THE WEEK OF PRAYER AT URSINUS

HAROLD B. KERSCHNER
President of the Y. M. C. A.

FOOTBALL BANQUET WEDNESDAY EVENING

Wednesday was a red-letter day for the members of the 1915 'Varsity football team. The citizens of Collegeville and immediate vicinity were the generous hosts of the ex-warriors at an elaborate complimentary dinner served in the Freeland Hall dining room on Wednesday evening. The college, as well as the football team, is fortunate in having such a well disposed and liberal body of friends in the home town to lend support in victory or defeat.

The townsmen and members of the team assembled in the Freeland Hall reception rooms between seven-thirty and eight o'clock and, shortly after eight, proceeded to the dining room. Here good taste was evident on all sides. The walls were neatly decorated with Ursinus pennants and banners. Over the main entrance to the dining room was hung a graphic illustration of how Ursinus "got" the Navy goat. The warm, crackling fire-places completely dispelled the chill of the stormy weather. The tables, arranged in the classic "U" design, were decked with appropriate favors and daffodils. Music was furnished by an orchestra, composed of a violin, flute and harp; and a local quartet.

Rev. R. S. Snyder of Schwenksville Conducts Enthusiastic Meetings

The Week of Prayer, held annually under the joint auspices of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. of the college, was observed in the auditorium of Bomberger Hall on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings of last week. It was probably the most successful ever held at Ursinus due to the magnetic personality of the leader, Rev. R. S. Snyder. The meetings were intensely interesting and helpful and the practical truths of Christianity and good fellowship were emphatically brought out in the informal and heart to heart talks which were given by the leader.

The associations have been very fortunate in securing the services of a man of Rev. Mr. Snyder's calibre. The morale and standard of the student body has unquestionably been heightened as a result of the meetings which were very well attended. Rev. Mr. Snyder's work has been much appreciated; his helpful talks have taken root in the lives of some students at least; and Ursinus is richer because of his visit. He is a man of large experience in ministering to the wants of college men and women and has been affiliated with that well-known Christian gentleman, John R. Mott, in similar capacities of more breadth and longer duration. In order to serve his Alma Mater he cancelled several lecture engagements. During the week he held personal interviews with many of the students concerning questions of vital interest in their everyday life.

Yeatts, '16, opened the services on Monday evening and, after Bomberger, '17, had rendered a vocal solo, introduced the speaker. Mr. Snyder after giving a few introductory remarks spoke on the subject, "Mother." His talk was very impressive. He brought out the fact that there can be no heaven without mother, yet we are often so negligent, so thoughtless of the influence of mother on our lives. "Why does she mean so much to us? Because she portrays Christ Jesus. Mother is untrifling as a worker; from morning until night she is kept busy ministering to our wants.

FOUNDERS' DAY TO BE OBSERVED

Official announcement has been made of the plans that have been completed for the observance of Founders' Day, February 17. The directors will hold their winter meeting in Room 104, Freeland Hall, at 1:30 o'clock. At 3:30 p. m. public academic exercises will be held in the chapel. Processional and recessional hymns will be sung by the choir. Prayer will be offered by the Rev. Charles E. Wehler, D. D., vice president of Hood College, Frederick, Md. The address of the day will be delivered by Henry Sturgis Drinker, LL. D., president of Lehigh University. The honorary degree of Doctor of Letters will be conferred on Natt M. Emery, A. M., vice president of Lehigh University, and the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws, upon Joseph Henry Apple, Pd. D., president of Hood College.

At the conclusion of the public exercises, the "family dinner" will be held. To this are invited all students of the college, the professors and instructors and their wives, officers and directors and their wives, and the guests having part on the program. There will be a number of after-dinner addresses.

At 8:00 p. m. in the chapel, the Girls' Glee Club will give their initial concert. Cards of admission will be on sale a week or more in advance.

The Tower Window

At this time there are hundreds of students in our high schools and academies who are considering the question of where to go to college. The large and the small college will each enter its claim, the former on account of its greater fame and its more diversified life, the latter on account of the contact it insures between professor and student, and the larger opportunity for participation in student activities.

