THE CONQUEROR,

"Such a wedding! No bridesmaids, no breakfast, no reception; I declare I should not feel as if I had been married!" exclaimed Marion Willoughby, throwing herself down on the divan in her elegantly appointed drawing-room, and drawing off the exquisitely tinted gloves that served as a finish to the exquisite Parisian toilet. There was only one other occupant of the room, a man, tall and handsome, standing with one hand resting on the back of her chair. She did not glance up as

"Was love wanting?" "I think not. I believe she loves him to an almost absurd extent. They are to go housekeeping in a small flat in cheap locality up town, where he must be away from early morning till quite six o'clock. He occupies some salaried position, clerk in a bank, I believe-and she might have married

"Honest labor degradas no man, Marion," was the firm, quick answer. "Even a clerkship is not always found, and I would rather break stones in the street than live on money dishonestly acquired or doled out of charity though in such a case I should ask no woman to share my lot."

"This looks like breaking stones, does it not, Chester?" she laughingly answered, letting her own jewelled fingers close over the man's hand the letter closed. whose shape betokened its aristocracy,

"A horrid supposition! No, I don't care to imagine you poor." But he continued,—

"Suppose I lost everything and had a position offered me which would enable me to live humbly—very much as your friend is going to live-what would you do ?"

"You are only talking to try me, Chester, and I hate such questions. In the first place, it is entirely out of reason; for even were it so, papa, you know, is very rich, and our home could always be with him."

In point of made by the silver men, that it is only geographical distribution it represents | the moneyed men of the country who are demanding the passage of the Vorhees bill. The convention certainly had no effect upon the silver Senators, because they knew long ago that as a rule the Boards of Trade of the himself that he will not be required to country were strongly anti-silver, so that the expense-somebody had to put up the cash for railroad fare and hotel bills—of bringing these men to Washington was worse than wasted, so far as the Senate is concerned.

There are men in the Senate who make use of all the tricks of oratory to add effect to the points made in their speeches, but Senator Teller, of Colorado, is not one of them. YELLOW FEVER SPREADING.

Washington, September 17.—The yellow fever situation at Brunswick, Georgia, is alarming. Late to-night Surgeon General Wyman received a telegram from Dr. Guiteras saying that telegram was received from Passed Assistant Surgeon Geddings, stating that the disease was epidemic and that he would put Fayet in charge of the City Hospital with a corps of nurses. He recommended the immediate establishment of a sanitary cordon to make the camp of utility and prevent the return of fresh material.

CHICAGO, Sept, 19.—A terrible railroad accident occurred last night on crashed into the first. It is said that

The beginning of the third week in of Mr. Cleveland's answer may be September brings many hopeful signs judged from the laughing remarks of of business recovery. Money has come one of the Senators who called on out of its hiding places and circulates him-"I'll bet that Cleveland railed at once more, if not as freely as in the Providence for having sent him a girl | best of times, at least in sufficient quantity to serve the immediate needs of In the House the excitement is trade. These unmistakable signs of business improvement would mark the opening of as good a fall and winter trade as we of production has served to work off surplus products in many lines, and, were the financial uncertainty once removed, the conditions are ripe to set every industrial wheel in motion and make every factory and mercantile house in the land a hive of busy in-

What a travesty upon statesmanship the wearisome and worse than useless debate in the Senate upon the silver repeal bill presents. Not a new ray of light has been thrown upon the subject. light has been thrown upon the subject during the past two weeks. The reasons for repeal are to be read in the general condition of uncertainty, which prevents a complete resumption of business activity. The real argument against repeal can be summed up in the reluctance of a few millionaire silver producers to relinquish the United States Treasury as the chief market for their single product.

How much longer will the majority of the members of the United States Senate cater to the greed of the few silver producers at the expense of the business prosperity of the whole country? This is a question that every farmer, merchant, manufacturer and laboring man in the country should be asking of their respective Senators. Clothing for the backs and food for the stomachs of all in a land teeming with plenty of both are held in suspense while a few silver mine owners, or attorneys, waste days and weeks in dreary debate. How much longer is the travesty upon statesmanship to continue?

THE NATIONAL WEAKNESS.

One trouble with this country is that it pays too much attention to the doings of the stock market and not enough attention to the enterprise and just had a little controversy with achievements of legitimate business Store Goods

> Dr. Nevins tells a very touching story in his "Disorders of the Brain." A patient of his, a young lady engaged to be married, was often visited by her intended husband by the stage coach, which passed within a mile or two of her house. One day she went to meet him and found instead an old friend, who brought the news of his sudden death. She uttered a frightful scream, "He is dead!" and then all consciousness of her misfortune ceased. "Day by day for 50 years did this poor creature in all seasons journey to the spot where she expected to see her over alight from the coach, and day by day she uttered in a plaintive tone: "He is not yet come. I will return tomorrow." Could anything be sadder than this romance from a doctor's notebook?

