Substantial Lunch Presented By Union

By JIM GROSH

"We won because of our superior talent and intellect," explained Dr. Henry, leader of the winning faculty team that helped construct a 440-foot-long hogback lunch on Thursday, November 11.

The College Union, with Candace Boudreau as coordinator, sponsored the event which employed 14 teams with 12 persons each competing in various building sections of the union.

The event was declared over when the hogback, which was adorned with the College's seal, finally collapsed on the floor.

"It was a good day," said Dr. Henry.

Explosive Evidence

By STEPHEN M. LANGE

New evidence in the case of Bri- ton Kulp has been uncovered by Dr. Peter Kuyp, a member of the Ur- sinus mathematics department.

Kulp was arrested on Octo- ber 31. He was charged with in- igniting a fire in a dormitory, parceling endangers, and possession of a prohibited weapon.

Subsequent to his arrest, Dean of Men, Richard J. Reimert, and the College's dean of students, Dr. Charlie, and Dr. Kulp from the College.

The arrest stemmed from the detec- tion of an explosion in a dormitory during October 30. The discovery of chemicals, which when mixed became explosive, in Kulps's suite. These chemicals are current- ly being studied at the State Police Crime Laboratory in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania.

Kulp, represented by West Con- cress attorney Fred Cullen, ap- peared before District Justice of the Peace Bernard J. Mahler at Col- leghere where he was held over for the grand jury. Bail was set at $5,000.

After posting bail, Kulp was released. The grand jury will consider whether or not to indict Kulp sometime between mid-De- cember and mid-January. If indict- ed, he will be tried before Common Pleas Court in November.

Dr. Jessup found that two com- mon words and password that were used in the P.T.S.S. computer. The computer number is a unique combination of a number that is self-identified by (Continued on Page 3, Col. 2)

Student Letter Sent to Board

By JUDIE JAMES

In an effort to improve communica- tion between two elements of the Ursinus community: a group of students took the unprecedented step of resigning from the dormitory committee to protest what they perceived as an improper handling of concerns as well as the inaction by the Board of Directors to respond to student concerns.

Robert Simon, a junior chemistry major who signed the letter, noted that he and other members of the community are not in any way dissatisfied with the Board of Directors or their policies. But he said, "There is a need for the Board of Directors to respond to student concerns more directly, in order to initiate student-director dialogue."

The letter, which was signed by 100 members of the Ursinus faculty, was sent to the Board of Directors on November 13.

Dorm Visitations Urged

By JUDIE JAMES

Two recent developments in the on- going controversy surrounding "vi- sited dormitories" made the headlines recently. The Ursinus Student Government Association held on November 11, 1975, to discuss the matter, which has become a serious concern in recent weeks.

The association has established a committee to investigate the issue, and a report is expected by the end of the month.

The committee has been meeting weekly to discuss the situation further. They have been hearing from members of the student body and faculty, and trying to find a solution to the problem.

The Party's Over

By NANCY WEATHERWAX

The Student Affairs Committee held its first meeting on November. The committee is made up of six members, each nominated by a different member of the student body. The meeting was held at 6:30 p.m. in the Student Affairs Committee Room.

The meeting was called to order by Chairwoman Jan Hayes, and members included: John Adams, Bob Bowers, and John Smith.

The basic aim of this group is to respond to student concerns and complaints, and to find out if there are any alternatives to the things that are happening. It wants to get concerned people involved in working together at

New Student Affairs Committee Formed

By NANCY WEATHERWAX

The Student Affairs Committee held its first meeting on November 17, in the Col- lege's new building. The committee is made up of six members, each nominated by a different member of the student body.

The meeting was called to order by Chairwoman Jan Hayes, and members included: John Adams, Bob Bowers, and John Smith.

