It is now thought that those in a position to know that a revenue bill will be passed by the Senate early in June, and that revenue reform—of some kind or other—will be an accomplished fact before July 1.

A mob led by women attacked the works of the McClure Company at Uniontown, Pa., Friday morning. Four of the miners were reported killed and the Superintendent to be lying at the point of death. The mob was composed of two hundred women and three hundred men.

BRECKINRIDGE has repented and his church at Lexington, Kentucky, has taken him into the fold again. If his constituents will now re-elect him to Congress his vindication will be complete—in the eyes of some people—and renewed encouragement will be given to libertines that move about in high places.

JOHN W. MORRISON retired from the office of State Treasurer Monday and was succeeded by Samuel M. Jackson, who will be the custodian of the State's money for the next two years. It is creditable, not only to the honesty of the retiring Treasurer, but to his sagacity as well, that the State has suffered no loss during his term by the failure of a single bank in which State money was deposited.

ALTHOUGH comparatively a modern institution the building and loan associations in the United States number 5,838 according to the ninth annual report of Labor Commissioner Carroll D. Wright. More than 400,000 homes are the product of these semi-banking institutions. In Philadelphia alone there are upwards of 450 of these societies, with an invested capital of $40,000,000, whose members pay in $5,000,000 yearly to compulsory savings funds.

"I HAVE a ticket for the other shore," says the Bucks county murderer who must soon hang for having killed an old man and old woman to gratify his brutal nature. This is not the first murderer who felt his "election sure," and if the Bucks county specimen is not laboring under an hallucination (and we think he is), the "shore" he is bound for is hardly a fit abiding place for even ordinary good folks, and much less so for saints. If such characters go to heaven, the other place must be empty.

THE Philadelphia Times in commenting upon Hon. H. K. Boyer's purpose to retire from legislative duties, says:

"He has rendered exceptionally creditable service to the city and the State as a legislator, and has presided over the House with marked ability and impartiality. It would be fortunate indeed if such men could be kept continually in the public service. Mr. Boyer also served one term as State Treasurer, and had the misfortune to come in official contact with City Treasurer Bardsley in the performance of his public duties. In accordance with the immemorial custom of his office he was technically at fault, as was shown by the Bardsley failure, but a thorough investigation of Mr. Boyer's record proved his fidelity to every public duty, and he emerged from the ordeal with his integrity unscathed. The people of the Seventh ward have every reason to be proud of Representative Boyer, and we see no reason why they should not call upon him to yield his personal preferences and continue in the public service. There are grave questions to be considered by the next Legislature in the disposal of which Mr. Boyer's ripe experience would be of unspeakable benefit to the State, and he should be called upon to accept continued public duties because of his special fitness for discharging them. It is the men who do not want to go to Harrisburg who are most needed there by the people of the State, and Mr. Boyer is one of them. The Republicans of the Seventh ward should renominate him regardless of his declination, and we doubt not that such a demand would be obeyed by him."

WASHINGTON LETTER. From our Regular Correspondent. WASHINGTON, D. C., May 4, 1894.—Coxey's army has gained notoriety, but it has clearly paid for it, and if the men are allowed to remain in their present camp many of them will surely pay for it with their lives. If the authorities had condemned four hundred criminals to be imprisoned in the enclosure that Coxey's men now occupy they would be up in arms about it. Why Coxey took those men there is a mystery. A more unfit place could not have been found, and Coxey knew it, because the Health Officer told him. It is alongside of an old canal into which empties a number of the largest and filthiest sewers of Washington. And that is not all by half, the soil is made up of dumpings of filth and inside the enclosure are pools of stagnant water covered with green scum an inch thick. Already a number of the men have been taken to hospitals, and if they are allowed to remain there they will soon begin to die like sheep. Coxey, who stops at a hotel and lives on the best talks glibly of the men's dying there being an "object lesson," but the men don't seem any more anxious to die than any other men. When Coxey failed in his very mild attempt to speak from the Capitol steps and together with Broome and

Jones was arrested, the movement collapsed; but he still insists that he intends to keep these four hundred men here until they grow into four hundred thousand, when he will again make the attempt. He charges an admission fee to the camp, but only he and Broome know where the money goes. He says it is used to feed the men, but the men are getting mighty poor feed.

