ARTISTIC CONCERT

BY GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

Mr. Jolls Directs Creditable Rendition of Varied Program

The "co-eds" scored another success last Saturday evening, when a picked glee club of sixteen young women of Ursinus, under the leadership of Mr. John M. Jolls, gave their fourth annual concert before an attentive audience of students and friends. The affair in general showed faithful preparation on the part of the girls, and was an indication of the rising standards of musical culture and appreciation at Ursinus; in its several parts, it bespoke much credit upon all performers, both as to individual talent and successful coöperation.

The numbers to which especial attention should be called are many, for the program was in every respect, excellent. The opening chorus, "Only to Thee," Saint-Saens, was rendered in a very pleasing manner, showing particularly the extensive preparation that had been made for the entire concert. A very popular ensemble selection was "Just Smile," Parks.

The girls' quartet, composed of Emily R. Phillips, '19, Esther R. Roth, '18, Olive L. Slamp, '20, and E. Rebecca Rhoades, '18, sang four well selected and pleasing numbers, of which one, "I Know a Lovely Garden," D'Hardelot, requires mention for the most effective blending of the voices.

A rendition of the highest order, and much appreciated by the audience was the piano solo, "The Lark," Glinka-Balakirew, played by L. Bernice Wagner, '20, who responded to a hearty encore. Misses Roth and Rhoades, as the soprano and alto soloists, respectively, pleased the audience beyond any comment other than commendable. The reading by Margaret E. Slinghoff, '18, proved welcome in a musical program, and the delighted audience demanded an encore.

As a suitable climax to a successful concert, the club sang Vannah's "Good-bye, Sweet Day," accompanied by Ruth J. Craft, '18, who has so nobly supported the club. Entwined within its notes this chorus held a soft beauty of tone that made it well received. This final number

Retiring Editor of The Weekly

To be editor of a college paper involves no small responsibility and labor, yet Mr. Grove has constantly been giving of his time, his enthusiasm, and his natural talents for the advancement of the WEEKLY. The same zeal and unflinching energy which he has displayed in his editorial work has been characteristic of his general school life. He is manager of the baseball team and College book room, and recently won distinction for Ursinus in the Intercollegiate Oratorical Union, taking third prize in the annual contest. Withal, he has been among the highest in point of scholarship.

FOURTH RECITAL

The fourth lecture recital on the Clark Memorial Organ by Harry A. Sykes will be given at nine o'clock, Tuesday morning, April 3. These recitals have been attracting considerable attention, inasmuch as they are a musical education in themselves, and because they are a part of the nation-wide movement in favor of the pipe organ. Mr. Sykes with his thoroughly modern interpretation and native skill has certainly proved that he is capable of demonstrating the value and charm of this wonderful instrument.

ZWING ANNIVERSARY

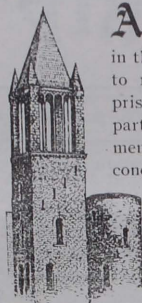

BRILLIANT OCCASION

Alumni and Friends Delighted With Excellent Representative Program

Before one of the largest crowds ever present, Zwinglian Literary Society gave its forty-seventh anniversary program in Bomberger Hall last Friday evening. A brilliant audience of alumni, faculty, students and friends, by frequent and prolonged applause at every stage, showed its appreciation of the program rendered. The social spirit was also present in the mingling and greetings of alumni with their former classmates and friends during the social hour after the program. The presence of the ladies in beautiful evening dresses, the tasteful decorations of plants, greens, and pennants, and the refreshments served at the close of the evening were the final touches that made the evening a grand success.