The basic aim of this group is to respond to student concerns and complaints, and to find out if there are any alternatives to the things that are happening. It wants to get concerned people involved in working together at

Fact-checking, using such methods as interviews with faculty members, a research group, in contrast to a number of faculty members that have been interviewed, and other methods. The committee is also seeking advice from the university's administrative body. After investigating complaints, the Stu- dent Affairs Committee plans to submit a report to the college administration, perhaps being suggestions to the college's administrative body. Unfortunately, there is no data available on the number of complaints received from the freshman class of 1977.
LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

REMEMBER

Dear Weekly,

I detect beer and alcohol parties; none exists to hold any interest for me. Yet even as a "disinterested" person, I cannot help but feel that these are not only going on, but are unusually hard up for things to do. We are seeing a rapid increase in the number of these events, and I am at a loss to see what amounts is the student body out of its wits.

Why did this happen? It seems certain to me that the administration is more than a little responsible, as no one before the Board of Directors had convened. Could it be that some of the members of the Board think that students cannot handle responsible participation? Or do they believe that the only constructive reaction to the event is that this same Dean, on the day of another ignominious football fiasco, the rules and regulations for the campus, which accompanies a Saturday night party, can be stopped, and should be.

Let's play it cool.

ProTheatre Puts Best Foot Forward

BY JENNIFER BYRLEY

On November 8 (Saturday night) the Union sponsored a group, The Upsilon Nineteen, to provide entertainment. The music began at 9 P.M. with a variety of jazz, country, rock and roll, blues, and soul. The On the Spot Band, comprised of three vocalists, a guitar player, a keyboard player, and a drummer, performed for the crowd.

The Turbo Locomotive, a new rock band, was the hit of the night. The group included five students and one alum. The band's lead singer, Jennifer Byrley, said that the band feels like a family and that they are working hard to become a successful group.

State of the Union

By Jim Grosi

It's soon auction time at Ursinus! Ted Mauer, a local auctioneer, will be donating his services on December 4 to help raise money for the Student Union. Bring back things to sell from testing and Thanksgiving, or help yourself, or attend the auction and bid for yourself. Congratulations to all house builders who constructed a record-breaking dormitory.

BNA Preview

Golden State will improve more and the Warriors may surprise the NBA again.

4. Portland Trail Blazers—Portland is one of the most exciting teams in the league. They are very good at shooting and have a strong rebounding presence. Rod Bonino and Frank Okonkwo are two of their top players. Portland will perform well, Portland will improve dramatically.

5. Los Angeles Clippers—The Sonics have a lot of talent on their team. They are one of the best teams in the league. They have good shooters. Lionel Hollins, a guard who averaged 11 points per game last season, will be a tremendous player. Portland will improve well.

Tina Grudner, who was the coach for the past three years, will be replaced by Bill Walton. In short, it will be the same old story. Portland will improve dramatically.

New Service at Myrin

BY NANCY WEATHERWAX

Many people on the Ursinus campus are probably still unaware of the service that Myrin Library offers. Ms. Pfliger has been compiling lists of references for professors, which is a useful service for those who are researching a particular field. She has so far made lists on such subjects as education, psychology, and American Government.

As far as technicalities are concerned, most of the pictures show good lighting. There is very little noise in the background. The only problem is that the text is not always legible.

explosion, and the energy that 10,000 pounds per square inch of experimental TNT produces. The explosion is measured by the number of pieces that are produced. The explosion is measured by the number of pieces that are produced.

This is the lead to the story of the energy crisis. The first law of which is this: The total energy of the universe is constant. The second law states that transfer of energy is not an increase in the total energy of the universe. This law is important because it is the basis for the conservation of energy. The entropy increases. according to the second law, because the universe is running down. Order is moving toward disorder.

Professor Lindsay ended after this conclusion about society: "Civ- ilization is an ordered system." In our society, entropy and to turn disorder into order. This is what we are doing. We are fighting and always fail, but keep fighting."

In last year's N.B.A. finals, the Golden State Warriors shocked the basketball world by sweeping the Washington Bullets to capture the N.B.A. championship. During the off-season several teams made major trades to strengthen them selves.

The Los Angeles Lakers and Philadelphia 76ers both acquired a top player that will make them competitive against the Lakers. The 76ers were unable to trade for the Houston or New York because they wanted to keep the power players. The 76ers have two All-American draft choices, guard Brian Williams and center Elvin Smith.

The Los Angeles Lakers' front office was still looking for a major player. The Lakers have been working out several players in order to strengthen their team for the upcoming season. The Lakers have two All-American draft choices.
