The Bomb is Dropped Policy could can kegs

By BILL CONNOLLY
Staff Writer

After two semesters of intensive negotiation, the Campus Life Committee finally produced a proposed Ursinus College alcohol policy, featuring no kegs on campus, all beer in cans for large parties, and parties without registration. Meeting every week for two hours or more, the committee of faculty, staff and student representatives devoted every minute of its time this year to the issue, and finally produced the policy, which must now be approved by the faculty and the Board of Directors of the college.

The proposed policy is printed in full on page 3 of The Grizzly. All students interested in questioning or debating any aspects of it should attend an open meeting with the Campus Life Committee on Mon-and exasperated by the seemingly endless number of problems involved in changing the policy. Seemingly, the battle is over, the controversy, however, is far from over.

The controversy surrounding the alcohol policy developed early last semester when the administration suggested that the current policy made U.C. vulnerable to potentially disastrous liability suits. As in any battle, lines were drawn and the fighting began. The Campus Life Committee meetings, for one Monday a month, were the primary battle grounds. Eventually, it became necessary to hold meetings weekly. The arguments literally raged for hours every week, some meetings surpassing the two hour mark. Concessions by both sides would be offered and then taken back; and proposals would be accepted and then rejected after re-evaluation. The members of the committee were often disgusted

Proponents of both "sides" of the issue have questioned the necessity of this controversy. Indeed, most of the debate has centered upon the issue of kegs on campus. The proposal below reports a fine and possible disciplinary action for possession of an alcoholic beverage in a container larger than a gallon. The bottom line is that this proposal eliminates the legal possession of kegs on campus. The keg aspect is the most controversial because they are deemed most necessary and reasonably by the students, yet most dangerously vulnerable to lawsuits by the administration. Apparently, the only way to eliminate liability was to also eliminate kegs.

CAB Spring Weekend Twists around the corner!

Have you thought much about what you'll be doing on the weekend of April 25th-27th? If you haven't, that's okay, because on that weekend Ursinus is planning its best weekend ever. The Campus Activities Board is sponsoring many events that the whole campus has been invited to take part in. Many campus organizations are busily preparing to show off their hidden talents and ideas as part of a huge fund-raising effort. Fraternities, sororities, academic clubs, religious clubs, and sports-oriented clubs have come up with some great ideas for booths, ranging from pie tossing to gold fish winning to tarot card readings. All of this, plus a dunking booth, a caricaturist, and an outdoor band will take place from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. on Saturday, April 26th by Helfferich Hall.

On Friday, April 25th at 7:00 p.m., the "Make Me Laugh" show will be back for a command performance. A $25 cash prize will be given to those contestants who refrain from the sheer hilarity brought down upon them by professional comedians. Also, that night, the movie "St. Elmo's Fire" will be shown in Wismer Auditorium at 10:00 p.m.

Following all the outdoor excitement on Saturday, a picnic will be held on the Wismer Lawn at 9:30 p.m. There will be plenty of good home barbequed food as well as gourmet desserts! Saturday night, from 9:30 - 1: a.m., "Wildflower" will rock Wismer to the max! This "Top-40" band is well on its way, and Ursinus is ready to dance till the wee hours of the morning.

Sunday will be more subdued, except for those going on the Whitewater rafting trip, co-sponsored by CAB and the Fishing Club. It's really an excellent deal and should be a great time for everyone participating.

Oh no!! Almost forgot the most important part of the whole weekend—the Ursinus record breaker! We're going to have the world's largest Ursinus game of Twister on Saturday at 4 p.m. Sounds kinky, huh? Kim Walter will be the guest host of our game and it promises to be one giant knot.

That describes the plans for Spring Weekend. The final touches on Spring Weekend can only be added by attending the "Ursinus Fair" where there will be good times to share!

Admissions Video To draw high School seniors

By JEAN MARIE KISS
Staff Writer

This past February, a camera crew returned to campus to make more film clips for the Admissions' Office recruiting video. The idea for the video first emerged last semester. Debra Kamens, Director of College Communications, worked with the North Charles Street Design Corp. in Baltimore to produce a nine minute video hoping to attract prospective students to Ursinus.

After a select group of faculty, administration, and students viewed this video, it was decided that the film was not effective enough... something was lacking. This past week, the revised version was released. So far the feedback has been positive. Sophomore, Bill Amey, editor of the Tattler, said, "I've heard nothing but good responses from the students and faculty."

What was missing in the previous video? Amey stated, "It was too stilted; it forgot who its audience was." Melissa Kuriger, freshman, added, "Not enough of the students or the social life was shown...it was too serious." Other students complained that the video relied too heavily upon the athletic side of Ursinus. Changes were made, and the result has received favorable reviews.

The new recruiting video entails all that is needed to provide an interesting, informative and yet casual view of Ursinus College. "I think the video is great," remarked Lorraine Zimmer, director of admissions. "It draws prospective students into the college."

What changes were actually made? First of all, "Before a student can begin to consider Ursinus, he has to be able to pronounce its name," stated Zimmer. "Its crazy; I know." With that aspect taken care of, the video begins to draw the student into college life. Clips taken of the air band concert, Wismer Cafeteria, and classrooms are among the scenes which are shown. Also topics such as students' most and least favorite aspects of Ursinus are discussed.

