LAFAYETTE YIELDS TO URSINUS' ATTACK

Local Boys Register First Athletic Victory Over Lafayette

The Ursinus cage artists tossed 'em in from all angles Saturday night when they forced a great surprise on Lafayette's quintet by defeating her on her own floor. Score, 22-21. This is Ursinus' first athletic victory over the Eastonians, although two years ago a 7-7 football battle was waged between the two institutions.

The local boys had the better of the deal throughout the contest. The first half, during which Lafayette was unable to tally a single field goal, ended with the score 12-6. It was during the last three minutes of play that Lafayette began to assert some authority but was unable to entirely overcome the Red, Old Gold and Black representatives.

Line-up:

Ursinus		Lafayette
Light	forward	Troxell
Wiest	forward	Anderson
Kerr	center	Luhr
Schaub	guard	Taylor
Havard	guard	Weldon

Field goals—Light, 3; Kerr, 2; Schaub, 2; Anderson, 3; Luhr, Taylor, 2. Foul goals—Light, 8 out of 15; Troxell, 9 out of 12. Referee—Synyer. Scorer—Adams. Time of halves—20 minutes.

LAST HOME GAME WON BY 'VARSITY

A large crowd witnessed the last home game of the season in Thompson Cage on Thursday evening in which the Ursinus five trounced Susquehanna to the tune of 41-29. The game was exceedingly fast and at times rough, many fouls being committed on both sides. Both teams fumbled the ball frequently, due probably to insufficient light. The shooting was mediocre.

Immediately after the first whistle, Hostetter started the scoring by his sensational basket from mid-floor. Havard then stole the march on him by returning the favor, thus tying the tally. After this things took a turn decidedly in favor of Susquehanna. Two baskets by Shannon and one by Middlesworth, while Ursinus was unable to score, made things

BIEDERWOLF PARTY CONDUCTS SERVICES

Large Audience Grooms Evangelist in Bomberger Hall on Tuesday

On Tuesday morning, from 10.30 to 11.30 o'clock, Dr. W. E. Biederwolf and party conducted services in the auditorium of Bomberger Hall. A large audience, consisting of students and members of the faculty of the college, students of the Collegeville High School and townspeople, greeted the evangelistic party, which is conducting a very successful campaign in the tabernacle, Marshall and Markley Streets, Norristown, Pa.

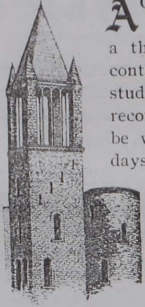

President G. L. Omwake, after speaking of the great work of the Biederwolf party, introduced Dr. Biederwolf who then assumed charge of the meeting, he, in turn, introducing the members of his party. A male trio opened the program with a sacred selection of great merit, after which Mrs. Marie F. Brake gave a reading, Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar," with much expression. The next number was a very pretty selection by the National Male Quartet, composed of Messrs. Bachemeyer, Heaton, Sluyster and Roberts.

Dr. Biederwolf delivered a brief address on "The Principle of Living." He said in part: "You give me your definition of life and I will give you your definition of success. Life is something more than a career; life is a mission. God has you here for a purpose. Let us lay aside every weight. The captain of the opposing force of your life knows your weak point and that is where he strikes. You need all the grace of womanhood and you need all the strength of manhood, and the power of God's help in addition, to make you strong.

"Run with patience the race that is set before you. We have too many members of the 'Sons of Rest' in our colleges today. Give yourselves to your studies and opportunities. In our colleges where races are run, two or three prizes are awarded; run the good race of life to the end, then each one will receive a prize. Do your best, live for God and run your life with patience. Look unto Him. Every college student needs two things; namely, intelligent conviction and the courage of his con-

The Tower Window

A GAIN the college has had to deal with a threatened epidemic of contagious disease. Two students, both of whom are recovering and will soon be well, are under thirty days' quarantine, one in her home and the other in one of the college buildings. For a period of ten days, all others in this building had to submit to strict quarantine. Except for careful handling of the situation, the entire college would have been placed under complete quarantine for fifteen days.

