Anita Hess To Be Crowned Queen In Gay 'Land of Oz' Pageant Saturday

Fantasy Features May Dance; Betty Bradway To Play Dorothy

MAY QUEEN

Anita Hess '44, who has been chosen May Queen by the women of Ursinus, will reign as Queen Emeraldalda in the May pageant on Parent's day, May 20, at 3 p. m. in front of the library.

Dainty, sweet Anita, a May Queen's attendant since her freshman year, is a Modern Language major and a member of the German club. On the social side, she is vice president of the Sigma Nu sorority and her main passion is golf. Anita has always been deeply interested in affairs at Ursinus. Friends rate her a lot of fun.

Setting a background for Anita, The Land of Oz, the pageant based on the childhood favorite, the Wizard of Oz, will be presented directly in front of the library. As the scene opens, Betty Bradway '45, as Dorothy, discovers herself in the Land of Oz after falling asleep. The villagers enter with their Mayor, Virginia Charles '46, and his wife, Katherine Harmer '46, and tell Dorothy that the Wicked Witch, Elaine Loughin '46, has changed their Queen Emeraldalda into a pine tree. The villagers dance the Maypole dance.

Scarecrow and Blackbird Fight

The Tin Woodsman, Winifred Clark '46, enters, hears about the Queen and pledges his help. Scarecrow Lois Wilson '47, hears Dorothy's story, dances to cheer her up, and incidentally has a fight with Blackbird Mildred Wilson '46. When Tick Tock, Mildred Halbruegge '44, and Pumpkinhead, Shirley Klein '45, enter, Pumpkinhead is showing Tick Tock how to walk straight. Finally the Witch is summoned and captured with her own Magic Lamp. Her enchantment broken, Queen Emeraldalda appears and is crowned by Dorothy and welcomed by the Mayor. After the procession departs, Dorothy returns to her rocking chair, falls asleep, and upon waking, finds herself on Earth once more.

All Coeds Vote "Yes" To New WSGA Setup

by Betty Kirilin '44

At a mass meeting of women students Thursday, May 11, the new constitution of the Women's Student Government association was presented and accepted by a unanimous vote. The last revision of the constitution was accepted May 18, 1923, and the original organization has been changed only slightly by amendments since that time.

Although this form of government based on a system used in 1920 was considered rather antiquated and inadequate, some of the rules of that time, though humorous, are interesting to note.

Back in those good old days it was a privilege granted by the Student council that Senior young women be permitted to walk, unchaperoned, with escorts on Sunday afternoon from 2 to 4 p. m. In those days Freshman women have no chance to forget their lowly position for they were required to arise at 6:30 a. m. every day to close the upperclassmen's windows, and make their beds before noon. It was in those good old days, too, that Ursinus had an Honor System, on the campus and in the classroom, and girls reported themselves for violations of rules. Lights were out by 10:30 p. m., and offenders were required to remove their light bulbs, label them, and turn them over to their preceptress after supper.

"Campus cutters" were fined, instead of "appealed to", and East Campus was held more sacred than it now is held. In order to go skating, women students had to be accompanied by a young man. It is not known whether or not the young man was furnished by the 1920 Student council.

Lerner Stresses Internationalism

Famous Lecturer Gives Forum His Ideas for a Permanent Peace

"The only chance of survival for America is to join with other nations in international expression," asserted Professor Max Lerner before the Forum last Wednesday evening in Bomberger.

Speaking straight from the shoulder concerning post-war planning to an attentive audience of students and townspeople this well known lecturer, journalist, and author said, "There can be no peace without force in the World we know. After the first World War, we tried justice without force. This led to a vacuum. The German plan of force without justice is unsuccessful. The third plan, justice and force together, is a new conception. It has never been tried with all the people of the world behind it."

Lerner declared that the instrument for world cooperation is ready at hand in the United Nations. He feels that since it is the machinery in war, it would be practical machinery for peace.