Zwinglian always endeavors to have the anniversary program representative of the routine work of the society and still be the best program possible. This one was no exception and the numbers that Mr. Lloyd O. Vost, '17, announced, as chairman of the evening, were performed with the assurance and grace that is the result of the combination of ability and real effort in practice. Dr. George Leslie Omwake, President of the College, offered the invocation after the Zwinglian Orchestra had played an excellent processional. The Welcome Address by Mr. Preston E. Ziegler, '17, had as its theme the place of the literary society as the "soul of the college." Mr. Zeigler is a pleasing speaker and cleverly presented both his theme and the related welcome. The interpretation of "Don Muneo," Dudley Buck, as a vocal duet by Miss E. Rebecca Rhoades, '18, and Mr. John H. A. Bomberger, '17, was easily the artistic triumph of the evening. Miss Ruth J. Craft, '18, here as well as during the other musical numbers, showed herself most proficient as an accompanist. The essay, "College Life and Its Problems," by Mr. J. Seth Grove, '17, was a scholarly paper and the need of some means for distributing the undergraduate work and impelling greater interest in study as the main

This work was organized early in the war by Dr. John R. Mott who has spent much time since the outbreak of hostilities in visiting the prison camps of Europe. Through Dr. Mott's kindly offices, the Y. M. C. A. is permitted to minister even in places to which the Red Cross is denied access. The condition of the war prisoners is most distressing in all the countries at war, but of course in some places the suffering is much greater than at others.

The campaign was undertaken here immediately after the new officers of the Y. M. C. A. took charge, a brief but impressive statement of facts concerning the work having been made at a chapel service by William Miller, one of the international secretaries. It became known that the members of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet had already pledged $70 and the student body backed up this kind of leadership with commendable earnestness and generosity. Within two days the amount pledged passed the $300 mark. The appeal was made to the spirit of self denial, and many a young fellow made his pledge with full knowledge that it meant not merely giving up some pleasure, but the earning of money in addition to that already required for college bills and personal necessities.

What the students of Ursinus contribute to this great work will, therefore, be not "pin money" but "sweat money." Yet it will be a joy to earn these extra dollars in the knowledge that it will in some measure relieve the physical ills, the mental agonies and the heartaches of the boys to whom the free and happy life which we are permitted to live is at most but a memory and in many cases only a dream. G. L. O.

Due to dissatisfaction over the enforcement of the honor system at Lehigh University, over 300 students have signed a second pledge not to cheat and to report every man who does cheat.

Anent Military Training as an Educational Policy

[From an article by President Meiklejohn in School and Society.—ED.]

What sort of education our young people need depends of course upon the kind of young people they are. In the recent discussions of military training, as well as in other discussions, I have heard some very uncomplimentary descriptions of the younger generation. Some of our older people speak as if by some strange caprice of chance or Providence, a plague had come down upon us. It is not this time a plague of locusts or of rats, but rather a plague of brats. Men seem to be asking: "Whence came they, these children who will not obey? What has destroyed the discipline of the world? Children nowadays do nothing as they are told to do; they do nothing properly, nothing with precision or orderliness; they are not at all like us, their parents and elders; how came they here to plague and terrify us?"

And it is from such complaints as this that, so far as I have been able to observe, the educational argument for compulsory military service is mainly derived. "Turn these disobedient brats over to the drillmaster," men are saying; "let him bring them into order and give them the virtues they so sorely need." But so far, at least, the argument does not seem to me convincing. It has too much the appearance of a "potent remedy" and too little the quality of the careful study of the disease. If one regards afflictions as "plagues," as inexplicable strokes of ill-fortune, one may treat them in this summary fashion. But surely the better way is to treat them as matters of cause and effect. If our children do not obey, why do they not? What has made them so unlike ourselves? It may be that if we can discover the cause of the disease we may likewise discern a remedy. It is practically certain that we shall not discover a remedy until we do know the cause.

