A GOOD TIME.

Aristotle, one of the ancient philosophers, observed: "Nothing is so hard to resist as pleasure." He also wrote: "The tone of a free state depends on the tone of its people. If any part is bad, the whole cannot be good." The modern trend of a considerable part of American population is toward the multiplication and adoration of various forms of pleasure, and away from diligence and efficiency in the performance of labor. Much more concern is manifested with respect to having one "good time" after another than concern for the serious duties of life; much more interest in frivolities and extravagances than in intellectual and moral improvement, the cultivation of habits of industry and respect for steady, useful, and dependable work. These observations apply to adults as well as to those in their teens. Superficiality is usurping solidarity in many as it is called, although the mounts avenues of human endeavor, while foolish and time-killing and enervating pleasures are extolled and practiced to an extent that distinctly bodes ill for society as a whole. When minds are charged with ever-present desires to indulge in pleasure, the love for useful toil and the highest purposes of human existence must necessarily diminish, and, as they diminish the moral tone of society is lowered. A nation of strong men and women depends upon rigid habits of industry on the part of brain and hand, upon reasonable economy, and upon the practice of honesty in thought and deed. If Ameri can civilization falls into decay it will be because of excessive pleasures and dissipations and the absence of sufficient practice of honesty and justice on the part of the American people. A tremendous responsibility is now resting upon the educators and leaders of the masses of the people; upon the native gumption and common sense of fathers and mothers. If American civilization is not to fall into decay, very much more attention and effort will have to be devoted to saving mankind for this earth-for this earth alone—and less attention to mere conjectural vagaries of the human imagination. To really know and to really do the right in thought and work; to practice industry, honesty, thrift, and faithfulness to duty here and now are the very pressing needs of mankind everywhere on this very real earth.

CERTAINLY.

The recent triumph of the ash-cart in Philadelphia, however unsavory the victory (in behalf of the kind of politics that extols boodle at the expense of taxpavers and is never shamed by considerations of public economy and decency) should direct especial attention to Senator Vare as a choice candidate next year for Republican Gubernatorial honors. Evidently Philadelphia is quite fond of him, and being so fond of his municipal methods those who pay taxes in the Quaker city should do proper homage to one they love so much by insisting upon the Senator's occupancy of the Executive chair at Harrisburg. A majority of about 80,000 in behalf of the Vares, in support of ash-cart stunts, is at once indicative of a kind of popularity that could easily be utilized in helping the Senator to step up higher. The ash-cart is supreme in Philadelphia and those who dwell in the city that boasts of the only real Liberty Bell should seek to glorify the ash-cart and still further magnify its importance by heavier majorities at future elections. How very liberty-loving the people of Philadelphia; and how suggestive their admiration for ash-carts. The energy of the big newspapers of that city can't even put a political dent in a garbage can.

A NATURAL ATTITUDE.

The Staats Zeitung of Philadelphia is glad because Elihu Root, the eminent Republican statesman of New York, declined a seat in the International Court of Justice. It says, in part:

Mr. Root was one of the most zealous supporters of the Versailles Treaty of Shame, the non-ratification of which by the Senate he bitterly regretted.

The Staats-Zeitung is quite in harmony with its pro-German | and discovered it in the cuff of his proclivities. Quite so. Mr. Root was clear-headed and fair enough to sidestep partisan politics and favor the treaty of Versailles. Also, he was on the side of America and against Germany during the world war. The Staats-Zeitung feels more kindly toward Henry Cabot Lodge, the supporter of German sympathy and very ardent on wearing them." and autocratic admirer of Henry Cabot Lodge.

UNGRATEFULNESS.

The following readable piece of jingling composition is from the editorial department of the Boyertown Democrat. "It's dollars to doughnuts" that the author of the lines quoted is none other than Charles Spatz, proprietor, who a little while ago just imagined he was old enough to retire from editorial and reportorial work. But the inspiration of his youth will not altogether forsake him.

Why is it, that we're disconted in this fair land of fruit and flowers? Why can't there be some scheme invented to palliate our selfish hours? Our harvest bins are overflowin'—unbounded wealth is at our hand,—and still our discontent keeps growin'! It's more than I can understand.

There was a day that I could mention—I can't forget it even now. We kept our feelin's in suspension by waltzin' with a shovel plow . . . . . We didn't flirt with fickle fortune, we never chased the nimble cent, we got along without no scorchin'. We didn't have no discontent.