In making a choice between a large and a small institution, it may be helpful to note the results of an investigation recently made at Harvard into the size of the colleges from which fellows are appointed into the graduate school. These appointments are made on the basis of "intellectual attainments" and of "promise as productive scholars."

The investigation revealed that in the graduate school there were 62 students from colleges whose enrollment is less than 300, and that the proportion of fellows in this group was 1 to 8. Of colleges of from 300 to 500 students there were 82 enrolled, and 1 out of 14 of these were fellows. Seventy-two came from colleges from 500 to 1,000 and of these 1 out of 15 were fellows. Institutions of from 1,000 to 1,500 furnished only 63 students, and of these 1 out of 16 were fellows. Thus it appears that the proportion of fellows grows less and less as the men come from the larger and larger institutions. From the institutions of over 1,000 students there were only half as many fellows as from the institutions of less than 300.

This would indicate that of the men coming to Harvard for graduate study the smaller institutions furnish by far the larger proportion of those who win distinction in scholarship. G. L. O.

Paul A. Mertz, '10, of the Trenton High School faculty, has resigned to accept a position in the Frankford High School, Philadelphia. The resignation is effective February 11. At Trenton, Mr. Mertz was instructor in English in the day school and also taught in the evening high school. Mr. Mertz's new work in Philadelphia will be in first and second year English in the Frankford High School, which is the newest secondary school in the city, being opened to students on Monday last. Mr. and Mrs. Mertz will move to Philadelphia early in March and will reside at 311 Berwyn avenue.

Week of Prayer at Ursinus

She knows how to labor. A better example could not be placed before college men and women. We should learn how to work and it should be our privilege to perform our duties willingly and to the best of our ability; mother never complains about work. She is self-sacrificing and will do almost anything if it will please us or help us in some way, even to her own discomfit. Mother's love has no limitations. Now, it is up to us to throw away that stiffness and formality when we again return to our homes and show her that she is appreciated. If we follow mother's example we will walk in the path of salvation and righteousness; the heart of mother is right after all."

On Tuesday evening the meeting was opened by Miss Kern, '16, president of the Y. W. C. A. Miss Seiz, '16, sang an appropriate solo and the leader said, "If we have no living purpose to do something we are like a ship on the sea without a rudder." He emphasized the necessity of college men and women having a definite purpose in life. "College life is not a picnic, not an excursion. We cannot afford to waste our time." He cited an example of a young man who, during his college days, had no purpose in his life. Today he is filling prescriptions in a Philadelphia drug store of the lower class. "Some of us students are going to be preachers one day, a writer another, a doctor another—we are wandering aimlessly about and are endeavoring to perform many things and the result is we can do nothing efficiently. We are Jacks of all trades but masters of none. Why? Because we have no purpose. Hence, it is of vital importance to college students to possess a purpose in order to crush out the sins of our life. Sin is natural with us, and we must have vital and moral consecration of purpose to overcome. What shall be my purpose? We should attain character and Christ is our pattern. His heart, while on earth, vibrated with love; He pitied the fallen more than the rich; He endured suffering for the welfare of mankind. Let Him control and master our lives; we need His influence. We must learn to work. The average college student is afraid to work; if we procrastinate we are not true to our own lives nor to our God. We must have a purpose to do something for Christ. We should not attend our religious meetings in a phlegmatic manner. There is no peril of overdoing anything for Christ or in becoming over-emotional. A burning purpose in life is the one thing that can overcome. We want a burning purpose to seek the Master—the grandest thing we can attain."