All Nations Must participate

According to the lecturer's viewpoints on Where Do We Go From War, the second condition for World Peace is the participation of all nations regardless of varying social, economic, or political systems. Any division among the nations will allow the Fascists of the future to arise. "A divided world is what these leaders want," emphasized the speaker.

"We must make international wisdom general, not conditional," stressed Lerner. He described "conditional internationalism" as the desire for America in an "international organization on the condition that we don't lose any national sovereignty. If America won't cooperate with the international organization," the speaker pointed out, "she will jeopardize the international sense of peace."

Terms for Peace

Lerner wants immediate, practical terms for lasting world peace. He feels that eventually there will arise a genuine world community, but the World can't wait that long. Democracy may be destroyed in a succession of catastrophic wars each more lethal. The real question before all of us is how to have a peace that will work and that will make this war the last war.

FRESHMEN CANDIDATES GIVE DEBATE FOR CLUB MEETING

Three of the five freshmen candidates for membership in the Women's Debating club, Jane Brusch '47, Betty Ruskie '47, and Erma Keyes '47, presented a debate on the national debating question last Monday evening at Shreiner hall. The other candidates are Charlene Taylor '47, and Alice Haas '47.

The Men's Debating club has announced it has completed its meetings for this term.

Junior Miss To Show Trials and Tribulations Of An Adolescent Girl

by Henry K. Haines V-12

This year Parents' day replaces the traditional Mothers' day at Ursinus and the Curtain club has been on the alert with its selection of an appropriate production for Saturday evening when all the parents will be on campus.

In the Jerome Chodorov and Joseph Fields play based on the Sally Benson stories of "Junior Miss" they have found the logical presentation. With women replacing men on so many fronts today we find here a Miss Judy Graves (Janet Shoemaker) replacing your old favorite (and your parents'), Henry Aldrich and Henry Peck. The theme of this delightful comedy is set forth in Fuffy Adams' (Adele Kuntz) statement, "Sometimes I wonder if parents are worth all we go through for them!"

In addition to Judy who, according to J. B. (David Brashear) is a "menace" and who, according to a sometimes somewhat blind daddy (Robert Quay) will "undoubtedly be the first woman president" and those named we'll remember many of our "stages" when seeing Mary Jean Moore as the sub-deb sister and Beverly Cloud as an oft-times-overwhelmed mother. James Fal-lows and Betty Umstad will provide the romance which you may take seriously while the girls and their "friends" provide romance comparable to that which you once took very seriously. The men in the lives of these young ladies are Ed Smith, Webb Morrison, James Preaskorn, Fritz Heimbach, O. D. Easterday, Roy Merdinger, Fred Deck, and Joel Reed.

Henriette Walker keeps things moving—and how! Milton Marion and Richard Johnson will appear when least expected.

It almost goes without saying that the tremendous job of directing this large cast is being done as well as ever (and that's well) by Mr. Donald L. Helfferich who is assisted by a sturdy and promising newcomer to that field—Joy Harter.

The miracle performed will be on the stage set. Using materials (Continued on page 4)

NOTICES!

Candidates for the officers of the major campus organizations, for which elections will be held throughout the college within the next two weeks, will be posted tomorrow by the nomination committee of the WSGA. Further nominations may be made by petition.

During the following week the class and dormitories will elect their officers.

On June 2, the Red Cross will return for blood donations. Student donors may not be under eighteen years, and those under twenty-one must obtain release slips signed by their parents. Donors may sign up at the War Stamp booth in the Supply store after lunch any day.

CO-EDITORS OF THE URSINUS WEEKLY

ADELE KUNTZ '45

Adele Kuntz and Joy Harter Become First Co-Editors of Ursinus Weekly

Jane Rathgeb '47, and Henry Haines V-12, Will Serve As Assistants; Jeanne Loomis To Handle Sports

Electing co-editors for the first time in the history of the paper, The Weekly Board of Control has named Adele Kuntz '45, and Joy Harter '45, to head the editorial staffs for the coming year. Miss Harter will have charge of the paper during the summer semester, and the two girls will work together next year. For the second consecutive year, the women carried the elections, for Jane Rathgeb '47, will continue to serve as an editorial assistant and Jeanne Loomis '47, will take over the duties of an assistant in sports.