"This video will definitely help recruiting," Zimmer said.

The Grizzly was founded in 1978, replacing the previous campus newspaper, The Ursinus Weekly. It is published by students twelve weeks each semester. The Grizzly is edited entirely by students and views expressed in the paper are not necessarily those held by the administration, faculty, or a consensus of the student body. The staff of The Grizzly invites opinions from the college community and will publish them as time and space permit.

All is lost. Now there have been plans to renovate Maples! The only house left with even a shred of character will now be forced into the nice, neat U.C. residence hall mold. Whatever happened to the days of Walter "Walt Dude" Dreyfoos' blaring stereo? Don't you remember... the one that often woke up President Richter from his cozy sleep three blocks away... the speakers that dropped hunks of plaster on every happy Maples resident's head. What has come of $100 a week damage charges? How are the students going to vent their frustrations now that even Maples will be dolled up?

Maples residents used to be proud of the story that one former member of the administration supposedly enjoyed telling: "One day," he said, "we all gathered at one corner of the campus. Everyone took ahold of some ground and lifted with all his might. When we finally put the campus down, all the bad marbles had rolled into Maples." Now, I ask, where are all those wonderful aggies going to roll?

Administration's Letter Clearing Up the Cloudy Water

Dear Editor:

Collegeville water is not poison. Collegeville water is safe to drink. During the past few years the quality of Collegeville water has been questioned due to the presence of traces of what are identified as volatile organic chemicals, especially trichlorethylene (TCE) and tetrachloroethylene (PCE). These chemicals are man-made organic compounds used as degreasers or solvents in industry and in consumer products. Both are suspected of being carcinogenic.

Because the quality of the campus water supply has always been of concern to us, the College has been a regular and continuous contact with borough officials and with the Collegeville-Trappe Municipal Authority as they monitor this situation.

Regular monthly tests are made of the water that comes from some eight wells in various locations in the two boroughs. Results indicate that all wells except one test below the limit published by the Environmental Protection Agency. The water from all the wells is distributed throughout the system. The water from any particular well thus does not supply the water to any specific location within the system.

The Federal Register dated March 4, 1982, indicates that over 100 million people are served drinking water from 45,000 public water systems and over 11 million private wells. Results from EPA's Community Water Supply Survey showed that volatile organic chemicals were detected in approximately 45 percent of public water systems using ground water that serve over 10,000 people. Approximately 12 percent of systems serving less than 10,000 people showed such evidence.

One report estimates that if one million human beings were to drink water containing 45 parts per billion of TCE for 70 years (10-times the federal "safe limit" of 4.5 ppb), there would only be one excess cancer death attributable to the chemical after that time. Collegeville water does not approach that level. Compared to this statistic, it is many times more dangerous to drive a car, smoke cigarettes or even to walk down the street than to drink the local water.

Dr. Roger P. Staiger, chairman of the Ursinus College Chemistry Department, and Dr. Peter N. Keliher, professor of analytical chemistry at Villanova University, a local resident who is an expert in the field of chemical analysis, express the professional opinion that the drinking water supplied to us by the local Authority is safe and does not pose any threat to members of the college community.

ALCOHOL

The following suggested alterations in the student handbook represent potential changes in the UC alcohol policy as proposed by the Campus Life Committee. NOTE: These changes are entirely tentative and will need approval by both the faculty and the Board of Trustees to become official college policy.

PROPOSED

ALCOHOL REGULATIONS

(To be inserted in place of current Paragraph 2 on Handbook page 15.)

2. In addition to other statements in this Handbook, the following actions are considered improper use of alcohol by an Ursinus student and will result in disciplinary action:

(a) Public intoxication is prohibited.

(b) The giving or providing of alcohol to a person who is intoxicated is prohibited.

(c) The possession of alcoholic beverages in containers larger than one gallon is prohibited. Residents of a given living area are responsible for actions of visitors to that area which violate this prohibition. If such a container of alcoholic beverage is present in a room, suite, hall or house under circumstances which lead the College to conclude that some or all residents of the area had or should have had knowledge of its presence, appropriate disciplinary action will be taken against those residents. This disciplinary action will be a $200 fine in addition to whatever other disciplinary action may be appropriate.

(d) The drinking of alcoholic beverages is prohibited outside student rooms or suites in residence halls or houses. The only exceptions to this prohibition are (1) within Reimert Complex during social hours and (2) at other times and locations approved in advance by the Office of Student Life.

The following regulations would apply to noise and social gatherings in residence halls and would be inserted in place of paragraph 25 of Handbook page 27.

25. Courtesy and consideration for the reasonable expectations of others are essential if a harmonious atmosphere is to be maintained in a residential setting. While resident assistants, security officers and deans will act to stop unreasonable noise, the primary responsibility for keeping noise at a reasonable level rests with each individual student. Appropriate College authorities must be notified if noisy situations exist.

College regulations as to noise levels vary by hour and location, as set forth below. Violations of these regulations will result in disciplinary action.

(a) regular hours - During these hours it should be possible for the average person to study in the residence hall, house or suite. Noise should not be audible outside the hall, house or suite. Regular hours are in effect in a residence hall or suite whenever social hours or quiet hours are not in effect.

