Catalpa—A Tree Worthy of More General Cultivation.

As an Ohio correspondent writes: "I wish you would inform your readers more about the planting of Street trees, which is one of our most important branches of business, and how to plant them. We have made use of Street tree planters, which work very well, and we have a good experience in planting them. We have made use of a planter which consists of a box with a tree in it, and we have found it to be very effective. The tree is set in the box, and it is filled with water, and it is kept up to the freezing. There is no better way to plant Catalpa and many other trees, as the root system is not disturbed, and the tree is set in the box, and it is filled with water. The tree is thus protected from freezing, and the roots are thus protected from injury. We have had a good experience in planting Catalpa in this way, and we have found it to be very effective.