The meeting on Wednesday evening was opened by Kerschner, '16, president of the Y. M. C. A. Wiest, '16, played a very pretty cornet solo. Mr. Snyder said in part: "England does not need munitions of war, but a religious revival; America is receiving the commerce of the world but is losing her soul." This statement, taken from a magazine article, challenges the attention of the people to-day. The world seems to be in an unfixed condition; everything is unsettled. The great problem is: How can you and I—with everything tending to discourage, with crises arising on all sides, with religious zeal wavering in many people who are professedly learned—who are going to college, realize the ambition of being as near to God as He wants us to be? Christ should be our example in working out the program of our life. Take something material which we think is the most beautiful in this world, multiply it by millions and millions of beauty and we will have just a faint idea of the beauty of the Son of God. Everything that is beautiful in this world reveals the Son of God. The flowers reflect his beauty. Christ, by His coming to this earth and undergoing sufferings and privations, has taught us something. The first requisite required in carrying out Christ's program is self-emptying. Forget yourself in this world. You must turn your pockets inside out before God can use you. Open your hearts so the spirit of Jesus can enter. Again, we can do nothing without sacrifice, and finally, we must learn to obey. If we have talents and use them without God's blessing they are limited. If we put our scholarship and ability at God's feet we will receive returns fifty and one hundred fold. Are you willing to say 'Thy will, not mine, be done?' Get Him into your life!"

Miss Seiz, '16, opened the meeting on Thursday evening. An octette of girls sang a pretty selection. On account of the inclemency of the weather Rev. Mr. Snyder was unable to reach the college in time for the service. Miss Seesholz, Student Secretary of the Y. W. C. A., very kindly consented to speak. She gave a very helpful talk relating to the religious aspect of the European war. She issued the challenge to us as students and emphasized the fact that honesty is needed more than anything else to-day. President Kerschner then closed the meeting with a few well chosen words.

Among the Colleges

Ten thousand dollars has been received by the military department of Cornell for the foundation of a summer military camp at Ithaca, similar to that at Plattsburg last summer.

"Drink a Highball," an old drinking song at the University of Pennsylvania, has been officially banned under the order of Provost Smith and other university officials, who declare that the song lays Penn men open to misunderstanding, and is not truly representative of the university.

Lafayette College has received a gift of $200,000 from the General Board of Education.

According to statistics from physical examination, the present Freshman class is the "strongest" class which has entered Lafayette in eight years.

A course in Classical Archaeology will be introduced at Franklin and Marshall this semester. This year's course will include the study of Greek Art and Civilization.

The latest candidate for football coach at Muhlenberg is Harry A. (Haps) Benfer, who for the last four years kept Albright in the athletic spotlight.

Considerable interest in debating has been aroused among the students of Dickinson College. A schedule including State College, Franklin and Marshall, Juniata and University of Pittsburgh, has been arranged for the debating team.

"Challenge" is the peremptory title of a new intercollegiate magazine which will make its appearance in the periodical world next month under the editorship of Columbia University men. Editorial and business representatives will be, or have been, appointed at the leading universities and colleges throughout the country, and the magazine ought to find interested readers at almost every seat of learning and to promote intercollegiate good fellowship. In the words of the prospectus, "Challenge" will make its purpose "to stimulate the free expression of opinion among American students, to the end that each American college and university may become a conscious and informed intellectual democracy."

The Amherst College football schedule for the season of 1916 is featured by the absence of a game with Dartmouth. This is the first time in a good many years that the Hanover eleven has not had a place on Amherst's schedule. This came as the direct result of an action by the Student Council,

Editorial

Up to this time nothing has been heard of the Ursinus Press Club, which organization was temporarily effected during the month of December. The students of the college and probably those of our readers who may be interested in the project no doubt have been thinking that the plan has been found to be impracticable. The reason that the matter was not pushed more energetically was due to the fact that the members of the student body have been unusually busy in the time which has intervened. Those of us who are interested in the movement are pleased to report that during the Christmas recess much progress was made in securing the consent of editors of local newspapers to publish any material which might be sent to them by the members of the club.

That the results are encouraging is evinced by the fact that over a dozen students have signified their willingness to enter into the work and have already secured reservation from the editors of the newspapers in their respective communities. Other members of the student body have become interested and are endeavoring to push the matter with their local newspapers. Still others appear to be indifferent and are not responding to the challenge which is being issued in the interest of their Alma Mater. That the project is a worthy one needs no extended amplification and we feel certain that the organization is bound to succeed. Nevertheless, it is true that it would become a more powerful factor if more of the students would take an active interest in the work. We appeal to those students who have not yet been approached to come out to the meeting on Tuesday evening and enter into the work with the rest of their fellows. There are still several favorable communities which should have representation in the club.