The location of Ursinus College is naturally healthful. We used to point with pride to the many years in which serious sickness was unknown to the place. In recent years, however, outbreaks of disease have not been uncommon. This is probably due to the fact that students travel about more freely than in the earlier years. The facility of travel nowadays makes it possible for many students to visit their homes occasionally between vacation. Quite a number are regularly five-day students going to their homes every week-end. The germs of disease are thus conveyed to the college and outbreaks follow. It does not seem likely that in the future we can look for relief. With the number of students growing steadily, and travel and intercourse with the outside world constantly increasing, the evil will rather become more of a menace.

What needs to be done is to equip ourselves to cope with sickness and to prevent epidemics. Ursinus College ought to be provided with an infirmary. A building properly equipped for this purpose, would not only yield comfort and health to those who fall sick, but it would be the means of isolating all contagious diseases and thus saving the college at large from the danger of their spreading.

It is estimated that an infirmary of sufficient capacity for our institution could be provided for about $7,500. Will not some one see in this an opportunity for a fine piece of practical philanthropy? All gifts to the cause of education are noble, and doubly so is a gift to a college for the special object of alleviating suffering, obviating disease, and preserving the public health.

THE GERMAN WAR MACHINE

LEO I. HAIN, '17

One of the most important parts of the organization is the question of transportation. Hannibal's campaign against Caesar and Napoleon's central European wars owed their success in a great measure, if not wholly, to their quickness of motion. This applies about tenfold in modern warfare. In actual armament the leading powers of Europe are practically on a par, there being little difference in the individual prowess of French, Russian, English and German soldiers. This is well known to military experts. The difference is mainly a question of discipline, technique, and preparedness, the main factor being the ability to throw the greatest number of troops in the shortest possible time against the enemy at any given point, without exhausting man and beast unnecessarily and enervating the country to be traversed. It is therefore necessary to have numerous arteries of traffic at disposal.

Only in a country where all railroads, highways, and waterways, and where post and telegraph are owned and controlled by the state is it possible to evolve and perfect a system of transportation such as is at the disposal of the German General Staff. Practically 90 per cent. of all the railway officials are ex-soldiers. Five minutes after the signing of mobilization orders by the Emperor, the whole of the railroad system is under direct military control. Specially trained transportation and railway experts on the general staff then take over the direction of affairs. Elaborate time tables and transportation cards are in readiness to put into operation on the instant of mobilization, superseding the civil time tables of peace. Theoretically and practically the schedules are tested twice a year, during the big maneuvers. The same applies to waterways and highways of the Empire.

Napoleon's dictum that an army marches on its stomach is as true to-day as it was then, adequate provision for man and beast being the most important factor in military science. It becomes a serious problem in the event of war, especially to a country like Germany, which is somewhat dependent on outside resources, for the feeding of her millions. The authorities, quite aware of a possible blockading and consequent stoppage of imports, have made preparations with their usual thorough German completeness. At any given time there is sufficient foodstuff for man and beast in state storehouses and the large private concerns to feed the entire German army for twelve months. Once a year these storehouses are overhauled and the perishable or deteriorating provisions replaced.

Without doubt the most important division of the General Staff and upon whose information and efforts the whole machine hinges is the Intelligence department, really covering many different fields—for instance, general science, especially strategy, topography, ballistics, but mainly the procuring of information, data, plans, maps, etc., kept more or less secret by other powers. In this division the brightest young officers and general officials are found. The training and knowledge required of these men in this service are exacting to a degree. It requires in most cases the undivided attention—often a life study—to a single subject.

It has been the unswerving policy of the Prussian military authorities to know as much of the rest of the European countries as they know of their own. To-day there is not a country in Europe of which there are not the most elaborate charts and maps docketed in the archives of the General Staff. The authorities also keep track of all inventions likely to be made use of in the War Machine. The aerial weapon has been perfected to a great extent by them. Germany without doubt has the most up-to-date aerial fleet in the world in addition to a powerful navy and an unconquerable army.

Thus by means of vigilant observation and systematic regulation, the Germans have obtained wonderful efficiency and unity of military strength. Although having achieved world leadership in many fields of science, commerce and industry, Germany's fondest hope lies in the perfection and recognition of her war machine.