(b) social hours - During these hours noise may be audible beyond the suite, but the noise should not be overly disruptive to those outside the residence hall. If noise becomes disruptive, occupants of the suite will be notified by appropriate authorities and will be expected to comply promptly with directions given. Social hours are permitted only in Reimert Complex suites and are in effect from 5 p.m. Friday to 2 a.m. Saturday and from noon Saturday to 2 a.m. Sunday.

(c) quiet hours - During these hours noise should not be audible outside the individual room. Quiet hours are in effect in every residence area from midnight to 9 a.m. on Monday through Friday and from 2 a.m. to 9 a.m. on Saturday and Sunday. Certain residence areas have more restrictive quiet hours set by the College or by the residents.

SOCIAL EVENTS

The responsibility for organizing social events, for overseeing adherence to the state and local laws and College Regulations, and for insuring the appropriate conduct of students and guests rests with the students involved. The Office of Student Life monitors the number and scope of campus events as necessary. Students wishing to hold a social event outside residence halls must obtain approval to use College property—including open areas of campus—48 hours in advance from the Office of Student Life.

Students holding social events will do so with full recognition of the rights and reasonable expectations of others living on and off campus. Each student is part of the Collegeville Borough Community as well as the Ursinus College Community and must act responsibly toward all neighbors.

Students wishing to hold social events must designate two people who will be responsible for maintaining order during the activity and for cleaning up immediately afterwards. Those designated must be present at the event and will be responsible for seeing that College Regulations are obeyed.

Students wishing to hold social events may be required to post a bond of $100. in the Office of Student Life. This bond will be deposited in a noninterest bearing account. After a member of the Office of Student Life certifies that no damage or cleaning expenses resulted from the event, this bond will be returned. If there are damages or cleaning costs, this bond will be applied toward paying these. In lieu of, or in addition to, this bond, a standard cleaning charge is required for the use of some College locations.

The College expects all persons and groups to refrain from referring to drinking or the availability of alcoholic beverages in advertising or promotion of social events at which alcohol will be present.

Social events may be held no later than midnight M-F and 2 a.m. Saturday and Sunday.

PROCEDURES FOR RESERVING A COLLEGE LOCATION OUTSIDE RESIDENCE FOR A SOCIAL EVENT

If alcohol will not be present at the event, permission to use a College location outside residence halls may be obtained by making application at the Student Activities Office in the College Union. Application may also be made to the Student Activities Committee for money to underwrite part or all of the costs of the event.

If those attending the event who are 21 years of age or older will be permitted to bring alcohol to the event, application may be made in the Student Activities Office for use of Wismer Hall dining room, the Utility Gymnasium or a designated area in the College Union. Application may also be made to the Student Activities Committee for money to underwrite part or all of the costs of the event. In addition, the following conditions must be met by the students organizing the event:

(a) Two students, oriented by the College to their responsibilities, must be present at all times at all entrances to the location where the event is held. These students will work under the supervision of Ursinus College personnel to insure that no one under 21 years of age brings alcohol into the location. These students will also work under the supervision of Ursinus College personnel to maintain order during the event and to clean up immediately following the event.

(b) Those 21 years of age or older who attend the event may bring no more than one six-pack of beer into the event. This beer must be in cans, no larger than 16 ounces each. No other containers or type of alcohol may be brought into the event.

(c) A sufficient quantity of non-alcoholic beverages and food must be provided at the event.

(d) Arrangements shall be made to provide a reasonable number of trash receptacles for the trash produced at the event.

A cleaning charge of $25 will be paid to the Student Activities Office upon reservation of the location. This charge will be applied toward the cost of thoroughly scrubbing the location following the event and any setting up which may be necessary.

(f) No food or beverages in unopened containers may be removed from the location by those attending.

Political Science's Fitzpatrick to focus on Constitution

Dr. Gerard J. Fitzpatrick, assistant professor of political science at Ursinus College, has been awarded a $3,000 grant by the National Endowment for the Humanities to attend an NEH summer seminar on "The Philosophical and Historical Background of the American Constitution" at Princeton University, from June 22 through August 15. Teaching the seminar will be Dr. Paul Sigmund, professor of politics at Princeton. The seminar is being given as part of the NEH's Summer

Seminars for College Teachers program.

"I'm looking forward to it, especially since it comes during the Constitution's bicentennial," Dr. Fitzpatrick said. The seminar will be helpful to him in formulating a new course on the Constitution which he plans to give next year at Ursinus, he added. He currently teaches courses in American government, focusing on the Constitution and the courts.

The Constitution has long been one of Dr. Fitzpatrick's major academic interests, and "constitutionalism continues to be the focus of my study and teaching," he said in his grant proposal. Both his master's and doctoral theses were on the topic. "The Role of the Judiciary in the Emerging Constitutional Rights of the Mentally Handicapped."

"I am particularly intrigued by the interplay in the United States between dedication to the principle of majority rule and fidelity to the idea of limited government. Some serious tensions pervade our governmental hybrid of 'constitutional democracy.'" Dr. Fitzpatrick will use the work of the seminar as a foundation for a study of how judicial review came to be an integral part of American constitutionalism.

