FRESHMAN CLASS ENTERTAINS JUNIORS

Annual Reception Affords an Evening of Enjoyment for All

Last Monday evening, an informal reception was tendered the Juniors by the Freshmen in the Thompson Memorial Field Cage. The spacious building was tastily decorated for the occasion with the colors and pennants of both classes. Branches and blossoms of all kinds were in evidence and added to the rustic setting of the affair.

Some of the Sophomores and their adherents, by their playful antics, also aided materially in making the evening a success. The Freshmen had forgotten to invite them, inadvertently no doubt, and this so aroused the child like natures of the "Sophs" that they cut the electric light wires. The Freshmen, ever alert, had provided for just such an emergency and the program went on without interruption. It is to be regretted, however, that the Sophomores had to adopt such a method, especially after they had been permitted to give their reception without molestation.

Mr. John K. Johnson, the President of the Freshman class, was introduced by Mr. Richard M. Sands, the Chairman of the Reception Committee, and to whom much credit for the success of the evening is due. Mr. Johnson welcomed the Juniors and, in behalf of his class, expressed appreciation for the kindly interest which the Juniors have taken in them as Freshmen. Mr. Herbert C. Hoover, the Junior President, thanked the Freshmen for their good will manifest in this occasion and expressed a desire that the friendly relations between the two classes might continue. Other numbers on the program were: Piano Duet, Misses Rhoads and Craft; Vocal Solo, Mr. G. A. Deitz; Recitation, Miss Slinghoff; Violin Solo, Mr. Lape; Vocal Solo, Mr. R. E. Wilhelm.

After several hours of merriment and laughter, delightful refreshments were served by those in charge. These were enjoyed by all and quite naturally were "the hit" of the evening. The invited guests were Professor and Mrs. J. W. Clawson and Miss Enola M. Lewis.

VARSITY SPLITS EVEN ON FOREIGN SOIL

Reserves Defeat Phoenixville High and Lose to St. Luke's

In a well played game Ursinus College defeated Mercersburg on the latter's grounds on Friday afternoon by a score of 4 to 1. The game was featured by the heavy hitting and exceptional fielding of the Ursinus players. Although Mercersburg found Ziegler for several hits, his support prevented them from scoring.

It was in the third round that Mercersburg, through two singles and a sacrifice, secured their lone run. Ursinus began scoring in the first inning. Kennedy's single, Rupp's error, and Mitterling's two-bagger netted two runs. The next score was registered in the fifth, when Adams singled and scored on Johnson's triple. The final run was scored in the seventh inning. Adams again started off with a single, and it was Mitterling who sent him across the rubber with a slashing three-bagger.

Kennedy and Mitterling excelled in hitting for Ursinus; the former having three singles to his credit; the latter finding Gibson for a triple, a double and a single. Johnson, Adams and Miller also hit hard.

On Saturday afternoon the Varsity fell before the strong Dickinson College team at Carlisle by the score of 3 to 2. Johnson pitched a fine game for Ursinus, holding Dickinson to seven scattered singles, but his support was poor, being responsible for all of Dickinson's scores. Vaughn did excellent work on the mound for the opponents. The game was featured by the pitching of Johnson and Vaughn, Stugart's home run and Johnson's triple.

Ursinus bunched hits in the fifth inning, when, with two down, Peterson singled, and Stugart followed with an easy homer, registering two runs for Ursinus. Dickinson scored her three runs in the fourth, sixth and eighth innings.

The Ursinus Reserves defeated the Phoenixville High School team at Phoenixville on Thursday afternoon by a 5 to 3 score. Kerr, who made his debut on the mound in this game, did excel-

Y. M. C. A. TO HOLD FAIR AND SHOW

Bomberger to be a Mecca of Laughter and Fun Next Saturday Evening

During the past week placards, announcing the fact that the Y. M. C. A. would hold "A Big Fair and Show" on Saturday evening, May 22, have made their appearance about the college and throughout the town. Perhaps there are some who are not familiar with the workings of the Y. M. C. A., and therefore do not fully appreciate the significance and importance of the coming event. To those and to all supporters of the Y. M. C. A. at Ursinus we wish to make some explanation.