Rev. Carl G. Petri, '00, of Glenmont, Ohio, delivered the pulpits of the Telford, Pa. charge last Sunday.

Rev. William A. Reimert, '01, and wife, have returned to Rochester, Minn., where Mrs. Reimert will undergo a third operation in the Mayo Brothers' Hospital. They hope to sail for Yochow, China, at the earliest possible date.

Amherst will not play Dartmouth in football this coming fall, according to the present schedule. This is the first time in many years that these two teams have not met.

Among the Colleges

Franklin and Marshall announces the great success of the honor system after the first exams held since the institution of the new plan.

After having much trouble with dishonest work in recent exams, Lafayette Faculty has declared in favor of an honor system, and a favorable sentiment is being fostered in the student body.

A series of acts of vandalism have been going on at Lafayette recently which resemble greatly the acts committed some years ago by Professor Stephens, who burned down Parder Hall in an outbreak of insanity. The Professor first showed signs of his mental aberrations by putting tar on chapel seats and cutting ivy off the buildings. The recent acts include a temporary disablement of the pipe organ, broken windows, and stolen furniture.

Lafayette students cut 8,583 classes during the past semester, according to the Registrar's statistics. This does not include absence from chapel, church, and gymnasium, which it is estimated, would bring the total up to nearly 20,000.

Mr. Raymond Robins, one of the foremost social and civic experts in the country, conducted a series of evangelistic services at Penn State from February 7 to 11 with notable results. One thousand five hundred students packed the college auditorium for the four successive nights and 484 of them voluntarily decided to link up their lives with the religious basic dynamic which Mr. Robins preached and lives.

Alumni Banquet at Philadelphia

The sixteenth annual banquet of the Ursinus College Association of Philadelphia was held last Friday evening at the Adelphia Hotel. At seven o'clock the guests, about eighty in number, entered the Green Room of the hotel to the strains of an orchestra. The tables were arranged in the form of a quadrangle occupying the whole of the room and presenting a spaciousness and degree of comfort that was very agreeable to the diners.

The president of the association, the Rev. Edgar R. Appenzeller, '00, opened the speechmaking by calling on all to unite in singing the Campus Song. The author of these lines, which are familiar to every son and daughter of Ursinus who have gone through college within the past fifteen years, the Rev. Carl G. Petri, '00, was present and, at the request of the chairman, led in the singing.

In his characteristically genial manner, Mr. Appenzeller presented the speakers. The Miss Rhea E. Duryea, '08, spoke on the "Women Graduates' Association." W. R. Gerges, '11, our popular athletic director, discussed athletics and made an earnest appeal to all graduates to exert themselves in winning students of athletic ability for Ursinus.

Mr. H. E. Paisley, president of the Board, made a stirring address representing "The Directors," asking all friends of the college "to prepare," "to cooperate" and "to advance" in promoting the interests of our college.

President Isaac Sharpless of Haverford College, the guest of honor, spoke instructively of "Modern College Problems." Dr. Sharpless's views were warmly appreciated by the graduates and friends of Ursinus.

The closing address was by President Omwake, who discussed the "Program of Further Development," to which the college is committed. At the conclusion of his remarks, he stated that all that he had said was now in print and would be ready for distribution from his office next morning. Alumni who should like to become acquainted with the proposed plans which will engage the energies of the president and directors during the next five years, may have a copy of the pamphlet on application. Miss Viola Brodbeck delighted everyone in a number of magnificent vocal solos.

The gathering was considered by those present as probably the best ever held by the Philadelphia association. However, there are many graduates residing in the city and its vicinity who were not present. Miss Duryea, in her address, noted the fact that she was the only woman graduate in attendance.

The officers for the coming year are: President, F. H. Hobson, '03; vice president, Henry W. Mathieu, '11; secretary and treasurer, Mayne R. Longstreth, '89. E. R. Appenzeller, '00, was added to the executive committee.

CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATIONS

There was a joint meeting of the Christian organizations of the college in the chapel on Wednesday evening. Dr. Omwake was the speaker and he delivered a very inspiring and helpful address. He based his remarks on I Corinthians 12-31. "But covet earnestly the best gifts: and yet shew I unto you a more excellent way." He said in part: "We all seek to develop our physical life. We find our defective and weak points and attempt to correct these by gymnastic training in order to bring ourselves in conformity with the normal physical condition. This method of physical development is good, but there is a more excellent way; that is, development in the open air which leads us into the larger realm of nature.

"The form of scholarship in our intellectual life usually consists of mastering a subject; we make ourselves master of the text book; we seem to realize our ambitions intellectually when we know the subject and make high grades. There is a more excellent way in the intellectual life; that is, think of some subject as an ideal. Relate the things you know to the realm of knowledge of the universe. Become a willing servant to your subject and not a servile pursuer.

"We all seek the religious virtues. Some of us seek the best gifts but get no further. Such a person finds life one of annoyance and the world seems to be at discord with him. It is a narrow, uninteresting Christian life. The more excellent Christian life is the life of freedom and unselfishness. It is the life that appropriates the best gifts to the service of all mankind. It is the taking of these gifts and laying them at His feet and saying, 'Lord, what will Thou have me to do?' A Christian of this type does everything as God would do it, out of pure love for God. There is no sacrifice to him who follows the more excellent way. We must rise up so we do not see things with a human vision; we must look at the world from God's viewpoint."

To Renovate History Room

At its recent monthly business meeting the Historical-Political Group prepared extensive plans for the overhauling of the history room in Bomberger Hall. It is the plan of the group to tint the walls, stain and varnish the woodwork, gilt the radiators, add a few pictures and maps and in fact do anything else that may be necessary to make the room pleasant and attractive.

The group appropriated $15 of this year's dues for the purpose in the hope that graduates who have gone out from the group will supplement this amount by additional subscriptions. Several checks from graduates of the college, ranging from one to ten dollars, have been received. Others will doubtless follow, for both the students now in college and the alumni are taking a hearty interest in this commendable project. If this article is read by an alumnus of the college and a member of the group he is invited to send in his subscription to Samuel S. Gulick, Treasurer of the Group, or to Professor Arthur H. Hirsch, Advisor. Do it now! Pin a check to a letter head and send it in.

On Thursday next, the entire program of Founders' Day, as arranged for February 17, which was printed in the WEEKLY of February 7, will be carried out.

On Tuesday, March 14, Coach Griffith will meet all baseball candidates in the Thompson Cage at 4 o'clock.

Literary Societies

Zwinglian Society

The first inter-class debate of the year was staged on Friday evening, when the Freshmen clashed with the Sophomore representatives.

Messrs. Yaukey, May and Savage, of the Freshman class, debated the affirmative side of the question, Resolved, "That military training should be made compulsory in the colleges and universities of the United States." The negative side was taken care of by Miss Craft and Messrs. Putney and Grossman.

Prof. Yost, Prof. Dimon, and Mr. E. S. Moser, editor of the Collegeville Independent, acted in the capacity of judges and decided for the negative. The decision of the house on the merits of the question favored the affirmative. After the decision had been made, a lively and spirited general debate was indulged in by at least a dozen members of the Society.

The musical numbers of the program were a vocal trio by Derr, Pritchard and Hain, with Derr as leader, and an instrumental trio by Misses Brant, Shoemaker and Butler. A witty Review was read by Mr. Hain, and Mr. Pritchard followed with a criticism of the evening's program.

Schaff Society

The program of Schaff Society on Friday evening was general literary in nature. The first number was a piano duet by Misses Seiz and Rosen. This was followed by a well prepared essay on the Life of Robert Burns, by Mr. Bartman. Miss Wickersham then recited Burns', "A Man's a Man for A' That." Miss Chandler read from Burns. Miss Schweigert read a most excellent essay on the Life of Charles Lamb. Following this number, Miss Reifsnieder read one of Lamb's Essays. The Society was now favored with a most pleasing violin solo by Mr. Paladino. An essay on the Life of Mark Twain was read by Mr. Rutledge. This essay showed careful preparation. Mr. Krekstein recited Mark Twain's well known toast on "Babies." Mr. Krekstein showed the Society that he was a reciter of exceptional ability. This number was followed by a reading from Mark Twain, "How Tom Sawyer Whitewashed the Fence," by Mr. B. Gingerich. This was one of the best numbers on the program. The Society enjoyed several selections by the Schaff Orchestra. Mr. Kichline delivered a well written oration on "Preparedness." Miss Faulkner read a most entertaining Gazette, following which Mr. H. Gingrich gave the Critic's Report.

