F. AND M. VICTORIOUS

SONS OF URSINUS GO DOWN BEFORE FRANKLIN AND MARSHALL IN AN INTERESTING DEFEAT.

Ursinus went down to defeat before her strong rival Franklin and Marshall College last Saturday. If any one would have predicted the outcome of the game one week previous, he would have been laughed at, but nevertheless Ursinus was doomed to suffer seriously from injuries which incapacitated her team to such an extent that it was impossible to make but a feeble resistance in the second half. At the start the team was handicapped by the absence of half-back, Miller, who had his hand broken early in the week while lining up against the scrub. Then Faringer, fifty seconds after the second half opened, had his leg broken, which necessitated the playing of two green men in the back field and consequently broke up the entire team. Notwithstanding these facts, Ursinus played with grit and determination and it was 23 minutes before a touchdown was scored. That was the only score in the first half. Ursinus also did not display the ability she had done on other occasions. Her defence was not up to her usual standard and her offense was lamentably weak, and very slow in starting. Only in one particular was Ursinus superior over Franklin and Marshall. This was in the kicking department. Ursinus punts, all except one, went for 45 yds., and one time the Ursinus kicker booted the ball far over the Franklin and Marshall back, the ball going at least 70 yds. The game as a whole was however very interesting and F. and M. deserved her victory.

At 3.10 p. m. Price kicked off to F. and M. on the 15 yd. line. Gitt ran the ball 7 yds. before being downed. After rushing 12 yds. F. and M. kicked to Smeck on Ursinus 40 yd. line, who advanced 5 yds. Ursinus rushed the ball to F. and M's. 48 yd. line where Price fell back to punt. The punt was partially blocked and F. and M. got the ball out of bounds on the 40 yd. line. F. and M. carried the ball 40 yds. and then kicked after being penalized for holding. Ursinus kicked 40 yds. and F. and M. had the ball on the 40 yd. line. After rushing it to the 50 yd. line, Ursinus held and F. and M. kicked to Ursinus 20 yd. line. Price returned the kick to middle of the field. F. and M. rushed the ball to 20 yd. line again, where she again surrendered the ball on downs. Ursinus then punted 50 yds. to F. and M. 35 yd. line where F. and M. was thrown on her tracks. Horn then broke away and ran 30 yds. Gitt ran 20 more. On tackle plays and short line rushes, F. and M. finally succeeded in taking the ball across for a touchdown.

In the second half Horn kicked to Faringer who ran 17 yds. before being tackled. It was here that he was compelled to leave the field, and Ehrich took his place. F. and M. then held and Price kicked 40 yds. to Killheffer. The ball was then rushed straight up the field for a touchdown. Horn again kicked off and after a series of exchanges the ball was F. and M's. on the 40 yd. line. Here Ursinus held strong and Horn tried at a goal from placement. The ball missed the goal by 20 yds. and Ursinus had the ball on the 10 yd. line. After gaining 10 yds., Ursinus punted to F. and M's. 25 yd. line. The ball went over Killheffer's head and he, after picking it up dodged through the whole Ursinus team for 85 yds. and a touchdown. This seemed to demoralize Ursinus and from then she went to pieces, and F. and M. had an easy time in rolling up the remainder of their 27 points. However the team is to be congratulated on the plucky fight they put up despite the odds, and the manner in which they were handicapped. The rooters who filled up four special cars also come in for a share of praise for their continued cheering and unwavering loyalty even in the face of defeat and discouraging circumstances.

THE TRIP TO LANCASTER

During the last three months, the chief interest of Ursinus students has centered in Saturday November 14. Lancaster held for them an interesting and alluring attraction on that day,—no less than the game of football with "F. and M." In her accustomed way, Ursinus prepared to do her best. A special train was provided and a delegation, a hundred strong, was collected to represent the spirit of Ursinus in the course of the contest for supremacy on the gridiron.

At an early hour, the procession left the college campus and was joined on its march to the station by many Ursinus well-wishers. When at eight o'clock the Special sped into sight with the Ursinus flag waving on its engine and the Red, Old Gold and Black streaming from every car, the crowd broke into enthusiastic cheers, and as it boarded the train the old college town echoed with the shouts for Ursinus and the Varsity team.

The interior of the train presented an interesting scene of gaiety and confusion. The cheers and singing of football songs rang out continually. To add to the pleasure of the trip, the Freshman Orchestra had brought with them their musical instruments and were untiring in giving "the boys" encouragement and enthusiasm by means of their lively music.

When the hundred from Ursinus reached the city of attraction, they were very ready to board the special trolleys for the American House where they partook of an excellent dinner served with just enough delay to add a spice. And then the time for the contest was near at hand—and Ursinus was equal to the occasion. Forming a long line, two by two, they marched to the Athletic field making such a noisy demonstration and shouting to the Lancastrians that "It is Ursinus' Day" until the quiet, Quakerlike people looked on with amazement, wondering of what sort these people might be. But did Ursinus care? Not in the least. They were sent on a mission and were determined to fulfill it.