A member of the Ursinus faculty since 1983, Dr. Fitzpatrick has also taught at the University of Miami and the University of Virginia. He holds a Bachelor's Degree in political science from Bloomsburg State College, and both his M.A. and Ph.D. in government from the University of Virginia. He was the recipient of the 1982 Alumni Association Award for Excellence in Teaching from the University of Miami, and has had several articles published in the Philadelphia Inquirer.

He is currently researching the topic, "Political Debate, Republican Government, and the Sedition Act of 1798."

Richter Joins Pavarotti

Karen Richter of Collegeville, a chorister of the Opera Company of Philadelphia (OCP), performed with Luciano Pavarotti in the production of Verdi's Requiem on April 5. The concert was held at the Spectrum, and benefited the OCP/Luciano Pavarotti International Voice Competition that will be nationally televised on June 11.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard P. Richter of Collegeville, she is director of admissions at Combs College of Music in Bryn Mawr, PA, and a member of the faculty at Delaware County Community College. She is also soloist at St. Mary's Episcopal Church in Wayne.

Recipient of a bachelor of music degree from Westminster Choir

College in Princeton, N.J., and a master of music degree in voice from Combs College of Music, she taught at New Horizons Montessori School in Fort Washington and at Montessori Children's House in Whitemarsh.

At Ursinus College, she has been an assistant to the American Studies Program, teaching English conversation and American culture to Japanese exchange students.

As a student she performed as a member of the Choir-in-Residence, Festival of Two Worlds, held in Charleston, S.C., and Spoleto, Italy. Professionally, she has performed with The Philadelphia Singers and was also soloist and section leader at St. John's Lutheran Church in Melrose Park, PA.

College Republicans Meet in Harrisburg

By DAN SCHOLL
and
BRIAN MORRIS

On the weekend of April 4th, the Ursinus chapter of the College Republicans journeyed to Harrisburg to attend the annual Pennsylvania College Republican Convention.

The convention was convened to elect the state chairman and subordinate officers, and to set the policy platform for the upcoming year. Over twenty delegations were represented from all over the state.

Under the direction of chairman Martin Miller III, and his stoic partner J.V., Ursinus had the largest representation while having the smallest student body of the schools attending.

Although the campaigning was very fierce and the meetings very long, the Ursinus delegation found ample time to engage in social interaction. The best dressed award, judged by Lt. Governor William Scranton III, was won by Matt Beagle for his stunning illustration of conservative springwear.

The College Republicans would like to thank Ursinus College for making their participation possible.

Perreten in select group to interpret humanities

Peter F. Perreten, associate professor of English at Ursinus College, has been selected to attend an institute on interpreting the humanities. Presented by the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation of Princeton, New Jersey, the institute will be held on the campuses of Hobart and William Smith Colleges in Geneva, New York, from June 15 to 28.

Dr. Perreten is chairperson of the English Department at Ursinus.

Under his direction the English Department is conducting an evaluation of its course offerings and teaching methods. An innovative teacher, he has introduced the use of word processing equipment into his classroom.

He received a bachelors degree from Moorhead State University (Minnesota), a masters degree from Idaho State University, and a doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Delaware. He has attended two National Endowment for the Humanities Summer Seminars (1974 and 1977). In 1985 he received the Lindback Award for excellence in teaching.

The institute in interpreting the humanities is conducted in response to an inquiry within the educational community into the proper role of the humanities in education and society. It is an outgrowth of recent changes in critical theory, technology, scientific developments, feminist and minority scholarship, global interdependence and the increasing vocational-orientation of students.

Through lectures, workshops, and group projects, participants will examine conventional scholarship and teaching practices that produce student dissatisfaction. They will formulate teaching models that relate subject matter to contemporary human experience, enabling students to understand the importance of studying the humanities.

Following the institute, Perreten will conduct faculty workshops on the Ursinus campus.

GREEK WEEK RESULTS

The goal of The IFC and ISC in sponsoring Greek Week was to bring the entire campus, Greeks and non-Greeks, together in athletic, Novack to study technology's effects on French life.

Dr. Frances C. Novack, assistant professor of French at Ursinus College, has been awarded a grant by the Philadelphia Alliance for Teaching Humanities in the Schools (PATHS) to fund a series of colloquia on "French Technology and Innovation" this year.

Novack has been a member of the Ursinus faculty since 1977. She holds a Bachelor of Arts in French from Barnard College and a Ph.D. from Cornell University. She holds both the Certificate Pratique and the Diplome Supérieur de Français Commercial et Economique from the Chamber of Commerce and Industry of Paris, France, and teaches a course on economic French which treats the role of technology.

According to Novack, social and cultural attitudes in France towards technology are undergoing a transformation nowadays. The colloquia seek to examine some of the effects of technology on French life since the 19th century and to relate them to the various disciplines in the humanities.

Topics which have been, or are being discussed through June, are "Modernization in 19th Century France: Technology, Capital or Attitudes?" by Dr. Derk Visser, professor of history at Ursinus (January); "Innovations in 19th century Art." at the Philadelphia Museum of Art, and given by a member of its educational staff (February); "Response to Technological Innovations in 19th Century Literature" (March); "Innovation in French Music at the Turn of the Century" (April); "Technology Changes Sculpture: Rodin," to be held at the Rodin Museum (May); and "Technology in 20th Century Literature" (June).