We didn't know no strained conditions-nor hungry mouths nor greedy eyes...... We didn't have no politicians to fill our ears with blasted lies !. I wouldn't say that I'm contendin' for what you call back number ways ..... But I can say, without pretendin' that them was mighty happy days!

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK.

National Fire Prevention Week will be observed October 2-9. Its object is to call attention to the vast annual loss by fires which might have been prevented, and to emphasize the necessity of safeguards against future fires. The nation's total fire loss is estimated at 15,000 lives and $500,000,000 in property each year. According rare and high priced as terrapin. The to the statistics of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, there little pea crabs, found within oyster were 38,266 fires on farms in a single year-1918-and the estimated loss was $18,166,710. That means that 38,266 rural families in 1918 suffered loss in degrees varying from slight damage to the loss of home, live stock and, in many cases, human life. Farmers, and all persons in rural communities, well may join in the observance of fire prevention week, both individually and in public gatherings, such as schools, churches, and farm organizations.

GOVERN ISLAND LIKE VESSEL

In Guam the Usual Routine of a Naval Ship Is Observed With Scrupulousness.

The routine of a naval establishment gives an unusual amount of life to the plaza of Agana, Guam. Every morning at 8 o'clock the full band assembles before the palace and the halyards of the two flag staffs are manned by marines. Promptly at the first stroke of "eight bells," the band plays the "Star Spangled Banner," and the national flag and the Union Jack are hauled up, while everyone in sight and hearing stands at attention. All the children of the primary grades have previously assembled in formation on the parade ground itself and after 'colors" they go through calisthenic exercises while the band plays suit-

On Sunday mornings the men of Agana are exercised in military drill, which is compulsory for all the ablebodied men within certain age limits. While they have a standard or uniform dress, this is worn only on special occasions. Yet dress parade is a truly dignified affair, for the youths maintain that erect and self-reliant carriage which is so characteristic of native races.

Occasionally a most interesting drill is witnessed of the "carabao cavalry," are not water buffalo but domestic cattle. All through the day the bells tell the time as on shipboard and bugles sound the calls that direct the military life of the station. Again at 7 o'clock in the evening the musiclans assemble at the bandstand and play classical and other selections for an hour, while the officers and their families stroll about in the cool of

RELIEF FOR HEAT SUFFERERS

English Savant Who Probably Knows Offers Some Advice on the Problem of Keeping Cool.

The obvious expedient of avoiding exposure to the sun, "stimulating" foods and drinks, and the use of dark and heel-retaining garments is not always sufficient to keep the human body cool. In spite of these precautions, many persons suffer from heat languor ("thermal debility"), to the detriment of their health and effi-

It is nearly one hundred years since the Silesian peasant Priessnitz reintroduced the curative use of cold. One of his procedures was to immerse the back of his head in a shallow vessel of cold water.

·We know now that external cold is a powerful stimulant to the nerve centers at the base of the brain, which govern the heart and breathing and regulation of body heat. In hot summers heat is insidiously piled up in the tissues, and sometimes thermal debility passes on to thermal fever or

Anybody may prove for himself the refreshing coolness produced by bathing the nape of the neck and the spine and the inner side of the arms with vention and cure of heat-stroke, the experience of the troops in hot climates has shown the same efficacy of cold when applied on a more extensive scale.—From a Letter in the Lon-

Saved by His Cuffs.

"There's superstition personified," said the tailor, as he nodded in the direction of an elderly man who was being fitted for a suit. "He's so superstitious that he wears cuffs on the trousers of his dress suit."

"What has his wearing cuffs on the trousers of his dress suit got to do with superstition?" the tailor was

"That man claims that cuffs on his trousers have saved him hundreds of dollars during his life and he refuses to go without them now, even in evening clothes," the tailor retorted. "Once he said he dropped a diamond ring somewhere and thought he had lost it until he got home that night trousers. Another time he lost a scarfpin, which he also later found in the same place. After several other similar instances the old man came to be-Meve that cuffs were good luck and now, despite my pleadings, he insists

Phones to Suit Patrons.

"Speaking of service!" exclaimed the traveling man as he stood in front of one of the telephone booths in the Pennsylvania station, the New York Sun reports, "and consideration of the public. You'd never get that anywhere except in New York." "Well," grinned a guard who was standing by, "we strive to please, so when we found that some folks were too short to reach the telephones if they were high, and others had to almost bend double to talk over them if they were low, we decided we'd have 'em arranged accordingly. So we have some for the tall guys and some for the little dolls, and a few that both can use as they've got stools before them to sit on if you're lucky enough to get one."