Now the outstanding fact in the situation is that these children are "ours." They are our flesh and blood, our spirit. Our families have moulded and shaped them; the society which we are has developed and influenced them. They are what they are chiefly because of us. As against the conditions which created us, the conditions which created them differ in only one essential respect. The climate differs little; the soil is much the same; the only really important difference is that we had wiser and better parents than they. It would seem well, therefore, that we examine ourselves before prescribing a remedy. And the real issue appears, I think, in the remedy which has been proposed. The trouble is not apparently that children will not obey, for it is assumed that they will obey the drillmaster. The complaint is that they will not obey us. And that of course admits of another explanation quite different from the one we have been giving. What is there in us that fails to command respect and obedience? Why is it that before us a younger generation does not yield its will and acknowledge its masters? In my own opinion the greater part of the mystery lies here. We as a generation have become somewhat uncertain in our attitude, in our grip of life. We wish to be obeyed, but we do not know just what to command. And our children feel that uncertainty in us. And just because we are not quite sure what to command we are all the more determined that we shall be obeyed. Whether it be in the home, the church, the state, the business, we find our opinions changing, our points of view shaken. And as a result of it all there comes the rather hysterical tension between the two groups, the one demanding instant obedience and conformity, the other feeling instinctively that those who give the commands are not sure of their wisdom, do not really expect or wish that they will be obeyed.

Now if this be really the source of our trouble, it is obvious that there is no quick and ready solution of the problem. Only as our grip on life becomes firmer, only as we work out a clearer and saner view of human values and procedures, will the ordinary relationship of old and young be re-established. It will take a long time to do that and meanwhile we must labor at the task and wait for its completion.

Among the Colleges

The faculty committee on student affairs of Muhlenberg College has ordered the immediate discontinuance of all "hazing" and compulsory "room parties." Although the Student Council had been considering the hazing question, the faculty ignored that body, thus endangering the prestige of the Student Council among the student body. As a result, the Council, realizing its position, intends to resign in a body.

By a vote of 1100 to 300, the students at Yale favored some form of military training. The majority vote on this question at Harvard was also in the affirmative.

The Northampton Traction Co. has caused great agitation and discussion at Lafayette by its application for a franchise to run a new trolley line directly through the campus on College Hill. Those favoring the project claim that bringing the college closer to Easton and making March Field easier of access, would mean increased athletic attendance and swelling of the athletic purse; while the opponents of the movement say that the natural beauty of the campus and the sentiment surrounding it would be given a rude shock, and that for present conditions the college is close enough.

Swarthmore alumni and undergraduates have earnestly and enthusiastically launched their plan of raising one million dollars by June for the purpose of establishing an Endowment Fund. The movement is due to the realization that Swarthmore's future is at stake, in that she cannot hold her position as a college of the first rank without a fund, with which to offer inducements to desirable high and preparatory school material.

Editorial Comment

With this issue, a new staff of editors begin their labors in the interests of the WEEKLY. The retiring editors have left a heritage of ideals and standards, and a proud record of achievement. There were no slacks or hitches in their untiring efforts, so that each week, the students and friends of the college found the pages of the WEEKLY filled with interesting and helpful material. The task before the new staff is to continue this good work without flaws or falterings, and the aim should be to meet new responsibilities with new ardor and stimulate increased interest by raising loftier standards.

What shall be our policy? As might be said of any news sheet, the WEEKLY should first of all be newsy, bright, interesting, helpful. It must be the epitome of Ursinus, to faithfully portray its life and activities. Further, it must be the expression of the hopes and aspirations of the institution, laying an inky finger upon the very pulse of its power. An even subtler obligation rests upon the WEEKLY. It must be the champion of the best interests of the College, and unflinchingly uphold justice, truth, and brotherly kindness. It should not always be the mirror for reflection—sometimes it must be the light that guides and inspires.

With these policies in view, the new staff face the future, realizing well what responsibilities are laid upon them, yet firmly determined to give their best efforts to the WEEKLY, and not without high hopes. A hearty greeting to our constituency: May our association through these pages be a constant source of profit and delight. P. E. D., '18.