Women's Lax Takes Two

By JEANNE RADWANSKI

The women's lacrosse team came back from a disappointing 10-6 loss to Temple to register victories over Lafayette and Franklin and Marshall this past week.

The Bears managed to jump out to an early lead over the strong Temple squad, but the Owls, ranked second in Division I, came back in the second half to raise their season record to 8-1. Offensively, U.C. was led by Devin Murphy's three goals. Goals were also contributed by Beth Bingaman, Marie Leahy and Donna Wurzbach while Leahy and Jill Johnson registered assists.

Two days later, the Bears came from behind to defeat Division I Lafayette 8-7. In an exciting game marked by lead changes and ties, Murphy again emerged as the Bears' leading scorer with three goals and one assist. Bingaman and Wuzbach scored two goals apiece, and Bingaman also contributed an assist. Nancy Sarcinello chipped in with a goal and an assist, and Kelee Whiteley and Leahy also had

On Monday, the Bears maintained their number 1 ranking in Division III with an impressive 18-4 thrashing of Franklin and Marshall. A strong U.C. defense, including Lynda Hobbs-Fernie, Johnson, Liz Mita, Lois Groff, Tami Trauger, Barb Caffrey, Bobbi Sue Copley, Sarcinello, and goalie Paula Fronkowiak shut out F&M until 11 minutes were remaining in the game. By that time the offense had built up a comfortable 13-0 lead. Bingaman led all Ursinus scorers six goals to two assists. While Murphy and Leahy each scored three goals with three assists

The third annual Lift-a-Thon will take place on Thursday, May 1 in the weight room. Lifting times will be from 4-6 p.m. The Grizzly interviewed football coach Sterling Brown, coordinator of the event, to find out more about it!

Grizzly: COACH BROWN, WHAT IS A LIFT-A-THON?

Sterling: Our Lift-a-Thon is organized around testing the lifter's strength for one repetition in the bench press. Lifters are encouraged to get people to pledge a minimum of 1¢ per pound of weight they lift. The pledged money is used to purchase equipment for our weightroom.

G: WHO CAN PARTICIPATE?

S.B.: It is open to all students, faculty, and staff of Ursinus. All of those people are eligible to benefit from our weight room. All of our football players are required to participate, and they have been the main fund-raisers in the past.

G: WHAT IS THE GOAL OF THE LIFT-A-THON?

S.B.: We simply hope to maintain

Lift-a-thon Pressing Weights for Progress

the high standards of our new weight room. The lifters have made it known to me what equipment they need for the weight room. Some of the suggestions have been for more free weights, a dumbbell rack, a pec-dec machine, a deltoid machine, and a military press bench. I welcome any further suggestions.

G: HAS THE LIFT-A-THON BEEN SUCCESSFUL IN THE PAST?

S.B.: Yes, quite successful. Our first year, we raised close to $1,500. Last year, our total was about $1,200. We're hoping for a record-breaking amount this year.

G: ANY FINAL COMMENTS ON HOW U.C. CAN MAKE THIS EVENT A SUCCESS?

age everyone to get involved in some capacity. All are welcome to lift and all are welcome to pledge money. Either way, Ursinus is going to come out a winner. The entire campus community reaps the benefits of this program. Fraternities and sororities could pledge a lifter, as well as family, friends, and roommates. Support is welcome and certainly needed, and I just hope that the cooperative nature of Ursinus is expressed in our most successful Lift-a-thon yet.

and one assist, respectively. Whiteley chipped in two goals and Wuzbach, Sue Thomas and Joann Schoenherr each scored a goal. Wuzbach registered two assists and Schoenherr and Groff also contributed assists.

In J.V. action, the Bears won two games and dropped another.

Lisa Gilmore, Nancy Sarcinello, and Wendy Darling scored in a 13-3 loss to Temple.

The Bears came back from this defeat to beat Lafayette 7-6 with Schoenherr and Gilmore scoring three goals and two goals, respectively.

This was followed by a 13-6 thrashing of F&M. Gilmore contributed four goals in that contest while Heather Simons and Darling each tossed in three goals to lead the attack.

Linksters drive to 7-1 record

By DAVE WILSON

and
JIM MCKEON

The golf team continued to roll as they took a 7-1 record into week three of the season. On Wednesday the squad traveled to Madison, New Jersey to battle Delaware Valley and perennial power Fairleigh Dickinson, a team Ursinus hasn't beaten in seven years. "The Linksters" performed well enough, considering the low temperatures and gusting winds, to trounce both teams by ten shots per man.

Obviously Fairleigh Dickinson was undergoing a rebuilding year after the loss of five graduating seniors, but the victory was gratifying just the same. Paul Leddy recorded a fine 79, and Jim "Mr. Punctuality" McKeon's 86 were the two best scores for the day.