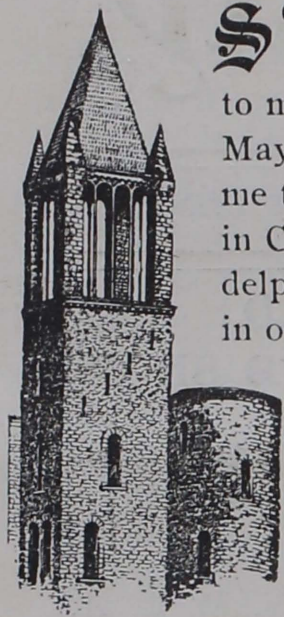

Among the several committees of the Y. M. C. A. there is one designated as the "Conference Committee." It has been and still is the duty of this committee to devise means whereby sufficient funds may be collected to send delegates from our Y. M. C. A. to the summer conference held annually at Eaglesmere. In order to raise this money various methods have been employed from time to time, and this year the committee has a large supply of useful household articles which they wish to dispose of. These articles are neither remnants nor second-hand products, but the contributions of the large manufacturing firms of the country, who have been appealed to for assistance. They will interest both the students and the people of the town, and we are told that some splendid bargains will be offered on Saturday evening.

In addition to this, a farce, similar to the one given at the Valentine Fete will be staged. Mr. Deininger, who coached the Junior play so successfully will be in charge and a rare treat is promised all who attend. Refreshments of the daintiest sort will also be on hand to tickle the palate of the most fastidious.

The success of the enterprise depends on you, and each one should consider it a privilege to assist in such a worthy cause. The coming event deserves your support just as much as does the Athletic Association or the Lecture Course, for it is through these delegates, who receive inspiration by contact with other

The Tower Window

United States.

The fact alone of bringing together in a meeting so large a body of men of alien birth who had, within a few months, sworn allegiance to our Republic would have constituted a situation rich in soul-stirring sentiment.

The unforeseen coincidence that the meeting should be held at a time when the relations of our nation with the older countries across the sea should be subject to severe strain due to an extraordinary act of war which resulted in the destruction of more than a hundred precious American lives, created an atmosphere for the meeting that was electric in its potentiality.

The one feature needed to cap the climax of the dramatic features was the fact that the President of the United States was to make the principal address. No wonder all eyes were on him and that when he spoke there was such quiet that one could almost hear the heart-beat of the thousands of eager listeners. His first remark was that although he appreciated the ovation he was given he was not thinking of himself. This was not true of his hearers. Seldom has popular interest in a speaker been so intense. As I sat near him, I could not do otherwise than contemplate his personality.

The President unquestionably possesses the qualities of true greatness. In the first place, every act reflects the good breeding bestowed upon him in his youth and conserved in an atmosphere of culture and refinement in his later life. He is so much a gentleman that no one ventures to accost him with nicknames or vulgar appellations. On the other hand his manner is not forbidding. One simply feels that he must be at his best in his presence.

What the President said on this occasion had a similar effect on the thought of his hearers. One who might have felt that he had given honest and earnest thought to the question of our national policy readily yielded his views if they were in any respect contradictory to those of the speaker because of the constraining and convincing power of his intellect. This with the sincere and unequivocal moral position taken by our Chief Magistrate makes him a leader in whom the people may readily place their confidence.

Educational Meeting.

The community about Colledgeville was accorded a rare privilege on Wednesday evening, when the Philadelphia Classis of the Reformed Church, which convened in Trinity church during the past week, conducted an educational meeting in Bomberger Hall. On this occasion no less than three college Presidents were in attendance, namely, Dr. H. H. Apple of Franklin and Marshall, Dr. W. F. Curtis of the Allentown College for Women, and Dr. G. L. Omwake of Ursinus. The first two made addresses and each made a strong plea for higher education. Those present enjoyed two scholarly addresses and it is to be regretted that so few of the students took advantage of the opportunity to attend.