Y. M. C. A.

The first meeting of the Y. M. C. A. under the new regime was held in Bomberger Hall, Wednesday evening. The attendance was unusually large and if this is a promise for the future, not only a most successful year is in store. The meeting was in charge of Mr. Yoch, '18, who spoke on the subject, "The Call to Arms." Mr. Yoch began his speech with a very skillful analogy between the call of our country for volunteers and the similar call of our God. There is usually a marked contrast in the responses we give to these two summonses. Loyalty to duty should be manifested just as strongly in our religious life as patriotism in our civil life. Neglect of duty, a cardinal offense in a soldier, is no less serious in a Christian.

The first and prime duty which a true Christian must assume is that of right living, the application of Christian principles to his own life. Then he is prepared to exert his influence upon the lives of others. For this work, beyond the opportunities found in daily associations, there have been provided the field of teaching, the ministry and, missions, in each one of which there is a crying need for workers.

Y. W. C. A.

The annual business meeting of the Y. W. C. A. was held on Tuesday evening. The president, Miss Reifsnider, opened the meeting by reading the fifteenth chapter of John. After singing several inspiring songs the reports of the committees were read. Miss Miller, '17, chairman of the nominating committee, read the names of the persons proposed for the various offices. The result of the election was as follows: President, Ruth J. Craft, '18; Vice President, Edna M. Boyd, '19; Secretary, Leah A. Gingrich, '20; Treasurer, Elsie Bickel, '18; Pianist, L. Bernice Wagner, '20.

Owing to the exceeding high price of banquet commodities and comparative low price of beefsteak, the Junior class of Stevens Institute of Technology will have a beefsteak dinner instead of their annual banquet.

HELP! HELP!!

"Help Ursinus Raise Five Hundred Dollars". Thus began the posters announcing the campaign to raise a fund for the work among the war prisoners of Europe. Six million men are starving to death physically, mentally, and morally in the congested camps of all the warring nations. The Y. M. C. A. is the only organization that is permitted to carry on a universal work among all the prisoners. The college students of America have been heeding the call of their brothers across the sea, and have denied themselves many things to furnish the funds for their relief. A special call came to Ursinus when Mr. Miller, one of the traveling secretaries of the National Y. M. C. A. presented the need at chapel service Monday morning. Already fourteen men of the cabinet had pledged seventy dollars, and the campaign began in earnest. Upheld in prayer and served by a spirit of sacrifice, the amount has steadily grown until it begins to approximate four hundred dollars. Nothing like it has ever been seen on the campus and there seem to be promises of great blessings to the students for the way they are responding to this great call. The five hundred dollars aimed at is to be made up by Tuesday morning, April 3. Have you helped to give Ursinus a place with the other colleges that are furthering this cause? Have you seen the vision of the Christ saying, "When I was in prison, ye visited Me?" Messrs. Putney and Bomberger, who have this work in charge, will welcome your contribution.

Faculty Favors Defensive War

After a conference on the war situation on last Friday evening, the Ursinus Faculty reached the conclusion embodied in the following telegram, which was sent to President Wilson:

"Faculty of Ursinus College, lacking full knowledge, favors for the present only defensive war for maintenance of rights on the sea, but defers respectfully and loyally to the Administration. Pledges unqualified support in whatever stand the Government takes."

The same message was sent to the Hon. A. R. Brodbeck, Director of the College, who is a Member of Congress, and a similar communication was dispatched to Congressman Watson, representing this district.

During the Easter vacation eight Ohio Wesleyan Gospel teams, comprised of thirty-one students in all, will take charge of the pulpits in as many towns in the State.

Alumni Notes

Simon S. Shearer, '16, formerly employed at Hershey, Pa., has been elected instructor at Cumberland Valley State Normal School, Shippensburg, Pa.

Edgar T. Robinson, '14, was recently elected choir-master of the First Baptist Church, Bridgton, N. J. He has been given full charge of all the musical activities of the church and Sunday school, and is organizing the work along extensive lines.

