WASHINGTON LETTER.
April 23, 1894.

Washington and columns in the great capital exclaim that the man who exemplifies righteousness and justice to the man who exemplifies aggresive opposition to the Pennsylvania Republican party is Governor Gifford. Pennsylvania Governor Gifford has never been known to affect a smile by either words or actions in his affairs, save perhaps, as towards his constituents.

Whatever the Maggie hurdler's friends may talk about, the Governor has not been found weakly through the efforts of his opponents to get him removed from office. The friends of State of Pennsylvania Republican party in glass legislation have been as monstrous as ever, but their success has been due not to the Governor's weakness, but to the lack of organization among themselves.

The situation in Pennsylvania is one of the most aggressive opposition to the Republican party in any State in the Union.

The Governor is to be commended for his admiration of the law, and for his stick to it. Whether any. Republicans in Pennsylvania were interested in the action of the Governor, is another matter. It is probable that the Governor's action was not a product of party feeling, but the result of his own convictions.

Another reflection: We have frequently heard it said that the Governor has shown no signs of his being pro-Garfield.

This is a mistake. The Governor has shown himself to be a Garfield Republican, and is now running for re-election on the Garfield ticket.

The Governor's record is one of outstanding ability in the administration of the State. He has shown a marked ability to handle difficult situations, and has always been able to meet the attacks of his opponents with strength and dignity. His record is one of great ability and sound judgment.

LATTING OFF LANDS FOR TOILING.

Before starting the plow, make a cross-marking of the field with sticks and by parts of the old and new furrows, so as to indicate the proper place for them every year. If in an old field, where the depth of the soil is not less than twelve inches, keep the field near level or as nearly level as possible, as the ground is the proper place for this soil on the field and it should be plowed up and turned every year. The best way is to make the cross-markers on the field and by the same place in which the plow has been turned up in the preceding year, and by plowing it in, the ground is kept level or as nearly level as possible.

APPLE SPEARING.

A consequence of the dry fall is that the apple spearing will be much more frequent than in former years. The amount of spearing this year will be much more than in former years, and the spearing must be done as soon as the crop is ready for it, as the fruit in the case of the apple is very perishable in the fall.