The Bears were low on firepower in their trip south to Western Maryland as both Leddy and Dave Wilson were unable to attend the match. Despite the loss of two top golfers, the team performed admirably by posting a fine total of 404. Unfortunately, Western Maryland, Juniata, and Gettysburg edged out Ursinus. Scott Klee led the scoring with a 78. McKeon turned in an 80, sophomores Jon Carson and Bryan McGrath followed with 81's, and Dean "4-putt" Altmore rounded out the scoring with an 84.

"The Linksters" will have faced current MAC champion Franklin and Marshall this past Tuesday and Division I Drexel on Thursday.

Men's Lax Strong at 5-2

By DAVE BLOOM

The Ursinus Men's lacrosse team, with just over half the season completed, has compiled a record of 5-2 winning 4 of their last 5 games.

On April 4th, U.C. met the Penn Club at home. In a decisive 10-3 win Ursinus saw strong offense from midfielders Joe Zirpolo and Mike Grawl with 3 and 2 goals respectively. Attackman Todd Barringer also scored 2 goals. The following day Ursinus beat Temple's lacrosse club at home by a score of 11-8. Joe Zirpolo had 4 goals while Ricky Volko put in 3.

On Monday, April 7, U.C. met Delaware Valley's team at home and again Ursinus came out on top crushing Del.Val. by 11-1. Team scoring leader attackman Ricky Volko added 4 more goals to his total. Ursinus travelled to Millersville on Wednesday April 9, losing their only game of the last 5. Beaten by one goal Ursinus lost only their second game of the season in the 5-4 game.

Last Saturday U.C. travelled to Muhlenburg shocked their goalie and put one more in the win column with a convincing 9-0 victory. Midfielder Jeff Bass and Attackman Tom Donnel each had 2 goals. Goalie Rich Alercio played an excellent game chalking up his first shut out of the season.

The strong defense this year composed of returners Mike Maratea, George Fresolone and Jim Ruggario have done a great job so far this season.

After losing 6 starters from last season this was supposed to be a rebuilding year for the Ursinus club. The keys to the success of this years team has been the solid play from the teams' many newcomers.

Rowson a threat for gold in five events

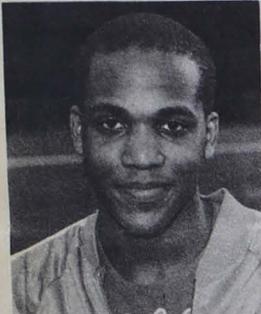

By ELLIOT TANNENBAUM

In the film "Chariots of Fire," Eric Liddell of Britain refuses to run in the 1924 Olympics because his race will be held on a Sunday.

British officials call in the Prince of Wales to try and change his mind. But Liddell, the devout son of a missionary, won't sell his conscience for a gold medal.

Last May this little vignette was repeated at Ursinus College. (Well, minus the Prince of Wales.) Abe Rowson's body got him into the NCAA track championships. His soul kept him out.

On May 3 and 4, Rowson won three silver medals at the Middle Atlantic Conference championships (100 meters, 200 and 400 relay). The sprinter from Carmel (N.Y.) High led Ursinus to fourth place in a field of 21 teams.

Then, a week later, he capped a spectacular junior year by buzzing through the 400 meters in 48.3 seconds at the Philadelphia Metropolitan meet, becoming the only Ursinus athlete to qualify for the NCAA Division III nationals.

Trouble was, Abe Rowson didn't see himself as a big-deal runner. Abe Rowson saw himself as vice president of the Ursinus chapter of the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship. And the Inter-Varsity was planning a week-long gathering for student leaders at exciting Doubling Gap, PA, near York (not to be confused with New York).

"If I'd run in the NCAAs, I'd only have missed the last two days of the retreat," Rowson said. "But I'd made a commitment, and I felt it wouldn't be right to get out of it. I wanted to run, but the first priority of my life is Christ. I have to put him before track and anything else."

"I told Coach (Dick) Whatley, and he just said, 'We'll go next year.' He didn't show it, but I knew he was upset. I can't blame him."

No coach with an Abe Rowson on his team can stay upset for long. Rowson will be a threat for gold in five events (100, 200, 400, 400 relay and mile relay) when Ursinus hosts the 1986 MAC championships May 2-3.

The Bears, traditionally strong in the distance events, find themselves in a strange situation this year. They'll depend on Rowson and his fellow sprinters to keep them near the top in the MAC.

The Bears have finished among the top seven teams every year since 1960. When the season opened March 22 at Franklin and Marshall, they were gunning for their ninth straight winning year and 26th in the last 27.

Rowson, their new captain, is the cheerful, upbeat son of an Apostolic minister in Carmel, about 15 miles from West Point. He's so obsessed with track that he spent his freshman and sophomore years at Fairfield University in Connecticut. Fairfield does not have a track program.

"It's a very good school for pre-med," Rowson explained. "I guess I wanted that more than track. But Fairfield disappointed me a lot. I don't want to go to a school where I'm just a number. I had a biology class in a great big auditorium with 300 people.

Ursinus has a great pre-med program, and it's just the right size for me. The whole senior class is no bigger than my biology class at Fairfield.

"A guidance counselor in high school told me about Ursinus. I wanted to go there as a freshman, but my parents didn't want me to go that far. It's about 25 miles north of Philadelphia. I kept pressing them and pressing them, and finally they let me go.

