Pa., to Swarthmore College. A house in which Grubb's grandfather was born entered last week.

Second Round William Defeated by Lincoln

Steward's offer to score was a short pass from Scull to Steward's goal line after the Bears had scored a touchdown in the first quarter. Miss Steward's pass was broken up by linemen, and the Bears had to be content with a touchdown.

COEDS ARE RETURNING FOR AUTUMN SPORT PROGRAMS

About twenty girls, including two members of the chapel choir, declared that they would return to the college's outdoor education program for the fall semester, in order to get in touch with the nature of the college.

The program, which is the largest of its kind, has a three-week period during which the girls are given tours of the campus, and are instructed in the care of the land. They also learn to use the equipment in the program, and are taught how to care for the animals.

REVEILLE SPECIAL
Dear Mom,
I'm sorry I haven't written soon, or even told you how busy I am. I've just been so busy this week I really keep a fellow on the run, even if it's one with only four legs to do it to.

You may consider yourself the mother of a star stag. I have another letter to write, but I assure you that this one is in the part in the play, "Arse and Old Cap." That's the title of the part I am to play in November. I play the part of the hunchback, and as you can imagine, it was just as mad as it should. You ought to have seen the way I strutted in there. I felt like a star stag.

I'm afraid I won't be able to make the team this year. We already have a star stag in the house, and I really have a hard time competing with him. The Chief also informed me that he does his mother a great service in this department, so maybe I'll have to make for the deer hunting season.

All the best,

COMMITTEE REPORT

We lost a football game.

What?

No, the game was not lost. The team lost. The team lost the game.

This is technically known as raising our spirits, although, in the case of Unnamed Team (Unnamed Team's game), I don't think we're going to be able to raise them up.

As a result of this defeat, we are once again at the bottom of the East Coast football league. Our worst record in the history of our school, and we have to endure it. This is a great blow to our morale.

We have already begun to work on the second game of the season. We will do our best to win and bring back some pride to the school.

FOR VICTORY

The United Nations

The United Nations is a series of conferences and international organizations that were established to promote international cooperation and peace. It is headquartered in New York City and has its main organs: the General Assembly, the Security Council, the International Court of Justice, the Secretariat, and the United Nations Secretariat.

The United Nations was established in 1945 after World War II as a replacement for the League of Nations and as a mechanism to prevent future wars. It was created by the United Nations Charter, which was signed by 51 countries in San Francisco on June 26, 1945. The United Nations has played a significant role in international affairs, contributing to the peaceful resolution of conflicts, the promotion of human rights, and the advancement of sustainable development.

The United Nations has 193 member states, and its activities cover a wide range of areas, including peace and security, human rights, economic and social development, environmental protection, and international law.

The UN has several main bodies, including the General Assembly, which is the main deliberative, representative, and decision-making body of the United Nations; the Security Council, which has primary responsibility for the maintenance of international peace and security; and the International Court of Justice, which is the principal judicial organ of the United Nations.

The United Nations also has several specialized agencies, such as the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF), the World Health Organization (WHO), and the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP), which work to address specific global challenges.

The United Nations has been involved in numerous peacekeeping missions and has played a crucial role in the resolution of conflicts in various parts of the world, including the Middle East, Africa, and the Balkans.

The United Nations has also been a key player in promoting climate action, human rights, and sustainable development, and has been at the forefront of efforts to address the challenges of the 21st century.

The United Nations is an important institution in the global system, and its role and impact will continue to evolve in the years to come.