Navy Ball to Include Banquet and Show

The Navy Ball is scheduled for June 3, and from early indications it promises to be the biggest social affair of the year. The committee has secured the services of Ken Keely and his band, who has recently been topping the billing at Sunnybrook.

Of special interest is the unusual pre-dance plan. The gala evening will commence at 6:30 o'clock when a banquet will be served in the upper dining room. Sparkling entertainment under the direction of Yeoman James Patterson will be one of the features of the evening.

Because of the limited space and the necessity for advising Mr. Walter Beltz, dietician, as to the number of couples planning to attend, the Women's Student council, under the direction of Betty Kirilin, will check girls' dormitories to obtain a list of the girls who are planning to bring an off-campus friend to the banquet. A survey of all Navy and civilian men will also be made.

Stewart Hebden in Charge

Arrangements for elaborate decorations are being concluded and the drab appearance of the Thompson-Gay gymnasium promises to disappear for the evening. Corsages are in order and will enhance the decorative scheme.

Preparations are in the hands of the dance committee under the chairmanship of Stewart Hebden. Roy Simpson and his committee are arranging the banquet and have a splendid menu in store.

The band has been engaged through the efforts of Ken Dougherty and decorations of a most novel nature are being planned by Dick Edwards, chairman of the decorations committee. Publicity is being handled by Joseph Jones and a staff of V-12 artists while Jules Pearlstine has been assisting wherever needed.

CLUB TO HEAR BOOK REVIEWS BY B. YEAGER AND B. COOKE

Betty Yeager '45, and Barbara Cooke '44, will review books at the English club meeting this evening at 9 o'clock at the home of President Norman E. McClure, sponsor of the club.

Betty Yeager will discuss Anne Lindbergh's The Steep Ascent, the introspective thinking of a woman on an airplane trip over her life as a whole. Shakespeare Without Tears, which Barbara Cooke will review is an appreciation of Shakespeare from the point of view of a director.

JOY HARTER '45

Henry Haines V-12, was named an editorial assistant, while Beverly Cloud '45, and Helen Hafeman '46, were elected to the feature staff.

Miss Kuntz, who is vice-president of the Women's Student Government association, has been managing editor of The Weekly for the past year. She will appear as Fuffy this weekend in the Curtain club's production of Junior Miss.

Miss Harter, who has been an editorial assistant of The Weekly, served as summer editor last year. She is a student director of Junior Miss.

Instead of naming a sports editor, the Board of Control chose Jeanne Loomis to have charge of girls' athletics with the idea of naming another sports assistant later.

Marjorie Coy '47, will continue her duties as business manager next year, and Jean Featherer '45, will remain at her post as circulation manager. A new circulation manager for the armed forces will be elected at the end of this semester to take over the work of Loraine Walton '44.

Carney Uses 'Courage' As Vespers Topic

Centering his message at Trinity last night in the topic, The Courage of the Commonplace, Fred Carney V-12, expressed his belief that to face life with firmness and to stand up for what is true requires a deep strong courage.

"The courage of the battlefield is largely emotional, but the courage of the commonplace is deeper in the mind," Carney reasoned.

The speaker used such people as Sir Walter Scott, Booker T. Washington and Florence Nightengale to illustrate the courage with which many people face the problem of life.

To overcome handicaps of blindness, deafness and dumbness such as Helen Keller did takes faith in something deeper than ourselves, he said.

In conclusion the speaker used Christ as the ideal personification of courage for he never failed to stand up for what he believed right. He strove to teach men what was the more abundant life.

The leader of the service was Richard Gross '47, while several selections were rendered by the girls' chorus which included Barbara Cooke '44, Doris Renner '47, Arlene Boltz '47, Delphine Thompson '47, Joy Harter '45, and Constance Johnson '45.