"The Inter-Varsity plays a major role with me being really comfortable here. I wasn't really into a school where nobody knows how to spell God."

The Inter-Varsity brings students together for discussions, Bible readings and talks by visiting speakers. With Rowson's help, the chapter grew last year from a handful of students to about 40.

Rowson's effect on the track program was even more pronounced. He showed up for workouts last spring, unannounced, unrecruited and unencumbered by any lofty expectations.

"I thought the two-year layoff from track was going to kill me, to tell you the truth," he said. "At the beginning of the season, they told me the NCAA qualifying mark in the 400 was 'only 48.3.' I went, 'It's only 48.3?' My times in high school were 53, 54 seconds.

"I wasn't planning on running the 400. I was scared to death of the 400. It's the longest all-out sprint in all of sports. You sprint all the way around the track. It takes an enormous amount of endurance, and I didn't think I had it."

It took a happy accident to show him otherwise. On April 13, in the next-to-last dual meet of the season, freshman Rich Dunlap de-decided to withdraw from the 400 and try the 100 instead.

"We had nobody else in that event," Rowson remembered, "and we were going to lose points, so Coach Whatley asked me if I would please run it just this once.

"I did and my time qualified me for the MAC championships. Oh man, it surprised the heck out of me. I wasn't expecting to run a 50.6. Coach told me my time, and I said, 'ohhhh, my God.' And after that, my times just kept going down, down, down.

Still, I never expected to qualify for the NCAAs in that event. We're at the Philly Metro meet, and I'm trying to qualify in the 200. The 400 was scheduled about half an hour before, and I figured it would be a nice warmup for the 200. It would get me loose.

"I'm running the 400 real easy, just gliding down the track, just getting my rhythm down. I finish the race, and I hear the time, and I'm standing there stunned. I go, 'I did a what??? A 48.3???' I couldn't believe I was going that fast."

Believe it or not, there actually was an Eric Liddell, the hero of "Chariots of Fire." And just like in the film, he won an Olympic gold medal by switching from the 100 meters to another race scheduled for Saturday instead of Sunday.

That race was the 400 meters. Abe Rowson used to shy away from "the longest all-out sprint in sports." But the minister's son has become a believer.

A Sterling Suggestion! Brown to be Tatoood

Joseph F. Pirro
Editor-in-Chief

"Hey coach, you ought to get a tattoo," said Gavin Lentz, a senior defensive lineman on the Ursinus Grizzlies football team. Head coach, Sterling Brown, gave Lentz a look that would make the sun burn through an eclipse. Now two seasons later, Lentz is gone, but players like Brady, Pascali, DeFeo and McCloskey are still here—and so is their request for a tattooed coach.

Brown has coached football from the University of Wyoming to Drexel University to the confines of "Bear Country," but never in those twenty-five years of coaching had his players asked him to get a tattoo.

During practice two years ago a few players, Lentz leading the pack, began jokingly to dare Brown. John Brady, linebacker, and Lentz flexed their own versions of multi-colored skin designs and urked Brown on. The coach would not be convinced as he moved around his 90-player squad during warm-up drills, even if it meant football unity and togetherness.

This past season the heat of August finally got to Brown. As his brow dripped with sweat he began to laugh and agreed to the players' proposal to get a tattoo on three conditions. First of all, the team would have to have a winning season—an unaccustomed event for the Grizzlies since 1972. The other two stipulations were simple enough—the players had to pay for the tattoo, and Brown could choose the spot on his body that it would occupy.

Brown figured he had a few ways out of this pending predicament, believing the players would never collect the 40 or 50 dollars necessary. And, of course, the deal depended on a winning season.

The tattoo was motivation enough for the players to fulfill the first part of their informal agreement and finish with a 5-4 record. Now with the season four months over, Brown leaned back in the desk chair of his new, spacious, weight-room-converted office and said, "I think I'm still safe."

"We gotta get the money together," said Mike Pascali, senior defensive lineman. Brown is willing to complete his end of the pact because the players met the required criteria. Last week he said complacently, "I'm not worried. If they get the money, I'll do it."

Charlie DeFeo, senior middle guard, said, "I think it's awesome! We were all members of the coach's first team here at Ursinus. Because of the winning season, he owes the seniors one."

Brown has settled on a little Grizzly paw as the design suited for himself and the team. Where the coach will put it is not determined, but he assures, "It will be a small, inconspicuous place." Also jokingly, he said his wife was not part of this decision, because "some things get executive veto and this is one of them."

Brown is waiting, not anxiously, but still waiting for the funds and a car ride to Philadelphia or Conshohocken. "There's an Ursinus tattooist somewhere out there in the world," he said.

O'Toole hurdles school record

By JILL THEURER
Staff Writer

Last Saturday the Ursinus women's track team traveled to Messiah College to participate in their second invitational meet of the outdoor season. Four team members placed in the meet.

Setting a new school record in the 400 meter hurdles, freshman Diane O'Toole succeeded in qualifying for the MAC's with a time of 1:18.4. She also placed sixth in the 100 meter hurdles with a time of 20 seconds flat. Teammate Kristen Volk took fifth place with a time of 20:00 in the 5000 meter run.