Venerable Ministers.

Dr. Oliver S. Baketel of New York is the authority for the statement that there are 30 ministers more than ninety years of age in active service in the Methodist Episcopal church. The oldest is the Rev. Seth Reed of First, Mich., who is ninety-eight, while another is nearly ninety-seven, and three are ninety-six.

Best Crabs From Chesapeake Bay. The Chesapeake bay blue crab, the largest specimen found along the Atlantic coast, is considered the best. While these crustaceans were very plentiful a few years ago, it is becoming evident that unless a "closed seashells, are considered a delicacy, while the cancer magister, the large crab of the Pacific coast, is extensively used for food in that part of the country.

Needed Explaining.

A pompous old gentleman was addressing a gathering of English workmen and during his remarks he urged them to "Be industrious! Shun indolence and remember that sloth is the parent of necessity." As he paused to let this sink in a man in the rear sung out: "Look 'ere, mister, I've 'eard it said as 'ow necessity is the mother of invention-if so be as it is, then sloth is invention's grandmother, and summat's wrong somewhere."-| Boston Transcript. :!nck, Quality Counts

> Phillips and Steavenson.—Scientific Effective Fly Swatters. American.

Some, not all, animals use their tails as whisks to fan away flies and other winged abominations. In India a favorite present to a valued mistress or nurse is a yak's tail. It makes an ideal "swatter" in that country where flies are certainly no joke at the right season for them. As you see the handsome tails in use, you realize that the yak, half-buffalo, half-sacred cow in appearance, was made to live in the same locality with flies. Domestic cows have developed their tails into useful swatters also, as they have traveled with man in all his worldwide emigrations.

Brown Coal. Germany expects brown coal to make her rich again. The beds of this newly discovered fuel are only a few feet below the surface of the ground, so that the material can be taken out with dredges. No shafts will be required; no timbering, no costly machinery, and no explosives. Of course "brown coal" is only coal in the making, with about one-third the heating value of bituminous. It contains much less carbon than the latter, more ash, and a good deal of water.

Important Experiment.

Domestic production of chaulmoogra oil, long used in Asia for the treatment of leprosy, is made possible through a consignment of seeds of the Hydnocarpus tree, sent from Siam to the bureau of plant industry. They will be experimentally propagated in Florida, Porto Rico and Hawaii. The oil formerly was obtained only from seeds of another free grown in Burma.

Catastrophe That Overwhelmed the City of Pueblo Can Be Avoided by Proper Action.

A disastrous flood occurs, causing a loss of many human lives and mil lions of dollars' worth of property. What happens next? What precautions are taken to prevent disaster? Usually what happens is that the suffering community courageously under takes the task of reconstruction. The flood is called an "act of God," and confidence is felt that there will be no repetition of the calamity. But the conditions that gave rise to the disaster continue to exist, and such being the case, there is no assurance that it will not repeat itself.

If the catastrophe that overwhelmed the city of Pueblo is not to be repeated, again and yet again perhaps, preventive measures must be adopted. Dams must be built and reservoirs constructed at the headwaters of the Arkansas river to impound its floods. The government reclamation service points out that floods not less destructive might occur in any year on the Rio Grande if the waters of that he said he was actually afraid of its stream were not held in leash by the great Elephant Butte dam, Before that dam, with its vast reservoir, was constructed, flood time and again wreaked havoc in the vicinity of El-

> The Elephant Butte dam is one of the greatest engineering works on the globe. It is 306 feet high, nearly onethird of a mile long, and creates the largest irrigation reservoir in the world -an artificial lake covering 63 square miles and averaging 70 feet in depth. The water contained in the reservoir would cover the whole state of Con> necticut to a depth of ten inches. Development of similar works on the headwaters of the Arkansas river would not only prevent future floods, but would store water for irrigating hundreds of thousands of acres, and furnish water power for all the manufacturing industries in that part of the country.

New Jersey seaside mothers, who have been bothered in keeping tab on their children, have adopted the meiliod of embroidering their addresses on the back of the bathing suits worn by the youngsters. "I live at 37 South Texas avenue," read a neatly embroidered inscription across the shoulders of suits worn by two young bath rs who strolled about the Chelsea beach the other day. When they were tired of the beach and breakers they urned their backs to the life guards nd inquired: "How do we get where t says on our backs?"