ROBERT MATHIEU, EX-'42, DIES AT PENN STATE UNIVERSITY

Family and friends learned early today of the death of Robert Mathieu, of Trappe, brother of Jeanne Mathieu '44.

Mathieu, who attended Ursinus his first year at college, transferred to Pennsylvania State college where he received his degree in 1942 in chemical engineering.

He was doing work in the petroleum laboratory and earning credits toward his Masters degree at State. Mathieu was engaged to Miss Dorothy Francis, a graduate of West Chester State Teachers college.

EDITORIAL

LIVING UP TO THE TIMES

Our Women's Student Government association presents for us an A-1 example of an organization living up to the times. With the leadership of an ambitious and intelligent president, that organization has made bigger and better strides this year than it has ever made. Being the leaders of any group can be an easy job if one chooses to continue in the same tracks that have been laid down for him. But it takes courage for a group to make a change—not because they want to be different—but because they think a change is needed.

THE LAST WORD

A year ago, the retiring Weekly editor handed over his duties to the first woman editor. This time, we are giving the controls to the first Weekly co-editors. However, The Weekly, although it has seen many changes in the past two years, is no different from any other organization. All of us are making adjustments.

No longer will the cry, "It has never been done before," satisfy us. We are willing to try it, because we must try it.

During the past year, The Weekly staff has made many adjustments in order just to keep going. Practically all of the staff members have had much less experience than the people who ordinarily filled their posts. Women have had to take over jobs which should be done by men. Particularly on the sports page has the lack of man-power been noticed.

A freshman advertising manager has taken over and done successfully a task which is usually performed by a senior. In spite of having no local advertising and very little national material, she has never failed to sell space in the paper.

A junior circulation manager stepped into a boy's job in the middle of a semester when he was suddenly called away.

A whole new circulation staff was formed to take care of sending the paper to former students in the armed forces. This job has been headed by a senior girl who had no experience on any staff, and since she has taken over her work has grown and her staff has grown with it.

We haven't been able to print all of the pictures we would like to print. Besides the difficulties involved in photography and engraving, we have had to face the problem of transportation in order to have our cuts made.

The two girls who are now becoming The Weekly editors know that theirs will be no easy task. However, they have worked faithfully in the past, and they will have the benefit of this experience in knowing what lies ahead of them.

With the confidence that they will do a good job and serve the students and the College faithfully, we wish the new editors good luck and all success.

THROUGH THE LIBRARY WINDOW

Last year, in one of our issues of the "Library Reporter," we mentioned that we had a surprise for you, the nature of which could not be divulged at that time. Although the room is not yet equipped, it is in prospect, at least, so we are proud to announce that one of these days you will have a sound - proof music room in the library.

About 225 recordings of classical and semi-classical music, a memorial collection which forms the nucleus to which additions will be made from time to time, have been given so far.

Sound-proof music rooms are becoming a commonplace thing in our larger public libraries, and in many of those under college and university auspices. Our music room, when ready for use, will operate in this fashion: several persons (or even one lone individual, if you can't find a kindred soul) may reserve the room for a half-hour or hour period. The number of persons will be limited by the amount of furniture—however, we hope that whole groups of students, faculty and townspeople will enjoy complete afternoon or evening concerts of recorded music, as time goes on. The group using the room will choose the recordings they wish to hear, the student assistant will procure the same and supply the group with whatever needle or needles are required, and then you will be left on your own to enjoy yourselves. Most music rooms find that reservations must be made well in advance, and we hope that ours will prove just as popular.

The collection on hand, while it contains examples of most types of vocal and instrumental music, is predominantly vocal, since it is a memorial to one who loved to sing. We expect too that the file of musical analyses will assist those serious persons who wish to listen to our recordings for purposes of real music appreciation. The library club, so often mentioned but never formed, may evolve as a Junior Friends of the Library group, interested in adding recordings to the collection in much the same manner as the Senior Friends of the Library add to our book stock. We should appreciate any reactions to this whole project, intended for your pleasure and recreation.