In the field events, junior Laura Rideout placed fifth in the discus throwing 100 feet, eight inches. She also has qualified for MAC's. Finally, in the triple jump, freshman Cindy Plantarich captured sixth place jumping 30 feet, two inches. Cindy will also be competing in the MAC's since having qualified for the high jump in one of the team's indoor meets over the winter.

Because of bad weather this past Wednesday, the next women's track meet will be this Monday, April 21. The meet, originally scheduled for April 16, will be held on Monday when Ursinus hosts Haverford and Delaware Valley. This college will also be the site of the women's MAC meet. This event will be held on May 2nd and 3rd.

Bears Battle Back

By DAVE KULP

Last Wednesday at Franklin and Marshall, the Diplomats (5-6) escaped with a 1-run win in the bottom of the ninth. The game was a pitcher's duel with Ursinus getting a strong outing from Ritchie LaFaver, who only gave up two earned runs in the 4-3 loss.

On Saturday, Ursinus travelled to Widener for another thrilling Saturday doubleheader. The Bears dropped the first game by a 4-3 score. Ursinus led the whole game until the bottom of the sixth, when Widener (6-2) erupted with a 3-run triple to right. On that blast Widener took the lead 4-3 and the Bears seventh inning rally was thwarted by baserunning blunders.

In the second game, the Bears lost 8-7 on another Widener comeback.

Saturday featured strong pitching by Joe Donovan and Wally Tittelmayer. The bulk of the hitting was done by Scott Smiley (2-3, with a double and triple) and Pete Aftemos, with a homer to left-center. Ed Malandro also had a couple of hits on that day.

On Monday, Ursinus travelled to Lebanon Valley and defeated the Flying Dutchmen by a score of 11-10. LaFaver and Tycho Fredericks combined on the mound and produced the first Ursinus win in 8 games. The run production was supported by Roger Brewster, who went 3 for 3 on that day. Dave Kulp, LaFaver, and Ed Malandro all pitched in with 2 hits apiece to set the Bears' record at 5-11.

Bear Facts: Ursinus winds up its season with two games on Saturday at Haverford. Then, on Tuesday they travel to Albright for a single game.

Hadler's Medical Series

By ANDY STENDEVEN
Staff Writer

Dr. Nortin Hadler, an accomplished physician and an associate professor of medicine and microbiology at the University of North Carolina Medical School, delivered a stimulating lecture to an audience at Wismer Auditorium on April 8. His presentation was the third and final one in a series entitled "Changing Perspectives in Nineteenth and Twentieth Century Medicine," sponsored by grants from McNeil Pharmaceutical and the Pfizer Foundation.

Although Dr. Hadler's topic was advertised as "honor and biomedical research," his lecture really covered more.

The speaker began by highlighting the major breakthroughs in the evolution of medicine, from the concept of a scientific basis of disease to the foundation of biomedical research institutions.

Dr. Hadler went on to mention recent revolutions in medicine, such as HMOs (Health Maintenance Organizations), and to address some of the big dilemmas facing modern health care delivery. Among these dilemmas, about which Dr. Hadler readily invited audience discussion and debate, were escalating health-care costs (which he attributed largely to a superfluous amount of hospital administrators) and the performance of unproven or unnecessary medical procedures.

Although acknowledging the uncertain and changing face of medicine, the speaker, on an optimistic note, emphasized that a physician's work still comes down to the one-to-one interaction of a doctor with a fellow human in need. As Dr. Hadler aptly put it, "There is a doctor glut but not physician glut."

Tennis

The Bears improved their record as they trounced Moravian, 7-2, on the home courts.

At the Widener match, Marc Dervishian won his singles match in three straight sets. Later he and Brigg Backer combined to win their doubles match by winning the first and third sets, 6-4 and 7-5. Also Ken Hemphill and Bryan Pollack won their second match in three sets, 6-2, 6-3.

The Moravian match was highlighted by wins in both singles and doubles by Marc Dervishian, Brigg Backer and Brian Finger. Todd Alderfer was also successful, winning his singles in three sets. Ursinus swept the doubles events with the threats of Dervishian and Backer, Finger and Pollack, and Jim Coles and Hemphill.

This past Wednesday's match against York was rescheduled due to bad weather. The next match is tomorrow when Muhlenberg will travel to Ursinus.

U.C., now 7-1, travels to the University of Delaware on Saturday for varsity and J.V. action. Wednesday's rained-out match-up at West Chester was postponed until Monday.

The proposal mentions the term "social hours," yet this is not a new concept; the "hours" are the same as they are now (5 p.m. Friday to 2 a.m. Saturday and 12 p.m. Saturday to 2 a.m. Sunday). In addition, the bothersome procedure of registering parties has been eliminated, and more responsibility has been placed on the students. Presumably, this situation is what was sought from the beginning of the debate: responsibility to be put on the students themselves.

Interesting changes concerning large social functions on campus are included below. No alcoholic beverages will be served at these events, but those students of legal age will be permitted to bring an appropriate amount of beer for consumption (one six pack of 16 ounce beer is maximum). Since no alcohol will be provided by the sponsoring organization, college funds will be available to defray part or all of the expenses for food, non-alcoholic beverages, entertainment, and even cleaning fees.