Dr. Curtis spoke on "The Higher Education of Women," and brought out the following facts: "Female education has made great strides during the past two decades, but unfortunately few of the girls of the Reformed denomination are taking a college course. God has placed something worth while in the hearts of our girls, and it is the province of the church to develop that something. It is our duty to perfect their character so that they may become positive factors in their own communities."

Dr. Apple followed Dr. Curtis, and said in substance: "The function of every President of an educational institution is the same as that of every minister, that is, the making of men and women. It is a hard task, and those who are conscious of their sacred responsibility frequently become very lonesome under the weight of their heavy burden. He made a strong plea for the all-around development of the youth and emphasized the fact that the chief defect of the educational age is the failure to cultivate the imagination,"

Editorial

The final examination schedule is posted—a significant statement—which vividly brings to our attention the closing of another collegiate year.

The students who have faithfully performed the tasks which were required of them from day to day will enter upon this season of examinations in a whole-hearted manner, feeling a sense of satisfaction in having acquired a store of new knowledge which will be of permanent value to them.

On the other hand, the student who has procrastinated during the year will have a conscious feeling that he is unequal to the task, and, realizing this fact, must resort to "cramming," wherein lies only temporary value, to attain a passing grade. The sentiments of a student of this type are well expressed in the following:

"The melancholy nights have come,
The saddest of the year,
When once again the dread exams
Their victims haunt and jeer."

A college course, to a student who conducts himself in this fashion during his college days, means little, and the sad feature connected with it is that he realizes it only after he has taken his place in the busy affairs of life and finds that he is unable to cope with his superior comrades. Thus, in this great educational age of ours, we can readily see that the requirements are most stringent, and much is demanded of us in the realms of specialization if we are to be recognized and placed in positions of responsibility. However, we feel certain that the students of our college represent the nobler class, in fact, those who have been sent from these classic walls bear testimony to this statement. We are proud that our scholastic standard rests on such an elevated plane.

It behooves us now to gather together those threads of knowledge, which we have assimilated during the year, and weave them into a unified product that we may be able to show, in the near future, the result of careful and efficient preparation in the work which we have undertaken.

Lecture on John Huss

Professor James I. Good, D. D., LL. D., has been invited to deliver his lecture on John Huss before the professors and students of the college on Friday, May 28 at 9.00 o'clock. The year 1915 marks the five hundredth anniversary of the martyrdom of Huss. Doctor Good has prepared a lecture containing much material not found in the histories, commemorative of the event. On invitation he has delivered it at a number of the theological seminaries of the country, and has consented to do so in our own college.

Dr. James I. Good will celebrate the fortieth anniversary of his ordination on June 13, in Heidelberg church of York, Pa., where he was ordained and served his novitiate in the ministry. Rev. E. F. Wiest, D. D., '93, is the present pastor.

Y. M. C. A.

"The Wise Use of Time" was the subject that commanded the attention of the Y. M. C. A., on Wednesday evening. Derr, '16, was the leader and discussed the subject in a very forceful and practical way.

He said in part: "This subject especially applies to the college man. We are sent to college primarily to get an education. Our parents in many instances, are making sacrifices; therefore, it is our duty to use our time wisely. We should have a system to our work. Have a time for recreation and a time for work. Too much time is wasted in idle talk and low pursuits.

"Human life is a watch tower. Let each one of us take a stand upon the same and look, listen and learn. Something is always going on about us. We should watch our words in conversation. Our standing and character is judged by the words we use. Again, we should watch our companions and be careful of our actions. Finally, we should watch our hearts. The busy world is prone to forget God. We must not let outside influences take us away from God. We must 'take time to be holy.' One must watch Satan; he would have us forget God. He thinks of wordly life and material gain. He would take us away from close communion with God. Therefore, let us ever be watchful."