The plans are still in embryonic form but at the meeting on Tuesday evening the organization will be placed on a permanent basis and a constitution will be adopted. The field which should be covered will also be outlined and any suggestions which may be forthcoming will be given due consideration. The correspondents are not restricted to the young men of the college and the young women are cordially invited to become members of the organization. The meeting is open to all persons who are interested and desirous of working in the interest of A GREATER URSINUS. Come out to the meeting and lend your support to the project—the more the merrier!

Football Banquet Wednesday Evening

tet rendered several vocal selections of considerable merit.

After the repast, a delicious mental feast was enjoyed by all present. There was an abundance of sparkling wit and humor, but this only served as a dressing for the liberal portion of "meat" served with each toast.

President Omwake responded to the toast, "Views from the Tower Window," in which he spoke of the growing opposition of college authorities to the proselyting of athletes. "The Future of College Athletics" was a prophesy by Coach Gerges. On "The Popular View Point of College Athletics," Rev. R. S. Snyder impressively emphasized the extreme antagonism of some people to football and the popular demand for a winning team. "What I Gain from the Side Lines" was told by A. H. Hendricks, Esq. Mr. J. T. Ebert discussed "Our Tooters" with his characteristic drollery, but at the expense of a number of townspeople. Ex-Captain Kichline reviewed the "Season of 1915," while Captain-elect Clark described "The Prospects of 1916." Toastmaster F. W. Gristock "cracked" his appropriate jokes in an unusually able manner.

The success of the affair is largely due to the untiring efforts of Mrs. Webb and her efficient staff of assistants. The high quality of the food, prompt service and beautiful decorations were appreciated by all present. As a token of their appreciation, the banquet committee presented a gold friendship circle to Mrs. Webb. The banquet committee, composed of F. W. Gristock, R. E. Miller and H. P. Tyson, deserves great credit.

Valentine Fete Postponed

At a recent meeting of the Athletic Committee it was decided to hold a strawberry festival sometime in the month of May, the date to be announced later, instead of the customary valentine fete which has heretofore been held in February. The main features of the valentine fete will be held in connection with the strawberry festival.

Literary Societies

Schaff Society

A very pleasing miscellaneous program was rendered in Schaff Hall last Friday evening. Mr. Trucksess opened it with a well-performed Piano Solo, responding to a vigorous encore with a neat selection. Miss Rosen read a careful Book Review in an excellent manner, taking Winston Churchill's "The Far Country" as her subject. Mr. Gobrecht reviewed Current Events in a comprehensive manner. Mr. Unger declaimed "On the Way to Mandalay" with good expression. A clever parody on "The Village Blacksmith" was read by Mr. Rutschky. "The One Hoss Shay" was the subject of Mr. S. M. Yeatts' reading. An impromptu speech "My Railroad Experiences," was given by Mr. H. F. Gingrich. Mr. E. R. Yeatts recited "The Fool's Prayer." A quartet, led by Mr. Hoover, next performed. Mr. Johnson's oration, "Legal vs. Moral Neutrality," was well delivered and showed his power as a speaker. Under voluntary exercises, Miss Sheppard performed in her accustomed superior manner as an elocutionist. Mr. Light gave the Critic's Report.

The Society was more than pleased to welcome into active membership Miss Edna M. Boyd, of Philadelphia, Pa.

Zwinglian Society

An excellent debate program was rendered on Friday evening. The interesting and popular subject—Resolved, "That the Monroe Doctrine Should be Abandoned," was well prepared and the arguments forcefully presented. Messrs. Kerr, Clark and Grossman held to the affirmative side of the question, while Messrs. Wood, Putney and Pritchard very capably brought forward strong arguments in support of the negative. The rebuttal speeches were delivered by Messrs. Pritchard and Kerr. The judges, Miss Kern and Mr. Shearer, after due deliberation, decided in favor of the negative. The house voted negatively on the merits of the question. Mr. Weiss sang a very pretty solo and a Girls' Chorus, Miss McMenamin, leader, sang two numbers. Mr. Hain presented an excellent Review, which was much enjoyed by the audience. Mr. Derr gave the critic's report. Under voluntary exercises, the Society was favored with a few remarks by Mr. M. W. Vost, '15.