The laboratory of the Van Camp Packing Company, at Indianapolis, Ind., where L. F. Rutledge, '16, has been employed, was recently destroyed by fire.

Thos. A. Bock, '10, Superintendent of the Chester County Schools, and his assistant, Clyde T. Saylor, '10, were present and delivered addresses last week at the public flag raising exercises of East Vincent School, near Spring City.

Herbert C. Hoover, '16, is employed as a chemist in the laboratory of the American Steel Company located at Chester, Pa.

Zwing anniversary, as usual, was the magnet that drew a large number of faithful alumni back to their Alma Mater. Among those seen on the campus over the week end were: Misses Edna Wagner, '14; Florence Brooks, '12; Miriam Barnet, '14; Clara Deck, '12; Stella Hain, '15; Esther Peters, '14; Ada Fisher, '13; Grace Kramer, '14; Marion Kern, '16; Emma Ebright, '14; Emily Snyder, '15; Florence Scheuren, '14; Helen Keyser, '16; Messrs. Douthett, '12; Yingst, '13; Kennedy, ex-'16; Gerges, '11; Riegel, '15; Yeatts, '16; Sellers, '16; Deininger, '15; Hess, '14; Beltz, '15; Mathieu, '13; Behney, '12; Stugart, '16; Kerr, '16; and Glendenning, '15.

Sociology students in the University of Chicago are practicalizing their work, and at the same time aiding themselves financially, by "mixing with the classes." Some serve as waiters, taxi-drivers, cabaret performers, while others are snow shovelers, bartenders and bell boys. At the end of each day they report their progress and experiences to Prof. Park, who is himself a waiter (for the time being) in a cabaret.

On the Campus

That a "manless" party may be extremely sociable and delightful was experienced Wednesday evening when Mrs. G. L. Omwake and Mrs. H. Ernest Crow played the role of hostesses to the girls of the Y. W. C. A. at Superhouse. Parlor games in the form of bird and tree romances were played. When all had become sufficiently acquainted, home-made "eats" were served. This is the second time the girls of Ursinus have been brought together, the first having been their athletic day, and as a result a new feeling of comradeship is springing up.

The Tennis Association met in the English Room last Monday afternoon and elected officers and made plans for the coming season. Mr. S. Gulick was elected president, Mr. Russell Houck, vice-president, and Miss Lois Hook, secretary-treasurer. Work is being pushed forward rapidly and one of the courts has been in use this week. A tournament for the men is being arranged and will be played off after Easter. The schedule for 1917 is as follows: April 28, Drexel at Collegeville; May 5, Cushman Club of Spring City at Collegeville; May 12, Drexel at Philadelphia; May 17, Moravian at Bethlehem; May 19, Swarthmore at Swarthmore; May 26, Haverford at Haverford.

A petition for military training, signed by a hundred male students, has been placed in the hands of the proper authorities.

Mrs. Webb, who had returned to her duties as head of the culinary department, was called away by the death of her mother, Mrs. Evans of Furniss, Pa. The sincere sympathies of the entire student body, faculty members, and friends in the community go out to Mrs. Webb in her time of bereavement.

As Others See Us

A glimpse in a mirror is good for us occasionally. It shows ourselves as we really are, whether good or bad, and is always a source of either gratification or of a desire for improvement. This is what one of our valued contemporaries thinks about us:

"Although, from an English standpoint, THE URSINUS WEEKLY is a well written paper; it somehow fails to give one a good impression. It is much too serious in its contents. Why not liven up a little and forget to be so dignified and prim? A 'column of smiles' would be an improvement."—Western Maryland College Monthly.

URSINUS COLLEGE

COLLEGEVILLE, PENNSYLVANIA

Located in a well-improved college town twenty-four miles from Philadelphia. Fifty-four acres of grounds fronting one-fifth of a mile on the main street. Administration building, three residence halls for men, two residence halls for women, president's home, apartments for professors, athletic cage and field-house, central heating plant and other buildings, all in excellent condition. Three new dining rooms and new sanitary kitchen.

