FOOTBALL

WILLIAMSON AND URSINUS.

On Saturday Ursinus had Williamson as her opponent on the home gridiron. This is the second time we met this season. Our boys went to Williamson for the first game of the year, and came back with a score of 6-6. Last Saturday's score tells a far different and happier story. In the first game the plays were yet crude; there was a lamentable lack of teamwork. But in the second game the "boys" played like veterans. They pushed and pulled each other along, charged quick and low, and tackled hard. Their attack was irresistible, their defense impregnable. But no wonder, they were playing in a spirit of revenge, there rankled in the mind of each the sting of defeat, they were goaded on perhaps by adverse criticism recently given and not undeserved.

Captain Price won the toss and decided to receive the kick off. Snyder got the ball and ran it back to the 45 yard line. Trexler went through tackle for 10 yards, Price made 10 around left end, then Faringer fumbled, and a Williamson man fell on the ball on the 40 yard line. Williamson hit the line hard, but did not gain an inch. They tried the tackle but again failed to gain. They then kicked. Beggs caught the ball and squirmed and dodged 15 yards before being downed. Then Rein made 3, Trex. 13, Place failed to gain, Smeck made 2 through tackle, Hain made 5 through center on a hurdle, and Trex. again made 3 around left tackle. Ursinus was then penalized 5 yards for off-side. But Beggs easily made that up on a 15 yard run around right end, and Faringer

SOCIETY NOTES

ZWINGLIAN

On last Friday evening, friends and members of Zwinglian enjoyed a most entertaining program. The hall was strikingly decorated with bunting and the fruits of autumn, and no words were needed to tell even the casual visitor that the occasion was Hallowe'en. The program and the appearance of the room were thoroughly in keeping with each other. After a much appreciated piano-solo by Kerschner, Crunkleton read an original Hallowe'en story. The author had well caught the ghostly spirit of the traditional Hallowe'en and his effort was well received. Miss Long read an entertaining essay on Hallowe'en Legends, and Smeck gave as a reading "The Husking Bee" from Whittier. The other numbers of the program were a recitation by Reisner, a vocal solo by Fry, and a piano duet by Kerschner and Wise. Both the oration by Butz and the Review by Faringer reflected credit upon these departments of the society's work.

After the regular program, addresses were made by Dean Omwake, Prof. Kline and Prof. Meeker. Mr. D. Leslie Stamy of Kauffman, Pa., was elected to active membership.

Following adjournment, guests and members joined in playing Hallowe'en games and in singing college songs. Simple refreshments were served. Upon leaving, all agreed that they had spent an extremely pleasant evening.

SCHAFF

"An evening with Modern Fiction" was the subject of a most entertaining and instructive program in the Schaff. The program was opened with a flute solo by Mr. Heller. This pleasing number was followed by a very carefully written criticism of Churchill's "Crisis" by Mr. Foltz. Taking away much of the shadow which this picture of the care-worn face of Abraham Lincoln had cast came the characteristically funny recitation "The man in the moon" by Mr. Spangler. Mr. Rice then read a well chosen selection from Kipling's "Kim." In telling the story of the "Prisoners of Hope," Mr. Wismer, next gave an excellent, condensed account of Mary C. Johnson's attractive novel. As the first attempt of a new member, the declamation "Plain Language from Truthful James" by Mr. Stewart, showed the substantial qualities of a good worker. Mr. Fegley, followed by reciting a rather difficult selection, "Pan in Wall Street." Possibly the two most enjoyable numbers on the program were the selections from "David Harum" by Mr. Cook and "The Houseboat on the Styx" by Mr. Myers. These selections were exceedingly well chosen and well prepared. A Male Quartette then sang, with many trills and tremors, a distinctly college medley. The orator of the evening was Mr. McCollum, who delivered his admirable oration on "The Realities of Socialism," the oration which has brought two prizes to its author. Still another feature of the evening was the gazette by Miss Duryea. The sense and nonsense of this last number "brought down the house" many times and the program ended with a good last laugh. The society was glad to receive as active members Miss Lida Ebbert, '08, and Mr. Ralph B. Ebbert, '07.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY

It has been the custom for years for the Ursinus girls to give a Hallowe'en party at Olevian, and this year's event proved the best of all. The boys were delighted as well as amused last week when they received invitations to the Hall, written on heavy wrapping paper. The week soon passed and every one was prompt on Monday night. There at the door of Olevian was a bell—an old fashioned dinner bell—rung by pulling on an ear of corn attached to it by a string.