BIRD LIFE ABOUNDS ON COLLEGE CAMPUS

At last! It's Spring on the Ursinus campus! Can't you tell? Haven't you noticed that the butter at meals is soft? Of course, there are other minor clues that give away Spring's arrival, such as the green trees and grass, the people playing tennis, sunbathing, and swimming, the slacks and brilliant dresses, and the birds flitting around the trees.

Ah, yes! The birds! There is a new species this year, colorful above all others.

This species of birds is the Afternoon Coo Dovelet. The male of this seedy species is brilliantly attired in blue (no watch stripe). It is small, and presents a rather unique appearance. The female of the species, unlike all other birds, usually has a hank of hair around her neck.

This sort of animal life is occasionally troublesome to house-owners, for it sometimes gets under the rafters where it nests.

Two of these birds this season along with their nest have had to be removed.

Birds have more fun than anybody.

V-12 Jargon Proves Hardest Coed Course

As freshmen most of us were awed at the thought of English, German, French, Spanish, Latin, Greek and Anglo all being taught in the same school. Fancy, then, finding three years later that another jargon has been added for the perusal not only of language majors but everyone in general and the V-12 in particular.

All languages are useful; you use Latin when you visit Latin America, your French when you picnic at French creek, and your Greek when you guzzle a sundae at Norristown's La Moderne. This new lingo, however, is fascinating as well as useful.

Most of us can manage to struggle through the preliminaries such as "sack" for a plain, ordinary bed and "deck" for an unsuspecting floor. These are only elementary steps in the V-12 Jive. Complications arise after you pass from 1-2 into 3-4. Not only does your vocabulary increase, but the strange thing is there's no set accent. Each person has his own version of how it should be done. The amazing part is that no matter who the platoon leader is, all the men do the same thing—even though the last leader had a South Brodbeck brogue, and the one before him had an East Curtis slur. This remarkable capacity to understand all variations of accent either must be innate in V-12 students or must be the fruit of constant study.

Classes in V-12 Jive for Ursinus coeds are held every evening in front of Bomberger during retreat. A new progressive education plan is

A BETTER WORLD — AND HOW!

Every war creates a widespread state of mind — a feeling that with the defeat of the aggressive nations an unprecedented opportunity develops for curing the international ill which made such a war possible. This feeling prevailed after the last war and with the destruction of the Axis powers it will again fill zealous hearts to overflowing with hope for a new and better world.

There are a great many people who are distressed and appalled by the injustice and suffering that is in the world; people who are more or less profoundly convinced that the world can be shaped closer to the heart's desire; people who have more or less definite ideas of how it can be done. That is their virtue and a great virtue it is. Unfortunately, however, they are—but don't call them so—idealists, living too much in the ideal world of tomorrow. Therein lies their chief weakness. As some men look back to a Golden Age that never existed, they too often look forward to a Golden Age that cannot in fact be created.

Since this war and the last war are somehow associated with those complex forces which we denote by terms "nationalism," "sovereign state," "power politics," and "imperialism," so many people are saying that what we have to do to make a new and better world is to "abate nationalism, curb the sovereign state, abandon power politics, and end imperialism." However, this is impossible.

The principal object of the United Nations in this war is to destroy that particular manifestation of nationalism and the power of the sovereign state in whose name so many crimes have been committed. Yet, let us not forget that it is precisely this same sentiment of nationalism and the determination of men to defend at all costs the sovereign independence of the state that in this time of crisis has united so many nations in a common purpose, a common bond.

Russia, Great Britain, and the U. S. are using their political power to destroy Germany and Japan and this same political power will be the weapon for a durable peace. Why then should it be abandoned? Some people say that after the war is over imperialism must end, yet these same ones look to Russia, Great Britain, and U. S. for a policy of cooperation with China in establishing a durable peace in the Far East and throughout the world—a policy which will be essentially imperialistic.