Y. W. C. A.

"Controlling Our Manner of Speech" was the very practical topic Miss Shaner chose for the meeting this week. She emphasized how valuable the manner of speech is in estimating people we meet. Yet usually we exercise little care toward acquiring a gentle and pleasing habit of speaking. A common fault of the careless speaker is boasting. Whilst extreme reticence regarding self keeps us aloof from a friend yet a girl who boasts is thoughtlessly straining or preventing friendships in a greater degree by her fundamental selfishness. Lack of care in repeating conversations is another fault. So often our desire for vividness leads us to give a false impression.

In speaking to those for whom we care little we should guard against talking sharply or, on the other hand, against using an unnaturally agreeable tone. The first course is to be condemned for its lack of self-control, the second for its dishonorable insincerity. Fair words ought not serve merely as a cover for ill-feeling or jealousy. We must watch the words we speak even in jest for at times through unintentional misinterpretation, perhaps, they may cause a great deal of harm. Above all we must learn to pardon others who speak carelessly. This is essential just as much as our own efforts for sincerity and consideration of others.

Literary Societies

Zwinglian Society

On Friday evening an interesting debate was the main feature of the program. It was unique, owing to the fact that several young women of the society were participants. The question for discussion was, Resolved: That allowance for pension should be paid from public funds of the state to needy mothers of dependent children. The affirmative side was ably upheld by Misses Brant and Craft, and Mr. Harrity; Misses Sandt and Rogers defended the negative side of the question. Excellent rebuttal speeches were delivered by Misses Craft and Rogers. The judges, Miss Wiest and Mr. Wiest, decided in favor of the negative; the house voted affirmatively. The other numbers on the program were as follows: Piano Solo, Miss Shoemaker; Zwinglian Review, Mr. Bahner; Critic's Report, Mr. M. W. Yost. On next Friday evening a week hence the program will be rendered by the Seniors of the society. The program was announced at this meeting.

Schaff Society

The program of Schaff Society on Friday night was "General Literary." It consisted principally of the lives and works of three writers—Tolstoy, Trollope and Sienkiewicz. Mr. Kichline gave a brief sketch of the life of Lyof Tolstoy. The Declamation from Tolstoy, a part of "The Snowstorm," was well recited by Miss Borneman. Mr. Bemisderfer then gave a Reading from the same writer. The Male Quartet, Mr. P. E. Deitz, leader, performed in a very amusing manner. The Essay on Anthony Trollope by Miss Boorem was well written and well read. Readings from Trollope were then given by Miss Schlichter and Mr. Gobrecht. Miss Shaner, accompanied on the piano by Miss Kneeder, recited "The Soul of the Violin" in a most effective manner. The Essay on Henryk Sienkiewicz, by Mr. Richards, contained an interesting account of his life. The Reading from Sienkiewicz selected from "Tuo Vadis" was read by Mr. Sands. Mr. Yeatts gave a Declamation, "Thanatopsis" by Bryant, in a pleasing manner. The Mock Oration by Mr. Spannuth was most ingenious and clever. The Gazette by Mr. Smith was of a high standard. His oral editorial was very important and calls for action,

On Thursday afternoon at two o'clock the official well report was 225 feet.

President Omwake, Dean Kline and Prof. A. H. Hirsch heard President Wilson deliver an address at Philadelphia on Monday evening.

We regret very much that Dr. Samuel G. Shaw, Secretary of the Alliance of Reformed and Presbyterian churches of World, was unable to reach the college on Wednesday morning in time to address the students at the chapel service. However, during the dinner hour, he gave a short talk in the dining hall, which was very much enjoyed by his hearers.

On Wednesday evening Mr. W. H. Ramsaur, Traveling Secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement, will address the local Y. M. C. A. Come out and give him a rousing reception.

For several days during the past week the Philadelphia Classis was in session at Trinity Reformed Church. Many alumni of the college were in attendance. Quite a number of the ministers and members of Classis took their meals at the college dining hall.