Zwing was pleased to welcome into active membership Miss Miriam Adele Conrad, of Reading, Pa.; Miss Lillian Zol Rayser, of Royersford, Pa.; and Miss Marion R. Thomas, of Norristown.

On the Campus

A mission study class, conducted under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., will be organized during the coming week. Mormonism in its various aspects will be the subject for discussion. It is hoped that a large number of the men of the college will avail themselves of the opportunity of becoming informed on a subject which concerns North America.

A meeting of the Press Club will be held on Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock in the History Room, Bomberger Hall. At this meeting permanent officers will be chosen and a constitution will be adopted. All those interested in the organization are urged to be present. The investigating committee which was appointed at the last meeting reports that the project is being favorably received by the students of the institution.

Through the medium of the bulletin board we have been apprised of the fact that State College offers annually six fellowships as a preparation for college teaching. Each of these fellowships is valued at six hundred dollars and is open to the men and women graduates of any college of good standing. In return for the stipend the holder must render a limited number of hours' service in class room or laboratory work. One fellowship is offered in each of the Schools of Agriculture, Engineering, Liberal Arts, Mining, Natural Science and Home Economics.

A new book case, which can be locked, has been placed in the library for the purpose of keeping the reference books from disappearing at times when they are most needed.

The Y. W. C. A. gave a reception on Thursday afternoon in Olevian Hall to Miss Seesholz, one of the field secretaries of the Y. W. C. A. Movement. During the two days that she spent with the local association she gave a number of suggestions for the celebration of the jubilee which marks the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the international organization and which is being celebrated everywhere at this time.

During the "Week of Prayer" the members of the Y. W. C. A. endeavored to carry out the purpose of the week by holding in their respective halls, fifteen minute meetings each day.

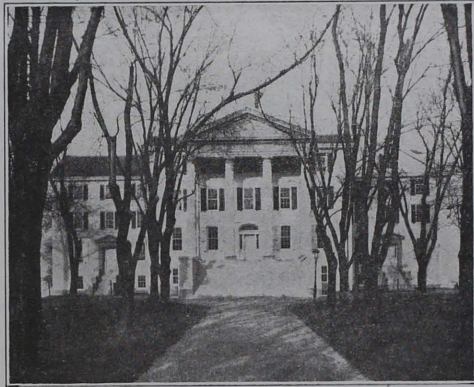

Miss Slinghoff, '18, spent a pleasant week-end at the home of Miss Rosen, '18, in Spring City, Pa.

Miss Lattell, '19, was confined to Shreiner Hall several days last week on account of an attack of the grippe.

BUCKNELL SMOTHERS URSINUS' ATTACK

Bucknell Too Strong for Ursinus; Schaffner Stars for Visitors

Outclassed in every department of the game the Ursinus tossers bowed to the clever Bucknell five in a hard fought contest in Thompson Field Cage on Thursday evening to the tune of 31 to 12.

Bucknell presented by far the best working combination that has appeared at Ursinus this season. Their team was heavy and exceedingly well balanced, and their team work throughout the game showed the effects of excellent coaching. At no time did the members of this team exhibit any desire for individual glory.

Ursinus secured the first score when Light caged a goal from the free line after Bucknell had committed a foul. Immediately following this Bucknell took the lead and maintained it throughout the game. Although Ursinus was off color in this contest, and ordinarily would have given her enemy a harder struggle, it cannot be said that she should have won the game. Her every attempt to stop the visitors' scoring seemed of no avail, and Bucknell continued to add to her lead while Ursinus was unable to materially increase her tally. The visitors were effective in both offensive and defensive tactics; the one shown by her ability to score, the other proved by the fact that during the first half Ursinus was held without a field goal.

The second half began with a 16-3 score. Ursinus came back somewhat stronger this half and, for a time, threatened to gain on their opponents, but Bucknell's defense soon shattered her hopes and they again began to score with disheartening regularity. Despite the determined efforts of the Ursinus players to cut down Bucknell's lead, they seemed helpless to accomplish their purpose. Light and Adams scored the only field goals for Ursinus during the second half.

The entire Bucknell team played an excellent game, but Schaffner, who secured six double pointers, starred.