These complex forces—"nationalism," "sovereign state," "power politics," and "imperialism"—are political realities of our time and must and will be a part of the new and better world.

What then are we fighting for? To maintain our status quo? No! We are fighting for a new and better world through some kind of international political and economic order. There is no question of whether to go back or not. The only question is what kind of collectivism do we want?

As Edmund Burke said, "Society is a contract between generations." We owe it to the dead, to the living, and to the unborn to at least try to prevent Mars from unleashing the thunderbolt that will drench the world in blood.

Cooperating with Spotlight, a national youth magazine, and American Youth for Democracy, The Weekly is sponsoring a student opinion poll on the 1944 elections. The poll, which opens today and continues throughout this week, is a part of a nation-wide survey. Ursinus' results will be tabulated and published in the next issue of The Weekly. The question, a crucial one, concerns your attitude toward the prospective candidates in the November Presidential election. Results on our comparison with other colleges will be published at a later date. Boxes for ballots will be placed outside of both upper and lower dining rooms and in the Supply store. ## Tinker Harmer Reaches Semi-Final Of Intercollegiate Tennis Tourney

Three Ursinus Players Reach Round of Eight at Bryn Mawr

Steady playing by Tinker Harmer aided her in reaching the semi-finals of the Middle States Intercollegiate Tennis tournament at Bryn Mawr while two other Ursinus co-eds, Betsy Claves and Annette Danenhower, reached the quarter-finals.

In the third round Tink easily defeated Charlotte Beven, Rosemont, in two sets 6-2, 6-0. Meeting Nancy Bierworth, Bryn Mawr, in the quarter-finals, Tink came out on top again after an up-hill match 3-6, 6-1, 6-2. She played a steady game and thus gained by winning a place in the semi-finals where she met top-seeded Gloria Evans. Tinker played beautiful tennis the entire tournament and gave Gloria Evans quite a scare when she took the first set from her 6-3. Winning that set was a victory in itself and even though Miss Evans took the next two sets 6-0, 6-0, Tinker still proved her tennis ability.

Betsy Claves played extremely good tennis when she met Mrs. David Acheson, Bryn Mawr, and defeated her 7-5, 7-5. She displayed her best ability as she played the tourney favorite Gloria Evans. Although she lost the match 6-3, 6-1, Betsy took the lead in the first set by a score of 2-0 and 3-1, but her opponents' well-placed drives soon put her out in front.

Freshman Annette Danenhower was the other Ursinus lass to reach the quarter-finals. Danny won by default from Patricia Kennedy, Rosemont, but lost to second seeded Peggy Meeker 6-0, 6-2.

Marion Bright, top Ursinus player, lost her third round match to Julia Turner, Bryn Mawr 7-5, 2-6, 6-3.

URSINUS PLACES FOURTH IN MIDDLE STATES MEET

The Ursinus track team participated in the Middle Atlantic A.A.U. track meet Saturday at Muhlenberg and took fourth place with 16 points.

Muhlenberg, defending champion, won the meet again with Swarthmore second and F. and M. third.

Dick Schellhase took third place in the century and second in the 220 to account for 7 points. Bill Shope placed second in the javelin and fourth in the shot for 6, and Bill Smith finished in a triple tie for runner-up honors in the high jump to account for the rest of the points.

Today the track team journeys to Swarthmore for a quadrangular meet with Swarthmore, P. M. C., and Haverford.

Girl Racquet-Wielders Trample Temple, 4-1

Defeating the Temple tennis team last Wednesday afternoon by a score of 4-1, the Ursinus girls are on their way for another successful season.

Marion Bright in first single's position played a thrilling match against her Temple opponent. The first set of 6-4 was a nip and tuck battle with every other point usually tying the score. Both girls had excellent form and sure placement. In the second set the Temple girl fought with everything she had and defeated Ursinus 6-1.