A mass meeting of the student body was held on Tuesday. The following baseball managers were elected for the coming year: Manager, Pritchard, '16; First Assistant, Grove, '17. Yost, '17, was elected Secretary of the Athletic Association. The new constitution on student government was ratified by the students. The new System of electing athletic managers was also accepted.

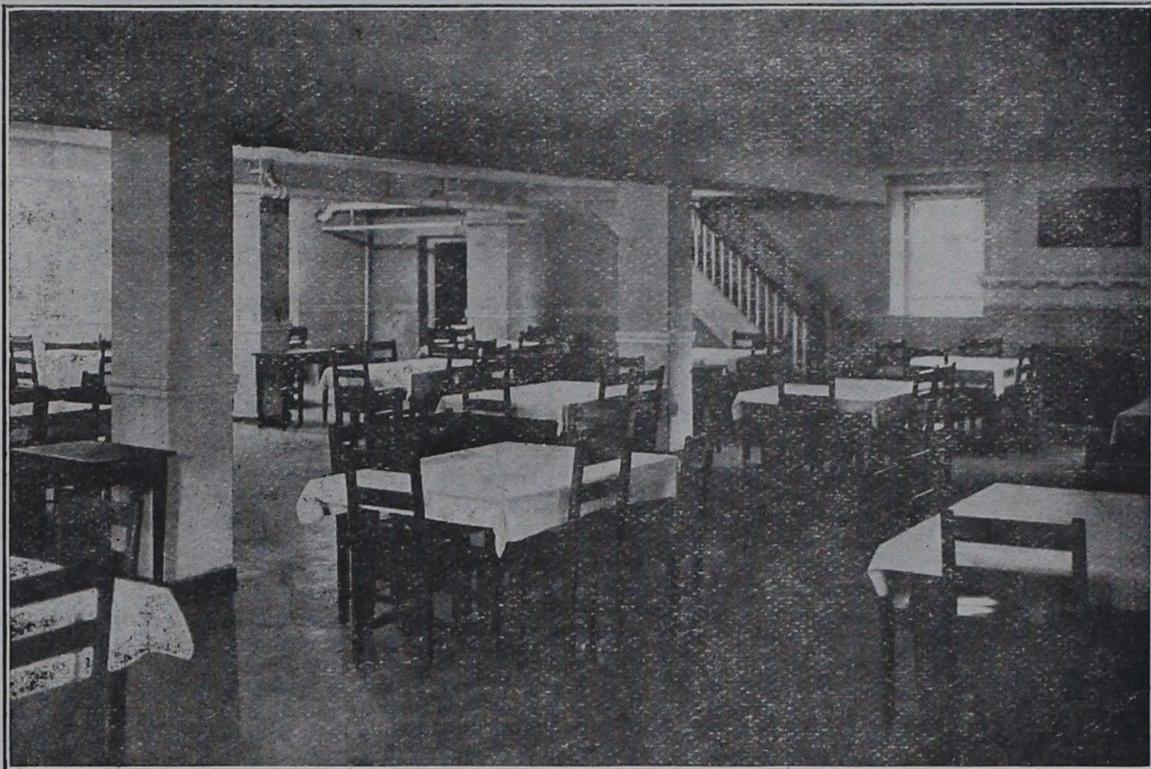

The members of the O-hi-o Suite, Misses Seiz, Paul, Kern and Miller, spent a most enjoyable week-end in Paulsboro at the home of Miss Paul, '16.

The Sophomores did not forget their duty toward the Freshman-Junior reception last Monday evening. They have been feasting on cake ever since that time.

lent work. The victory may be credited to the good all-around playing of the Reserves. Ott, the Phoenixville pitcher and a former Ursinus student, secured three hits off Kerr.

In the second game of the week the Reserves bowed to the strong St. Luke's Club, of Trappe, to the tune of 12 to 6. The heavy hitting of the visitors coupled with the numerous errors of the local boys, was responsible for the defeat. Walt pitched a fine game for St. Luke's.