During the game not once did the hundred stop to lament and sigh but ever cheered its heroes through good or evil fortune.

The homeward trip was—if possible—more joyous than the outgoing one for the Varsity had done its best and well deserved the attention they received from all—co-eds included. It was a tired yet merry crowd who gave a last cheer for the Red, Old Gold and Black—as the interesting and long looked for day closed. And the dream of the Ursinus student was pleasant that night for he dreamed of victory for Ursinus in the coming year by the score of 30—0.

ALUMNI PERSONALS

Besides the large delegation of Ursinus to the F. and M. game last Saturday, a goodly number of Alumni gave their support also, showing that their old love for the athletics at Ursinus has not died out in the least. The following Alumni were among the Ursinus rooters: Robt. S. Apple, '01, Hamburg; N. F. Guttshall, '03, Harrisburg; Rev. H. B. Reagle, '00, Reading; Rev. C. B. Heinley, '00, York; T. H. Matterness, '02, Lebanon; J. H. Poorman, '03, Lebanon; F. H. Hobson, '03, University of Pennsylvania; Geo. J. Henry, '02, West Chester; H. U. Miller, '02, Medico Chi.; W. B. Anson, '03, University of Pennsylvania; Rev. J. W. Memminger, '84, Lancaster; Rev. O. P. Shellhamer, '85, York; Rev. H. S. Shelly, '97, Willow Street; John Lentz, '02, Ursinus School of Theology; E. E. Kelley, '01, New York Law School.

Last week Rev. J. W. Memminger, D. D. '84, officiated at his three hundredth wedding since the beginning of his pastorate at Lancaster, thirteen years ago.

Rev. H. H. Long, '94, Centerville, celebrated the Lord's Supper in Christ's Reformed Church on Sunday last. A large number of new members were admitted to the church.

An article on "Young People at Work," by Rev. A. S. Bromer, '88, Philadelphia, recognizes the fact that in the Reformed church, the spirit of personal and mission work has taken tremendous strides within the last few years. He refers to the recent reports of the various Committees to the Eastern Synod, as sufficient evidence for his statement.

Rev. E. W. Lentz, '95, is recovering from an operation for appendicitis.

EDITORIAL

Ursinus suffered one of the most sore defeats last Saturday that has been inflicted on her for some time. Franklin and Marshall and Ursinus have been rivals in both football and baseball for many years, but Ursinus has been able to boast of having the best end of the argument. Last year, for example, we defeated them in a decisive contest. The year before we lost at Lancaster only through our failure to kick a goal after a touchdown, so this year's defeat is somewhat softened by the memory of our success of last year, and is brightened with the hope for next year when we may have a more seasoned team and be in a little better shape to win.

With so many new men on the team, our boys have been doing remarkably well in some of the games, and thus probably we were led to hope too much of them. Then, with Miller out of the game, Saturday, with a broken hand, and with Faringer knocked out, we were compelled to play new men at both halfback positions. The loss of these men, two of our "headiest" and pluckiest players, was felt keenly, although their subs took their part well. However, there is no use in lamenting. We lost, and we believe the game was won by the better of the two teams, as they appeared on the field. In such a defeat there is no dishonor.

The part played by the Ursinus student body in the game last Saturday, was certainly a fine exhibition of college spirit. From start to finish the energetic "rooting" and shouts of encouragement for the team were unabated. Even in the face of inevitable defeat the spirit was little diminished, and toward the last, especially when our goal was in danger, the yells were redoubled and kept up almost constantly. Then, when the game was over, in spite of jeers and insults from some of the rabble, the Ursinus delegation marched off the field undaunted, with streamers and pennants flying, and the breezes wafting onward their college songs and yells. It would, indeed, be almost worth the price of defeat, if the students could thereby gain permanently the loyalty to the team and institution which was thus given expression to at Lancaster last Saturday.

The outlook for to-morrow is not very bright, but we must show the visiting team that if we must die, we'll die game.

LITERARY SOCIETY NOTES

A very lively debate took place in the Schaff Society on Friday evening, November 13. The question which evoked the discussion was, "Resolved, That State Universities and Colleges should be preferred to those belonging to religious denominations." On the affirmative side were McCollum, '05, Dotterer, '06, and Lenhart, '07, while the negative was composed of Rice, '05, Schweyer, '06, and Meyers, '07. Both sides were well prepared and could meet the others' arguments with many opposing facts.