Inside, everything was decorated with corn-stalks, pumpkins and turnips. Jack-o'-lanterns grinned from every corner and the carrots made ideal candle-sticks. Almost everyone was masked and there was much mirth in the efforts to identify friends.

But the masks were soon removed and the games were started. The boys paid compliments to the girls and almonds and the witch's brooms were given as prizes. Several other games were indulged in. Later on mysterious paper bags were passed around, which proved to be a part of the refreshments. Chestnuts, apples and cider were served in abundance.

Then all participated in the Virginia Reel, at the close of which all the lights were extinguished, a large iron kettle was placed in the middle of the room and everyone sat around it. By the ghostly light of the alcoholic flames, the most wierd and startling ghost stories were told amidst the shrieks and groans and moans of the listeners. The college songs were then sung with an enthusiasm greater than that on the football field.

Finally, "Good-night Ladies" was sung, and all arose from the floor and prepared to leave. Many were the expressions of pleasure and with another shaking of hands the party was broken up.

EDITORIAL

An education does not primarily consist of a thorough knowledge of certain text-books which have come to be recognized as authorities in their different fields. The careful study and assimilation of such works are very necessary as an educational foundation. It is upon the facts gleaned from them that we build our thoughts, our notions and our ideals but we ought not to be satisfied with our interpretation of the truths set forth by the authors.

It seems to be a fact, however, that a large majority of college students feel that their education is complete if their class marks are satisfactory. Consequently the time that is not spent in preparation and in recitation is frittered heedlessly away. This time could be put to the best use and still be spent in an enjoyable way. Now whenever a number of fellows get together, all study and serious thought stops and a constant "bickering" and indulgence in small talk take their place. Instead of this, if some point that came out in the days work or some question of the hour was debated, the student would not only be getting valuable information but would at the same time be forming opinions and ideals for himself which would make him a better student and a nobler man.

Every college has an insignia of honor which it bestows upon those who show unusual ability along one or more particular lines. The wearing of that particular sign by any one not entitled to it is then looked upon as a violation of college tradition and is severely criticised and condemned. Ursinus is no exception and grants to her athletes who have won distinction on the gridiron or diamond the privilege of wearing the "U."

Lately a number of students, who are not entitled to do so, have been wearing the "U" in combination with their class numerals. This is not so much the fault of the students themselves, as a lack of definiteness regarding the rules governing such actions. Make the rules so specific that no mistake can be made as to who is or is not entitled to the letter or as to the use of it in combination with other letters or numerals and we may rest assured that the students will respect them sufficiently to abide by them.

The first issue of the SUPPLEMENT accompanies the WEEKLY this week. There seems to be an increasing difficulty to obtain material suitable for publication in it and many of the articles submitted are in a very crude form. We feel sure, however, that there are many in the institution who could produce articles of merit if they but did their best. Every student should feel it his duty to submit something to the literary editors, for by doing so a better paper will be secured and honor will be brought to our institution.

Y. M. C. A.

The topic for the last meeting was, "The Centurian's Servant Healed and What It Teaches Us," Matt. 8: 5-13. The meeting was in charge of Mr. Foltz, who drew a lesson of faith from the conduct of the centurian. The centurian believed in Christ's power to heal the servant without seeing or touching him. Often in the devious ways of life we get out of touch with the sustaining high power. In the perplexities for which we can offer no solution, in the seeming triumph of evil over good, in our discontent with ourselves, and in our almost loss of faith in mankind, we are tempted to forget at times the assurance that is imperishably written on our souls that over all is God and that in his own way, often incomprehensible to us, He is daily giving us the opportunity to know better both ourselves and Him.

Do not despair,
Although the aim of all the striving disappear.
Strive on and hope,
For God we know, ev'en when unseen, is always near.

COLLEGE NOTES

Misses Duryea and Neff spent Saturday evening and Sunday with their friend Miss Shade at Royersford.

Miss Grace Dotterer from Philadelphia, a former student of the class of 1907, spent a few days in town with Miss Mabel Hobson.

Messrs. McCollum and Price took in the entertainment given at Royersford on Saturday evening. Mr. McCollum recited several selections from Riley.

Begg, '08, spent several days at home this week in order to attend his brother's wedding.