In second position Betsy Claves defeated her opponent by an extremely high score. Betsy had her usual long, hard forehand and her sure backhand. The scores of these sets were 6-1, 6-2.

Annette Danenhower, the freshman member of the team, won her match by sets of 6-1, 6-2. Danny presented a strong serve and driving forehand, making a strong combination.

Playing against Eleanor Morgan and Sandy Wilson, Tinker Harmer and Janet Shoemaker won in the first Ursinus doubles match 6-1, 6-2. Jan and Tinker both played well and their ability to place their shots in unexpected places helped them to defeat their Temple opponents easily.

In the second doubles game Peggy Hudson and Jeanne Mathieu also came out ahead 6-4, 6-1. Hard drives and good serves proved them to be too much of a match for Gertrude Evans and Peggy Gregory.

GIRLS' J.V. TEAM TROUNCES TEMPLE SOFTBALL TEN

The Ursinus J. V. team also walked away with honors last Tuesday when they defeated Temple by the overwhelming score of 20-8. Janie Brusch receives the pitching victory and with Margie Bizilia behind the plate the entire team really worked for the victory.

Freshman Jackie Landis shone as a true shortstop by making two beautiful catches which she converted into double plays. The first one was a fly ball which Jackie snagged out of the air with her non-glove hand and the second was a hard line drive.

Although there were a great many errors by both teams, the Ursinus squad shows the making of a fine team. Anne Baird captains the team which is composed almost entirely of freshmen.

Margie Bizilia, Lee Phillips and Jane Brusch show much hitting power as well as fielding ability. With more practice and experience the team will prove to be a first class team.

Coed Softball Team Overcomes Temple, 9-4

Last Tuesday the Ursinus girls' softball team added the Temple lasses to their list of victims when they defeated them 9-4. Erma Keyes was the hurler for the varsity and proved that she was worthy of the position. Not only has she a pitching arm, but she is also a capable hitter. Her two triples aided the victory quite a bit.

Miss Snell's belles started the scoring with two runs in the first inning, but Temple came back with two tallies to make the score tie. They scored again to take a three to two lead up until the fifth inning when the ten from Collegeville showed their batting power by scoring six runs. With a lead of 8 to 3 the game seemed to be in the bag for Ursinus. The girls found the holes and weak spots in the field and there they placed their hits. Both teams got another run before the game ended a complete Ursinus victory.

All of the girls played good games and showed plenty of softball sense. Sophomore Anne Eysenbach hit a beautiful triple to brighten things for Ursinus. Freshman Erma Keyes and Phyllis Palacio showed they were true varsity material by making some very fine catches. All in all the girls played fine ball and seem to be well on their way to another undefeated season.

Ursinus Team Routs Marines, 17-9 As Shegda Pitches Second Victory

F. & M. Ekes Out Win Over Ursinus Team

Last Tuesday the Diplomats of Franklin and Marshall College came to Collegeville to bat out a 12-11 verdict over the Bears when they scored three times in the ninth. Ursinus came back with one run in their half of the ninth but the rally fell short.

F. & M. Gets First Blood

Starting off in the first inning F. & M. countered four times, on five hits and a walk, the big blow being a tremendous triple by Jacobs driving in the last two runs. He did not score himself when Jack Miller threw him out at the plate on a nice play.

The Bears were not to be outdone, however, and taking advantage of Ferraro's momentary wildness for three walks and when a double by Tenewitz cleared the bases and Pete scored on Dougherty's hit to right. The Bears sent twelve men to the plate and were retired with the bases loaded.

After that rough first John Snyder settled down and although hit hard, managed to scatter them pretty well. F. & M. managed one run in the third on another triple by Jacobs, two in the fourth, on

Home Players Show Power Throughout Entire Game

On Friday, Bill Shegda climbed the hill for the fourth time this season and came off with his second victory, a 17-9 decision over the Marines from Philadelphia Navy yard. Ursinus could not be denied as they pounded out seventeen hits against three Marine twirlers.

