VARSITY LOSES TO PRINCETON 3 TO 1

Opponents Win the Game in the Last Two Innings.

On Monday last the Ursinus Varsity traveled to Princeton determined to win a victory. Due to the good showing they had made on the Saturday before the student body as a whole were confident of their success. After holding down the New Jersey nine for seven innings, they were finally nosed out in the last two innings by a score of 3 to 1.

The opposing team had to fight every minute and the defeat was due to a misplay on our part, at a critical time, combined with that characteristic fighting spirit of our opponents which has won for them many hard and important contests.

Johnson twirled a wonderful game and for seven innings had the University boys at his mercy. Wood, for Princeton, pitched an equally good game, and, except for the fourth inning, was invincible.

Princeton began to play real baseball from the start. Hanks, the first man at bat, beat out an infield hit and was advanced to third by Cook's two-bagger. With none out and men on third and second, Hoyt tapped an easy one to Reiff. Reiff and Mitterling ran down Hanks between third and home. Reed, Princeton's heavy hitter, received a pass and filled the bases. At this stage of the game a neat and perfectly executed double play was pulled off. Captain Rhoads hit a grounder to Reiff who threw to Mitterling catching Cook, and Mitterling threw to Boyer catching Rhoads.

In the second inning a tally seemed likely, when Gill, the first man to bat, hit and Law sacrificed him to second. But Johnson struck out the next two men, thus preventing a score.

Ursinus could do nothing with the delivery of Wood until the fourth inning, when Diemer beat out an infield hit with one down. Mitterling followed with a hit, Bedenk fled to Wood, and Johnson brought in Diemer with a clean single to centre field.

The seventh inning proved to be the downfall of the local boys. Wall got on first when he sent a liner to Reiff, was sacrificed to second by Wood, and scored when

THE LIBRARY.

The Library received about thirty-five volumes from the collection of books owned by Mrs. Sarah H. Super. The large part of Dr. Super's library came to the college after his death. Of those which Mrs. Super had kept for her own use this number was received recently by the Library.

Acknowledgment is here made of three volumes prepared by an Ursinus alumnus. John L. Alexander, '01, has made a careful and thorough study of the 'boy problem' and work among boys, in which he has been engaged since his graduation. The result of his work and experience in this field, together with what he has gleaned from others working in the same field, is set forth in the three volumes from his pen: "Boy Training," "The Boy and the Sunday School," and "The Sunday School and the Teens." These volumes he has kindly sent to the Library.

The English department of the college for the prosecution of its work and for necessary reading on the part of the students pursuing the courses in English is in need of the following books:

Masterpieces of English Drama, including Marlowe, Beaumont and Fletcher, Ben Jonson, Middleton, Webster and Tourneur, Congreve, Goldsmith and Sheridan, nine volumes; Perry, The Study of Prose Fiction; Neilson, The Types of English Literature series, three volumes; Lockwood, The Freshman and his College; Masefield, The Everlasting Mercy; Woodbury, The Inspiration of Poetry; Rabindranath Tagore, The Crescent Moon; Hodges, Christianity Between Sundays; Smeaton, The Channels of English Literature, three volumes; Bates, The English Religious Drama; Swift, The Journal to Stella; Hazlitt, Wm., Essays, Camelot series; Mackaye, P., To-morrow.

Any alumnus or friend of the college could render the institution a distinct service by supplying these books or the funds for the purchase of the same. The Librarian will be glad to furnish the prices, as well as lists of books which are much needed in other departments of instruction.

Rev. Loucks, Dean of the Womens College at Allentown, was at the college on Saturday.

STUDENT HELP RENDER CANTATA.

A splendid rendition of the cantata, Light Out of Darkness, by the combined choirs of Trinity Reformed Church of this place and the Lower Providence Presbyterian Church, was given in the first mentioned church on Sunday evening, April 5. Mr. Robinson, '14, conducted the cantata in an able manner and deserves much credit for its success.

The soloists were Misses Snyder, '15, and Vanderslice and Messrs. Small, '14, and Lane. Each one of these persons rendered their parts in a manner entirely acceptable to the large and appreciative audience.

The chorus work though not quite so good as the solo work was nevertheless of a high quality.

Quite a few students also participated in the chorus.

Dr. Smith, professor of English Literature in the college, was the accompanist. Dr. Smith is an accomplished musician and his accompanying of the soloists was especially excellent.

The same cantata, by a slightly different group of singers, was rendered in the Lower Providence Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening last with equal success.

Party at Shreiner Hall.

On Tuesday evening of last week Miss Elbright gave a very delightful and enjoyable party at Shreiner Hall, to which most of the young men who remained in college were invited.

The evening was passed very pleasantly playing games and singing. A part of the evening was spent in making fudge, which added to the enjoyment. Without doubt it was a most successful affair, and, coming at a time when most of the students were leaving, it very well filled a gap in the activities of those whose lot it was to remain.

SCRUBS LOSE TO HAVERFORD

Ursinus Loses Game Through Failure to Hit.

On Tuesday the Ursinus Scrub team opened its season with Haverford Scool at Haverford, and were defeated by the score of 8 to 2.

The boys played well for the first game of the season. Some errors were made and the team work was weak, but these defects will be remedied by practice. With Ziegler and Myers as pitchers, the prospects are good for a successful season.

At 3 o'clock the umpire announced the batteries and the game began, but no one reached base during the first inning. During the second and third Haverford scored three runs, owing to the errors made by the Ursinus men and Bell's three-base hit.

