U.S.G.A. to be Elected
Pres. Qualifications Amended

By JILL LEAVER

U.S.G.A. elections will be held Thursday, February 20, after luncheon and dinner, in the Wimmer Parents Lounge. Students will be voting on two classes of representatives from each class, two student representatives, 1 S.P.A.D.E. representative from each class, treasurer, corresponding secretary, recording secretary, women's vice-president, men's vice-president and president. Petitions listing 25 signatures are required for class representatives; 50 signatures are required for all other offices. No duplicate signatures will be acknowledged as valid. Petitions should be submitted to either Chuck Beebe or George Randolph by Friday, February 13. Students should also be aware that a new amendment has been passed by the U.S.G.A. allowing any student in good standing at Ursinus College to run for the office of president. Previously a student had to have been a member of the U.S.G.A. for at least one year.

Since any student can run for office and any student can vote, this election should be a good time for you to voice your opinions concerning student government. So submit a petition by February 13, and if you are not a candidate, at least vote and VOTE, Thursday, February 20.

ETS Changes

Princeton, N. J. - Educational Testing Service (ETS) has made several major changes in two national educational testing programs as part of its continued effort to use as part of the admissions process a better reflection of the nation's graduate schools.

Both programs, the newly-revised Educational Testing Service (ETS) Graduate Record Examination (GRE) and the Graduate Record Examining Service (GERS) together test more than 400,000 prospective graduate students every year.

ETS says the changes were made to help simplify the testing process by making it more accommodating for student candidates.

The GMAT formerly was called the Admission Test for Graduate School (ATGS). The new name parallels a similar change in the GRE, which is attempting to alter the trend of graduate test-taking schools.

Another significant change in the GMAT is an 검 색된 admission prospective required for candidate to verify, and correct if necessary, the accuracy of all information listed on the GED on the registration form. Effective in June, the GED will be hered during the 1974-75 academic year, also reduced, space and material requirements.

There are also several new additions for the Admission Council for Graduate Study in Management, a group representing most of the nation's graduate business schools.

Effective in June, the GED will be hered during the 1974-75 academic year, also reduced, space and material requirements.

There are also several new additions for the GRE. For the first time, a full-length sample GRE is provided as a guide to help candidates develop an accurate view of the scope, length and the type of questions. The sample test is the same length and format as the actual test and contains questions predominantly from the verbal, quantitative, and analytical sections. An answer key is provided. The sample test can be ordered by sending a $1.00 check or money order to the Graduate Programs and Admissions, Educational Testing Service, 400 University Avenue, New Brunswick, New Jersey. Responses are to be sent to the GRE Information Bulletin for more details.

Schedule Change-Aid To Program?

By George Geist

Each year when previews of athletic seasons and predictions of coaching staffs appear, comparative reviews question if the programs are considered adequate to examine a team's potential in terms of wins and losses. By comparing the percentages of winning of each of the teams on one's schedule with the percentages of an opponent's schedule, one can come to a conclusion about general advantages. One often hears a commentator say a team plays teams with worse records than B team, and therefore, the commentator will generally favor team A.

Well, Ursinus sports teams also have a tough schedule, but in their case, the condition of tough is different. The schedules are tough, not because of opponents in particular, but in their case, the definition of tough is different. The athletes face in terms of the schedule, and therefore understand the Ursinus winter season. The academic calendar of Ursinus College alone does not explain the records of our winter sports' teams. However, the usual layoff from the second week in January for over three weeks doesn't aid the individual athlete or team in terms of physical conditioning or competitive edge. In discussing the present records of the wrestling team and basketball team with their respective coaches, both Coach Irwin and Coach Fry cited the difficulties of what is often called the "three-season season." One should, therefore, recognize the situation Ursinus athletes face in terms of the schedule, and therefore understand the difficulties they encounter with the "three season seas- on" conference and nationwide, do not have this type of winter program. Where else does a basketball team have a three-week break in January?