Shegda had two bad innings, the third and the eighth when he tired. In both these he allowed four runs and the Leathernecks also got one in the seventh. John Snyder came on to get them out in order in the ninth. Allowing only three hits for six innings, Shegda visibly weakened because of the terrible heat and allowed two hits in the seventh and five in the eighth, including two home runs and two doubles. Outside of this, the show was all Bear power and more power.

Starting off with two in the first and three in the third, Salamata, first Marine hurler, left the mound, because of a sore arm but the barrage kept up against Hunger and Barrone. The game reached a hilarious climax when Dom Ligotti slapped a tremendous home run to right field and trotted around the bases with a big smile on his face.

This was the second victory in a row and brought the Ursinus season record up to five wins and four losses.

Bears Brush Aside Lafayette Ball Team

Ursinus blasted out 14 hits good for 13 runs and an easy victory over Lafayette, 13-6, last Wednesday afternoon at Easton.

Bill Shegda, who succeeded Dom Ligotti and John Snyder on the mound in the fourth inning, received credit for his first victory of the year.

Bears Start Fast

The Bears got away to a quick 4 run lead in the first inning when hits by Max Sherman and Elmer Webster sandwiched in between a fielders choice and a hit batter, followed by singles off the bats of Shegda and Ken Dougherty produced the tallies.

Ligotti had lots of trouble getting the ball over the plate. The home team couldn't hit his deliveries, but he refused to give them the chances. After letting in 3 runs and filling the bases in the third inning, John Snyder came in and snuffed out the rally. Shegda took over in the next inning and pitched good ball the rest of the way to notch the win.

Ursinus kept hacking away at Magee, the Lafayette hurler. They got two in the fifth, two in the eighth, and capped it off with a 3 run barrage in the ninth. Lafayette in the meantime was helpless both at the plate and afield.

F. AND M. GAME

a triple by Dally, and a homer by Guinda; and two in the seventh when Dally hit a double with two on. This Dally played heads up ball all day and got a double, triple and home run in five trips to the dish.

F. & M. used three pitchers but Ursinus was out to win this game by a big margin and at one time had piled up an eight to four lead. The Bears got one in the second one in the third, two in the sixth which all leads up to that fatal ninth.

Dally Homers for Victory

The first man up for F. & M. was Jacobs a real hitter but Snyder struck him out and with the lower half of the batting order coming up things looked rosy for Ursinus. Even the most pessimistic were assured of victory when Karl flied out but . . . Alsnauer singled. Tomcho batted for the pitcher and hit a hard smash at Sherman who went to first with the ball only to throw it in the dirt for an error. This put two on, two out and Dally stepped up. He hit a tremendous drive into the cornfield and it was over for Ursinus.

The Bears tried to come back when Archie Simons walked and Sherman made up for his bobble, by lacing a double to left. Then Geist popped out to second, Archie coming home after the catch and Kemp, batting for Webster, flied out deep to left to end the ball game.

It was a tough one to lose but it pointed out a lot of mistakes for the team and they look forward to the game at Lancaster next Saturday.

WSGA CONSTITUTION

The Student council and Senate felt that the WSGA of past years had failed in three ways. First, it had failed to enlist the interest and support of the general women's student body. Second, it had failed to do a complete job of enforcing discipline. Third, it had failed to encourage more cooperation among the administration, faculty, and students by providing no means of expressing definite student views and presenting requests as voiced by a student body. The reorganization was built around those three points.

To remedy the first named failing, the new constitution provides for more representation through three branches, executive, legislative and judicial. Discipline will be improved through dormitory contacts of the Judicial department, centering in the Hall Executive board made up of hall president, Senate representative, secretary-treasurer and preceptress monthly joint meetings of the Senate and Advisory committee, and active mass meetings are provided for to insure a correction of the third failing.

It took a year of hard work and research to draw up the new constitution for the WSGA. It will take many years—and the WSGA—to make it a good constitution.