Ursinus sent her first run across the rubber in the fourth when Grove singled, took second on Seaman's sacrifice, stole third, and scored on Schaub's sacrifice to the shortstop.

Myers, the Ursinus pitcher, was replaced by Ziegler in the fourth. Ursinus was unable to score again until the eighth, when Kerr reached first on an error and by base stealing and a sacrifice tallied the final run for Ursinus. However, Haverford managed to hit at opportune times and scored two runs in the fifth and three in the seventh.

EDITORIAL

There is no more inspiring sight than a line of heads bared at the passing of our nation's emblem. Our hearts swell with patriotic pride when the stars and stripes are flung to the air, and each of us springs to his feet as the strains of the "Star Spangled Banner" float upon the air. We are proud to be called Americans and are never ashamed to stand by our colors.

We have termed this feeling of pride "spirit." What we give to our nation can we not share with our college? How sadly lacking is this element at Ursinus. There are many suggestions among the students as to the reasons for the lack of spirit here. Some claim that the faculty is at fault in not recognizing classes. There may be some truth in that. But we believe the students can overcome this detriment by the recognition of classes themselves if they think it will result in the awakening of a better college spirit.

We are not blest with a full stock of tradition as many colleges are which entails close observance by under-graduates. There are a few traditions which are worth retaining and the observance of which will result in more loyalty to our Alma Mater. One of these is the custom of standing up and removing all head covering during the singing of the Campus Song.

The writer has been to Glee Club concerts where many students and alumni have remained seated during the rendition of the Campus Song. He has also observed members of the Club stand in a crowd singing our song with covered heads.

The remark has often been passed that if upper-graduates do not observe this custom we cannot expect under-graduates to do so. It is to be regretted that there are some in our midst so selfish as to have no regard for their influence upon others; but this fact does not excuse any student from his obligation to stand by his college.

Instead of trying to correct everything here at Ursinus beginning with the administrative corps, let us endeavor to do one thing well at a time and soon every one will be filled with a love for Ursinus that will result in complete co-operation between faculty and student body.

The next time the Campus Song is rendition get the kinks out of your legs and stand erect, let the breeze blow through your locks and join heartily in the singing. It will do you good.

There is a phase of athletics which is quite frequently overlooked here in college. That is courtesy to visiting teams. Almost any team which we entertain is going to circulate a report either good or bad about our college, and base their opinion very largely on the treatment they have received.

We do much to create a friendly feeling if we meet the visiting team in a friendly manner and show them about the school buildings. Perhaps we may know some of the players and can take them to our rooms and entertain them.

A good lusty cheer when they come on the campus or in the dining hall, before and after the game will do much to remove any prejudices.

On the athletic field the good plays of both teams should receive liberal applause. Nothing can be more discourteous than to hurl insulting epithets at a visiting player. If an opponent makes an error do not applaud or try in any way to his embarrassment. He no doubt feels bad enough about it already.

Nothing is better than good cheering for the home team, but to show proper spirit does not necessarily mean that rowdyism must be displayed. In fact the schools which are most noted for the spirit they display never indulge in rowdyism of any sort.

Any sort of horseplay in the bleachers is an annoyance to those who want to see and enjoy the game.

A very good plan to follow is to treat each visiting team as we would like to have our own team treated when they go away from home.

 Chirurgical College.

The medical scholarship, held at the present time by Shelhamer, '12, at Medico-Chi, will again be available in 1915. This is a splendid opportunity which should not be overlooked by Ursinus students.

The equipment of this college is thoroughly comprehensive in every department — medicine, dentistry, pharmacy, and chemistry. The situation of its own modern hospital, near a large manufacturing district, insures abundance and variety of cases. Enough laboratories are provided for an effective training in individual technique.

Special features, such as free quizzes, limited ward classes, modern seminar methods and chemical conferences help to make a degree in any department an asset for a professional man to be proud of. Any students desiring any information regarding this scholarship should address the Dean.

Cook hit to centre field. Cook stole second and came home when the next man rolled an easy one to Bedenk who fumbled the ball.

Princeton added another run in the eighth when Reed walked, reached the second bag on Rhoads' sacrifice, and came home when Boyer jugged the ball after Adams tried to catch O'Kane.

Bedenk, Mitterling and Reiff played the best for Ursinus defensively. Kennedy robbed Law of a home run when he made a one-hand catch after a long run. Cook and Hanks played the best for Princeton.

ALUMNI NOTES.

Rev. F. F. Bahner, D. D., '73, of Waynesboro, Pa., has been delivering lectures in his own charge and elsewhere during the last six months. His lectures are records of his travels in Germany and Switzerland. Large audiences have been attending his lectures and have listened to his description of visits to places of interest in Reformed Church history and to the cradle of the Pennsylvania German dialect. Dr. Bahner preached three sermons on his trips across the Atlantic, once in English and twice in German. He also preached in the old Reformed church, which is a thousand years old, near Cassel. Dr. Bahner has been pastor of Trinity Reformed church, Waynesboro, for nearly thirty-seven years, and renewed his youth in Europe through the kindness of his parishioners.

Dr. E. Forrest Bickel, '00, formerly of Shamokin, Pa., has gone to Oshkosh, Wisconsin, where he has purchased an interest in a hospital and will follow up surgical work together with general practice. Before leaving Shamokin, the local medical society tendered Dr. Bickel a testimonial banquet at the Graemer hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Douthett are the proud parents of a baby daughter. Mr. Douthett graduated in the class of 1912 and Mrs. Douthett is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Moser of this place.