The questions of legislation that will make some sort of a definite settlement of the debts due the Government from the Pacific railroads isn't making much noise in Congress but it is exciting the deepest interest, and the Congressmen know it. The money spent within the last decade in the employment of high-priced legal talent by the various interested parties would have gone a long way towards paying the interest on these debts. Several propositions are being considered by the House and Senate Pacific Railroad committees, ranging from practically presenting the roads with the amount of their indebtedness to the Government's taking possession of the roads and running them. It is not yet certain what will be done, not even what will be recommended by the committees. These railroads have never yet failed to head off in some way all Congressional legislation that they did not approve, but they will find the job more difficult this time.

Senator Harsbrough, of North Dakota, says he has always favored Government ownership and control of all telegraph lines, and that he will do all in his power to aid the movement of his follow-craftsmen, the printers, bringing about that result. The statement made this week by Representative Rayner, of Maryland, that Wall street influences are being used to secure the repeal of tax on State bank currency, because money can be made by having the notes that would then be issued, has not improved the chances of the repeal bill. Mr. Rayner says a careful canvass of the House made by himself and Representative Springer, of Illinois, shows the passage of the bill to be an impossibility, unless there is a change of opinion on the part of a number of members. It is understood that the populists will vote solidly against the bill; also the Republicans.

Somebody is a long way from the truth as to the present tariff situation. Although Secretary Carlisle announced the first of the week that a compromise had been arranged that would make the passage of the amended bill certain, Senators still deny it vehemently and even call each other ugly names about it. Senator Voorhees, Chairman of the Finance Committee, says the income tax has got to stay and that he will make no further concessions in the interests of trusts. Senators Hill, of New York, and Smith, of New Jersey, make it very plain that they will refuse to vote for the bill with the income tax in it, no matter what other changes may be made. Senator Teller is the only Republican who has openly declared in favor of the income tax, although it is believed that five or six of them will vote for it when the motion is made to strike it out of the bill, but on the final vote on the entire bill the Republicans will probably vote solidly against it. As may be inferred from the above the situation is decidedly mixed, and it will probably remain so until the democratic Senators settle upon their program.

Breckinridge's Friends. From the New York World. The supporters of Colonel Breckinridge will make a useless expenditure of energy if they go on burning Judge Bradley in effigy. They are mistaken in the issue. If they wish to vindicate their principles they must make their fight on the Ten Commandments.

Six Babies in Three Years. From the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. The wife of Bob Douglas, a colored man, of Paris, Texas, gave birth to twins the other morning. Both are girls and weighed 22 pounds. This makes the third pair of twins born to this couple in three years. Douglas is 51 and his wife 41.

Twenty-Seven Miners Killed. POTTSVILLE, May 2.—Mine Inspector John Maguire, of the Eighth anthracite district, forwarded his report to the Department of the Interior to-day. The forty-two collieries in the district produced 3,178,009 tons in 1893, an increase of 11,917 tons over 1892. There were 10,677 men and boys employed, and 27 fatal and 44 non-fatal accidents occurred. The collieries worked 208 days.

Labor and Law Breaking. From the New York Tribune. There is nothing about the cause of labor which entitles it to any favoritism or immunity in law breaking. If all the laborers in the country were united, they would not have the slightest right to disregard the law any more than a single employe. For all alike there is a remedy at the ballot box, and the legally determined result of an election no set of men have a right to resist or set aside, whether they be a large majority or a small minority.

The Miner's Strike. From the New York World. So far as the general public understands the merits of the extensive coal miners' strike which has been inaugurated, there is a feeling that the strikers are justified for refusing to work for the wages paid. But if they resort to violence to make the strike effective and necessitate calling out the militia to protect property and life, the sympathy of the people at large will be withdrawn quickly. Such courses put them in the wrong and wholly change the aspect of the issue.

Can't Knock Out Galsina. From the Harrisburg Patriot. Will Grow be thrown overboard? asks a Democratic contemporary. We can easily answer that. When Jonah was thrown overboard it was to secure comfort and easy sailing for the other voyagers. In this modern instance the situation is reversed. To retain Grow is the only sure way to retain what the tossing over of Jonah secured. Comfort for the voyagers and easy sailing for the big Republican ship can only be assured by keeping Grow aboard, giving him the freedom of the vessel and having him conspicuously appear on second-cabin or saloon deck or even in the crew's nest if he wants to. It would be the Republican party and not Grow that would get the whaling if the old man should be dumped.