Alumni Notes

Rev. Samuel Glover Dunseath, A. M., '10, one of the assistant clergy of St. George's Church, New York City, has been appointed to represent Ursinus College at the inauguration of Frank Dickinson Blodgett, A. M., as president of Adelphi College, Brooklyn, on April 7, 1916.

The University Inspector of high schools for the state of Michigan is authority for the statement that of the one hundred and twenty superintendents in that state, five are graduates of Ursinus College.

George R. Ensminger, '14, is about to close a very successful basketball season at the South River High School, South River, N. J. To date, he has won twelve out of fifteen games, the best season South River has had in years. "The College Junior," the play which was staged by the Malverne High School Literary Society, of Lynbrook, N. Y., was coached by Paul E. Elicker, '14, teacher of Mathematics in the above mentioned high school. The New Era of Lynbrook comments on the play as follows: "When Mr. Elicker, who has had charge of the annual plays since his arrival at Malverne, said that this year's play would surpass the success of 1915, it seemed almost impossible. He certainly has placed the standard of Malverne High School's plays very high and deserves much credit for the able manner in which he has taken charge of 'The College Junior.'" look bad for the local boys. The score now stood four to one in favor of the visitors, but goals by Wiest, Havard and Light placed Ursinus only a single point behind her opponents. Light shot one from the free line and the score was tie. An excellent pass, the length of the floor from Kerr to Havard, who succeeded in caging a basket, placed Ursinus for the first time in the lead, and she held this throughout the game. The game was closely contested during the remaining minutes of the first half which ended 17-12 in favor of Ursinus.

During the second half, Ursinus clearly outplayed Susquehanna. Light, who had not played his usual brilliant game during the first half came back strong and secured three baskets, as did also Schaub who played one of the best games of his career at Ursinus. The foul shooting of both teams was much improved during this period over that of the first half. For Susquehanna Middlesworth caged 9 out of 11 chances, while Light secured 6 out of 9.

Shannon, who shot four goals from the field for the visitors, and Swope, who played a fast floor game, excelled for Susquehanna. The guards, Schaub and Havard, each with three goals to their credit, did the best work for Ursinus.

viction. Every young woman should have an intelligent conviction as to the propriety of certain ways of dressing; every young man should have an intelligent conviction as to the propriety of smoking cigarettes. If you know it is harmful, desist from the practice. Every young man and woman should have an intelligent conviction of the person in history known as the Christ. When we have the conviction, then let us have the courage of it. Let the 'bunch' do what it will, get a conviction and have courage!"

After the very helpful and uplifting talk of Dr. Biederwolf, Dr. E. F. Wiest, '93, offered prayer. The quartet again delighted the audience with a selection. Burgess Saul, of Norristown, who accompanied the party to Collegeville, then spoke briefly. He extended a cordial invitation to everyone to come to Norristown to attend the services in the tabernacle. Dean W. A. Kline pronounced the benediction.

Reservation has been secured in the tabernacle at Norristown for a large delegation from the college which will be present at the Tuesday evening service.

F. & M. will be represented in the twenty-fourth annual inter-collegiate oratorical contest to be held at Ursinus by Mr. C. L. Martin of the Senior Class.

Paul D. "Judge" Endicott, '16, has been elected captain of the 1916 football squad at Swarthmore. Many Ursinus students will remember the splendid game put up by the big right guard at Collegeville last fall.

Agitation is being made at Penn State to abolish the class scraps. A substitute has been suggested in the form of a "Moving-up Day" to be held near the end of the year, with suitable exercises to mark the transition of the classes. Athletic contests, the awarding of 'Varsity insignia, the distribution of the Class Book, burial of Freshman caps, etc., are some of the features suggested for this day.