A large number of students will go home for the election on Tuesday.

THE INDIAN GAME

Tomorrow the 'Varsity will line up against the strong Carlisle Indian team on their home ground. Their team is light but they play unusually fast football. Our team has been doing good work during the past week in preparation for the game and it is to be hoped will put up a very creditable showing against them. However, quite a number of the players have been more or less severely injured and are liable to be put out of the game at any time. Nevertheless the "subs" taken along are strong men and will detract little from the strength of the team if put in the game.

CIVIL SERVICE REFORM

An interesting and instructive meeting was held last night in behalf of the Civil Service Reform movement in Pennsylvania and under the auspices of the Historical-Political Group. The Reverend Oscar B. Haws of Germantown was the first speaker. The sentiments, he said, expressed by our forefathers in the Declaration of Independence are probably the finest, the highest and noblest that have ever been set before a people as an ideal but there is some doubt as to whether we are living up to them. Corruption is rampant in city, state and nation. The public good is lost sight of in the race for individual gain. There is only one way by which this state of affairs can be changed. The people must shake off their indifference and stand out boldly against the machine and its methods.

Mr. F. R. Cope of Philadelphia then pointed out more specifically how this spoils system could be overthrown and how we could take a hand in its overthrow. The way for us to bring about this reform is to bring our influence to bear upon our legislation to have them adopt a measure providing for this civil service, when such a measure is introduced at the next session.

carried it over for a touchdown after 7 minutes of fast play. He also kicked a difficult goal.

Price kicked off to Booser who was downed in his tracks by Place who was now playing fast ball. Williamson sent two plays through tackle for her first first-down. But they were soon forced to kick. Foltz broke through and spoiled a pass and they lost 5 yards on a fake kick. Ursinus then made three more touchdowns before the half ended. Price and Faringer made two pretty 25 yard runs.

The second half was a repetition of the first. The 'Varsity gained at will. They were only held for downs once, and then Price punted the pigskin for 70 yards, the longest punt seen on the home grounds for several years. On the other hand, Williamson only made four first-downs during the whole game. All the fellows played well. Trexler gained from 5 to 15 yards nearly every time he was called upon to run, and he was called upon pretty often. Place was another sure gainer. Smeck and Faringer also ran well. On the defense, although there wasn't much, Hain smashed the interference like an iron ram. Snyder played his usual good game both on offense and defense. Hefelfinger, Booser, and Fickes excelled for Williamson.

SCRUBS 10. PHOENIXVILLE H. S. 11

Last Saturday, after a long, tiresome ride and climbing of hills, the "scrub" team reached Phoenixville pretty well fagged out. Phoenix kicked off and on the first play Roth hurdled center and scored a touchdown. Then it was that the "Scrub" knew they were in a hostile country.

The Phoenixville referee refused to allow the "Scrub" to try for goal, claiming more than one man had touched the ball after it was

"Scrub" then kicked to Phoenix, who scored a touchdown by plucky hard playing. "Scrub" again kicked off and the High School scored another but failed to kick the goal. Half ended with "Scrub" still asleep. Score, Phoenix 11, "Scrub" 5.

Scrub kicked off out of bounds twice in succession. By Rule 13 b, page 139, the High School should have kicked to the "Scrub," but the referee gave Phoenix the ball in the center of the field for scrimmage. The "Scrub" now woke up, Phoenix was held twice and the "Scrub," rushed the ball by fakes and tackle plays for a touchdown. At this point the howling demoniacal crowd of five hundred people surged on the field. The referee blew his whistle before Townsend was ready to kick the goal, and so the "Scrub" was robbed of a final chance to tie the score. With a twenty minute half the "Scrub" could have won despite the referee and crowd. It was practically a victory. The Phoenix High School played a clean hard game. The "Scrub" played up to the standard in the second half, and had things all their own way, but were glad to get away with whole skins.

For quail, partridge or trap work the new

is the ideal gun, and the lightest (6½ lbs.) and smallest efficient repeater made. It is not a 16 barrel on a 12 action, but a very fast handling, finely balanced gun of great accuracy. Our cylinder bore gun for brush shooting has no equal.

The full choked barrels are bored for either smokeless or black powders, and take heavy loads. They target better than 240 pellets in a 30 inch circle at 35 yards, using one ounce 7½ chilled shot. You ought to know this gun. Write for full catalogue description. 3 stamps postage.