THE CURRICULUM

embraces four years of work in the arts and sciences leading to the degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science, and includes

SIX GROUPS OF COURSES

I. THE CLASSICAL GROUP

This is a course in the liberal arts with special emphasis upon the Latin and Greek languages. It is specially adapted to fit students for the theological schools and for general work in the teaching profession.

II. THE MATHEMATICAL GROUP

This group, having mathematics as its dominant subject of study, provides a wide range of electives. It possesses special disciplinary value and constitutes an excellent foundation for advanced work in the mathematical sciences as well as for teaching these subjects.

III. THE CHEMICAL-BIOLOGICAL GROUP

This group is designed primarily for students who expect to enter the medical profession and for persons who wish to become specialists in chemistry and in the biological sciences.

IV. THE HISTORICAL-POLITICAL GROUP

This group furnishes thorough preparation for the study of the law, and enables students who expect to teach to become specialists in history, economics, political science and public finance.

V. THE ENGLISH-HISTORICAL GROUP

BASEBALL SEASON OPENS WITH VICTORY

Ursinus, 7; Drexel, 3. 'Varsity Outclasses Philadelphians in Initial Game

Saturday afternoon occurred the first baseball game of the season when Ursinus crossed bats with Drexel on Patterson Field. The afternoon was almost perfect for baseball and the field was in excellent condition. The large crowd of alumni and students present seemed to thoroughly enjoy the game which was loosely played and at times slow. Its chief merit lay in the prophecy for the rest of the games. We may expect a good season though the infield is still unsettled and shaky. The pitching staff looks good. Coach Thompson used three youngsters on the mound after Ziegler had shown by three innings of good ball that he would be up to his usual form this year and perhaps better. Carlson, Mellinger, and Longacre worked hard and brainily and all three are very promising.

Drexel scored her first tally in the first form through Slater, who walked to first, stole second, and reached home on an overthrow to first. Ursinus scored her four the first inning by finding Watkins and placing the hits. The game was marked by errors on both sides. Ursinus used sixteen men during the game. It looks like a big fight to get 'varsity berths.

idea of college was interestingly put forward. Mr. Samuel W. Miller, '18, presented Patrick Henry's "An Appeal to Arms," with an earnestness and force that transformed it into an appeal to present day Americans for patriotism. "She is the Sunshine of Virginia," Harry Carroll, as presented by the quartet, had everybody's feet tapping in pure enjoyment. Mr. Harold J. Weiss, '17, leader, Mr. Leo I. Hain, '17, Mr. John H. A. Bomberger, '17, and Mr. Raymond E. Wilhelm, '18, composed the quartet. They were forced to respond to an encore. The Zwinglian Review, always a popular number, as prepared and presented by Mr. Eugene S. Grossman, '18, was much enjoyed by all. In the oration of the evening, "The Occidental Pariah," written and delivered by Mr. Paul J. Lehman, '17, the injustice society inflicts on its criminals was tellingly portrayed and an appeal for a broader, wiser, and more human treatment was made in a masterly fashion. The last number on the program, the Zwinglian Chorus, Mr. Leo I. Hain, '17, leader, was a rendition of "The Regimental Song," Berlioz-Silver. The chorus work was fine, the voices blended well and the call for an encore by the audience was sincere and merited.

Of course everyone stayed for the social time afterward and enjoyed Zwing's hospitality while Mr. Miles Miller, '20, as representative host for the Society, saw to it that every one was served in an efficient manner. Mr. Jesse B. Yaukey, '19, had charge of the decorations for the evening and he and his helpers succeeded "beautifully". The whole affair was a most decided success and reflects great credit on the Society and its committee, Mr. Lloyd O. Yost, '17, chairman, Miss McMenamin, '17, Miss Brant, '18, Mr. Putney, '18, and Mr. May, '19.
