Miss Lirripip's lovers.

Miss Lirripip had a partly feline and partly human aspect. Pretty from no one knows where, and entirely out of her element in the fat, idle, and bookish atmosphere of a university town. Yet, strange to say, there were at least a hundred and fifty admirers. For Miss Lirripip was itself a beautiful object, and the mystique of its own attraction had been so long and so deeply implanted in the popular mind that any creature formed in its image was bound to be considered beautiful.

Lydia, therefore, was not at all surprised when, late one evening, she received a visit from a young and handsome gentleman. This gentleman was none other than Mr. Murley.

"Miss Lirripip, I have been thinking a good deal about you lately," said Mr. Murley. "I have come to ask you to be my wife."

Miss Lirripip was taken aback. She had never given any thought to marriage, and she was not at all certain that she wanted to. But Mr. Murley was determined, and he would not be put off. He made a great many promises, and he told Miss Lirripip that he would love her forever.

"But what about my studies?" asked Miss Lirripip.

"Oh, that's nothing," said Mr. Murley. "I'll take care of your studies. I'll get you a tutor, and I'll see that you learn everything you need to know."

Miss Lirripip was not entirely convinced, but she was flattered by Mr. Murley's attention, and she decided to accept his proposal. They were married a few weeks later, and Miss Lirripip soon found that she was giving pleasure to the people around her. She was a good wife, and she was happy in her new life.

Ripans Tabulets

For 60 days only.

Ripans Tabulets are the most efficient and thoroughly tested grocers' medicine, especially adapted to the needs of the times. It was prescribed by the late great Dr. Ripley, and is now manufactured by his family for the undertakers and grocers of the country. The manufacturer states that they are not intended to be given for the cure of the ordinary diseases of the digestive organs, but that they are to be given only in cases of extreme debility, and where the patient is in a critical state. The fact that they are so prescribed by such a distinguished physician is a strong recommendation for their use.

These tablets are made up in the shape of pills. They are about the size of a half-dollar. They are made of a mixture of white flour, sugar, and meat, and are covered with a thin coating of egg-white. They are very delicate and will not keep long. They should be kept in a cool place.

STEAM -- HEATING!

The Superiority of Steam in comparison with the old method of heating, is now questioned, for twice as much heat can be obtained from the same amount of fuel than can be had from the old way of steam heating. Then another very important consideration is that the heat and steam, instead of heating coal, can be converted into a portion of the water instead of heating all the moisture in the room. Steam Heating has come to stay. Do you wish to own your heating apparatus?