ADVICE TO WHEAT-GROWERS. The Ohio Farmer gives the following advice to wheat-growers: "We have confidence in the future of wheat prices. That cereal is not only a necessary and most important part of human food, but an essential factor in the rotation of most farmers in Ohio and neighboring States in the Winterwheat belt. We advise them to hold right on raising about the ordinary such cash crops and products as have not as vet suffered the baleful effects of "gambling in futures," such, for example as potatoes, fruits, poultry, eggs, and the fine dairy products. Our cities are prosperous, and they are hungry for real luxuries at a high price, and will also pay a fair price for the staples like wheat, except when the grain gamblers conspire with abnormally large successive "price-destroving wheat crops" to force prices below the true level of relative supply a. m., 12.56, 4.11, p. m. Sundays, 6.36, a. m., and demand. No, do not rush out of 4.20, p. m. wheat and into pork or something else now high. By the time you get there way, raising the crops and products that are on the whole best adapted to your soil, climate, markets and taxes. Particularly do the farmers in Ohio need to be cautioned against undue despondency as to wheat prices and against pushing the crop of 1893 too rapidly upon a market now slow. They need this caution because our Ohio > they seem to us and we shall act upon them personally. DO NOT THRESH EARLY. The haste to thresh out grain as soon as possible after it has been got into barn or stack is hard to account for, except from the fact that peram-Is continually growing in popular favor. It is because numerous attractions please the people. That's why. bulating threshing machine owners are numerous and each anxious to secure as many good jobs as he can. Occasionally some earlier grain is got into a barn and it is desirable to clear it out and make room for what is gathered later. Even in such case it is better to put the second cutting into a well-made stack and have it sweat itself dry, as grain needs to do in order to keep well. Too early threshing fills grain bins with damp grain, which will Oakview Park, Norristown, Pa. heat and be injured unless carefully Parties desiring dates can secure the same managed. All this extra expense may by calling at this office. be saved by leaving grain in the chaff covering that nature has provided. There will be some heating of grain in the bundle, but however damp the straw, the chaff about the head will save the grain from any serious injury.

There is nothing in the present condition of any grain market to cause farmers to be in extra haste to thresh and market either rye, wheat or oats. Prices of all are low, and are more likely to advance than to decline. While the grain and straw are only partly dried threshing costs more labor in handling and more power in the thresher. When steam engines Lehigh and Schuylkill are used the work will drag, as it is not possible to put grain through fast and get all the grain out of the head. The coal bill will be larger, and it will be harder to get extra help needed to thresh than it will a few weeks later in the season. By that time the sweating of grain on the mow will be over, and the grain can be separated from its chaff easily and cheaply. It can then be placed in the bin without danger from heating. Those who can just as well wait until November or December before threshing will find that the job costs them less and that their grain will be in much better condition. American Cultivator.

> HOW GOOD COWS ARE RUINED. Many good cows are practically ruined by being kept apart from the herd. Their isolation is due usually to a whim to make a pet of an individual cow. Women and children are mainly responsible for this form of foolishness which should never be indulged by the careful dairyman. Cattle are in their way exceedingly social creatures, and absence from their associates affect them unfavorably. They are nervous and uneasy when separated from them, and in the case of cows lose flesh and fall off in milk. Sometimes it causes them to abort, but this rarely happens, enough mischief being accomplished without. Foolish men sometimes tie a cow up to punish her, with the result that the fool is punished in the lessened yield caused by the separation from the herd .- American Dairyman.

The mammoth cheese made by the Canadian dairymen for the World's Fair has been purchased by a speculator. It is the largest cheese ever made, weighing 13½ tons.

Cause for Happiness. One of Albany, N. Y., Best Known Citizens Speak in Words of Praise.

Have you, reader, ever suffered from any urinary trouble, Kidney Complaint, or Stone in the Bladder, or Kidneys? If not you never need to as nature has caused the sign of pain in the back, highly colored, or thick Urine, oftimes leaving a sediment after standing, to warn you of the approaching danger and if you will use Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy at once you will destroy these symptoms and restore yourself to a sound healthy being. Mr. Robert A. Male, of Albany, N. Y., speaks of how he suffered with Stone in the Bladder, for ten years, and submitted to the operation by his physician of crushing and removing the stone, which soon reushing and removing the stone, which soon reappeared, as they always will when removed that way. His attention was finally called to Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, which he used, and it dissolved the formation of the new stone and entirely healed and cured him and he has been reconverged of the trouble since. This had no reappearance of the trouble since. Thi is but one of the thousands of cases where Fav orite Remedy has cured and saved the patient.

STEAM -- HEATING

The Superiority of STEAM in comparison with the OLD METHODS OF HEATING cannot be questioned, for twice as much heat can be obtained from the same amount of fuel than can be had from the old way of stove heating. Then another very important consideration is that all the dust and dirt, incident to burning coal, can be confined to a portion of the cellar instead of floating about all the rooms in the house. Steam Heating has come to stay. Do you wish to secure its advantages?

If you do, you are heading directly towards our line of business, and we want your order. We can supply you with just what you want, guarantee you satisfaction, and give you full worth of your money. We have placed a number of Steam Heaters and in every instance our work has proved satisfactory. Call on or address