Cheaper Ocean Travel. From the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. The falling off in immigration will probably result in much lower steamship rates to Europe. The cost of a steerage ticket has been reduced to $10, and steerage passengers are to have a dining table, a saloon in which to amuse themselves, bathing facilities and a share of space for exercise on the main deck. The time of passage having been brought below seven days the cut in fares naturally follows. A floating hotel can make money at ordinary hotel rates.

Partly Paralyzed by Lightning. SCRANTON May 6.—A heavy thunder and lightning storm swept over the Lackawanna Valley this afternoon and did much damage. A number of houses in the north end of this city were felled by the fury of the storm. Andrew Bennie, of the South Side, took refuge from the storm in a barn near his home. Lightning struck the barn and reduced it to kindling wood. A dog that was curled up on the ground at Bennie's side was struck by the fluid and killed and Bennie's left arm and leg were paralyzed.

A Needed Ordinance. From the Indianapolis Journal. Be it enacted: That if any person, said person having arrived at the age of more than nine years, shall walk along the sidewalk or stand thereon with his or her umbrella, cane or parasol tucked under his or her arm in an approximately horizontal position, on sight of being an obnoxious chump. Be it further enacted: That said obnoxious chump shall have no redress in court for any assault and battery that may be committed upon his or her person by any able-bodied citizen who shall have come into violent contact with said umbrella, cane or parasol while the same is being carried in the horizontal position aforesaid unless said obnoxious chump shall show to the satisfaction of the Court other evidences of a feeble mind.

It Begins to Look as if Mr. Allen Would Do His Own Housework. From the Buffalo Express. H. W. Allen is a man who lives in Rockford, Illinois. He travels for a wholesale grocery house. He has a wife and a baby. The other day he threw his shoulder out of joint. He had a trip mapped out that it was necessary should be made. His wife told him if he would mind the baby she would make the trip for him. He laughed her to scorn, but she was in earnest, and she took his sample case and went the rounds. The result was that while he made a rather poor fist of taking care of the baby, she got ten pages more orders than he ever secured in one day in all the years he has been on the road. The firm has written to Mr. Allen, suggesting that he trade jobs with his wife permanently. This is tough on Mr. Allen and the baby, but it is a great victory for the Sacred Cause of Womanhood, as Farmer Dean would say.

Editorial Observations. Considering that Coxey wears creased trousers, it is a wonder that the Commonwealers stand by him as they do.—Daily American.

If every creature has a noble mission, hasn't the man with the bass fiddle got on to the wrong planet?—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Never mind the constitution if you can preserve the rose bushes.—Rochester Post-Express.

Much as a woman loves her husband, she always hopes that her daughter will marry better than she did.—African Globe.

It is doubtful if culture will ever be able to make a man stop snoring in his sleep.—Rams Horn.

Breckinridge is alarming humble. But he will find that he cannot catch those wily old Kentucky flies with molasses.—New York Journal.

A tariff law without the vote of Senator Hill might cause the gerrymandering of several Presidential booms.—Washington Post.

If there is no law applicable to the case, it is time there was one providing that when a skeleton appears in public it shall wear at least a bathing suit.—New York Tribune.

If any favored interest has been overlooked in the Senate compromises it will please hold up its hand.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

MOTHERS and those soon to become mothers, should know that Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best medicine for the child-birth of its tortures, terrors and dangers to both mother and child, by aiding nature in preparing the system for parturition. Thereby "labor" and the period of confinement are greatly shortened. It also promotes the secretion of an abundance of nourishment for the child. Mrs. Dora A. Girring, of Oakley, Oregon Co., Tenn., writes: "When I began taking your 'Favorite Prescription,' I was not able to stand on my feet without suffering almost death. Now I do all my housework, washing, cooking, sewing and everything for my family in six years. Your 'Favorite Prescription' is the best to take before confinement, or at least it prevents all the suffering and danger that attend it with any of my children as I did with my last, and she is the healthiest we've got. Have inquired several to try 'Favorite Prescription,' and it has proved good for them."