The affirmative based their case on the following points: Specialization is the feature of education today. Religious denominational schools, through lack of funds and small number of students, can not give the special training for a profession that the state institution does but is compelled to give one general culture course. Better equipment is found in the state institutions for their unlimited resources makes this possible. Then, too, the same religious agencies, such as the Y. M. C. A., churches, and kindred organizations, are at work in the one as in the other.

On the negative side it was brought out that the denominational school was not necessarily narrower nor more poorly equipped than the other. Politics are a too powerful controlling force in state institutions of learning. Professors having a political "pull" are retained as instructors, although they have no personal merit whatever. Besides this, the religious factors at work can not alone sustain the moral tone of the school but with this there must be a healthy religious spirit, which is wanting in undenominational schools.

Correct Clothes For Men

A complete line of Alfred Benjamin & Co. New York Made clothes has been added to our Hat and Men's Furnishing Goods business.

We propose making this new department as successful as our Hat and Men's Furnishing ones have been for more than twenty-five years—the greatest in this section.

We believe that people are demanding more and more values in full for their money, better clothes than the usual ready-made clothing store offers; they want guarantees.

The inevitable tendency of all things in merchandising is moving upward and onward.

The Best Clothes Made

is what we are offering to satisfy the growing demands of clothing buyers. The fabrics, imported and domestic, are the richest money can buy; they are double shrunk to make them soft and serviceable. The styles come from New York and London style-creators—They're not cheap, commonplace copies.

The fit is what you get at the exclusive custom tailors. The Tailoring is fully equal to fine custom work, because executed in sanitary work-rooms by skilled, salaried specialists.

Miss Neff, '07, rendered a beautiful piano solo under voluntary exercises and Hughes, A., gave an exhibition of torch-club swinging, after which the judge gave his decision in favor of the affirmative.

Another very interesting miscellaneous program was given on Friday night in the Zwinglian Literary Society. Miss Yerkes, A. opened it with a piano solo which was much appreciated; Sponsler, '07, read a selection called "Jim Smiley's Frog," and Smeck, '07, read one on "Corn". They were humorous and interesting. Fenton, '07, recited "Little Breeches;" Wise, '06, read an essay on Poe and brought out many facts about his life and character; Place, '05, and Keasey, '06, amused the society for a few minutes by an extemporaneous dialogue on "The Prospects of the Franklin and Marshall Game." It was opened in a unique way and kept up by witty responses. "The Legend Beautiful" was recited with proper spirit by Miss Stoner, '05; then an address on "Co-education" was given by Miss Clamer, '04. The Oration for the evening was given by Miss Shade, '04. Her subject was "Woman—Her National Destiny." The Review by Reisner, '05, contained much wit and humor and finished the program.

ACADEMY LITERARY SOCIETY

On Friday last the following program was given in the Academy Literary Society: Recitation, "As She Says," Herbert Wanner; Recitation, "Twilight" Miss Clara Kaisinger; Reading, W. Ehrich; Music, Piano Duet, Misses Hobson and Spangler; Reading, Rafael Shuck; Reading, LeRoy Schweyer; Gazette, Fred. Fogleman.

WEEK OF PRAYER

On Friday evening the services began at 7 o'clock with a song service led by Dr. Good. Rev. Houston sang a few selections, after which he told in a clear graphic manner the story of his blindness and his conversion. He held the closest attention of his audience for almost an hour as he lead his hearers in fancy, step by step, through his boyhood days in Scotland up to the time of the accident which was fatal to his sight. He portrayed in a vivid manner the despair and gloom which followed, and finally the circumstances of his conversion. Rev. Houston made a deep impression upon his audience.

On Sunday evening the series of services for the Week of Prayer was closed with a sermon by Rev. James I. Good, D. D., Dean of the Ursinus School of Theology. His text was St. Mark 8:35. He spoke of the different ideas which have been held at various times during the world's history in regard to "making the most of life" and showed that the true idea is that of the unselfish life spent in the service of others, which is so well illustrated by the life of the Master.

as they played with greater vim and dash than our own team, and our two substitutes played a plucky, if not an experienced game.

In giving full credit to F. and M. for the victory obtained from us on Saturday, we would like to draw a parallel between last year's game and this year's game. In the game a year ago F. and M. lost by a decisive score and unfortunately had some of her men injured. In this year's contest Ursinus was decisively defeated and several of her players suffered injuries; nevertheless, we wish to emphasize the fact that our defeat was not due to any unclean tactics, that our injuries were not the result of pre-arrangement, but that our defeat was cleanly and decisively encompassed by our rivals, who played hard, aggressive football and deserved the victory—even as the 1902 Ursinus team played a hard, clean, aggressive football and deserved the victory which they won.

After last year's game, when our student-body cheered for the defeated team and escorted them to the station, we respected the special cars that were decorated with Blue and White and left their colors inviolate; therefore we regret that some F. and M. students thought it necessary to complete their victory by tearing down our colors.