Not only do most schools have a consistent schedule of opponents, but they also have a continuous schedule. Their programs are divided and thus do not have to face an N.B.A. type of schedule: 7 games in 13 days, 4 games in 6 days and 9 games in 20 days. Let's consider the facts, and let's help the Ursinus winter athletic program. Let's change the schedule.

Civil Service Testing Set

Harrisburg — College students who wish to apply for state civil service positions in the college career series may apply to the state Civil Service Commission, Harrisburg, Pa. 17120, until March 26, the state Civil Service Commission office in Harrisburg. Written tests for these positions will be given normally at state-wide test centers. The examination is open competitive and by appointment only at State Civil Service Commission offices in Harrisburg, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, and Philadel- phia. Applicants must submit college transcripts with their application.

The college career series includes training and beginning level positions in administration, social services, education, and natural sci- ence. Candidates who qualify will receive bachelor's degrees in a field appropriate to the job and must hold a degree in a field acceptable to the Civil Service Commission. Candidates should refer to the examination announcement for full details on my application.

Applications, examination announcements, and further information may be obtained from the State Civil Service Commission in Harrisburg, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, or from college placement offices.

Rich Schwartz Discusses His U.C. Career

By ANDY SCHWARTZ

1. Have your expectations of what college sports should be at a small college been fulfilled in your four years at Ursinus?

That was a really tough one for me. I thought I would be wrestling to be an experienced and decent wrestler and this has proven to be a very tough task. We also expected a higher level of competition than we have received.

This was true my freshman year when we had about eight wrestlers on our team. Now we have about ten. That was different.

The last three years have been totally different. We've had many guys out for the team which makes practices harder. You just can't get away from the fact that there aren't enough people. But let me first identify myself. I am a national team wrestler, not a college wrestler.

I've been quite active over a long period of years with Ursinus. One of my assignments is that of Class Correspondent which actually involves me with 16500 alumni covering almost every instance with approximately 230 Cub and Key members in the area. The general role is correspondence, my special function is the gathering of information and of an interest in Ursinus. Suffice it to say, my job is both interesting and easy.

The point of this letter is that I think there is a lot of life and living in many people who are not at school. This condition answered my question to my fellow graduate last October when my fellow graduate and I discussed the presence of Ursinus today in stride.

A similar question to my fellow graduate is, have we not in some way denied the existence of Ursinus's shortcomings. I respect you and all others who are concerned about the reputation of the school, your articulate approach to the problem, your thoughtful concern for them.

But time moves on, you see. Civilization as we know it will not exist. Some will persist and that too will die. I am not always easy to recognize. It abides in many instances by the standards of life of the alumni ranks. New attempts will be made to naturally accommodate this transformation. The advice is, keep the share with you just one or two bits of thinking that some might not have in mind or that perhaps are not as much in order.

It is not my responsibility to guess what might be the thought in the minds of the class of 1976. I have seen that the wrestling team...
MOVIE REVIEW

"One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest" by DON WHITAKER

It certainly is odd that I suddenly find the movie, "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest," that our society has so rud- edly criticized, in that a film with the potential to inform its viewers of mental health and the treatment of the mentally ill while contemplating the sensitive but equal treatment of the mentally ill. "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest," two men who appear outwardly sick but who at the same time, brought to a head in Cuckoo's Nest - is what mental illness and how society deals with it.

The story line of "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest" from Ken Kesey's 1962 novel of the same name. It contains the experiences of one of the patients, McMurphy, who is played by Jack Nicholson, a convict committed to the hospital to determine whether he is really "crazy" or just acting crazy to escape prison work details. While in the mental institute, McMurphy attempts to inject the ward with his own philosophy of living and to change the way patients are treated. He tries to change the way patients are treated, to relax the "Hoo, hoo, hoo!" hour, to let patients fish and be fishing, and finally resorts to using habeas and honds.

However, this is not the success of the film; Director Miloš Forman establishes the這re is an important part of the film. The head nurse, Nurse Ratched, played by Louise Fletcher, represents the authoritative elements of our society which have destroyed a strict point message.

Have you ever thought of spending a semester in Europe? Nancy Kupar did.

Nancy, a junior majoring in French, spent the spring semester abroad in France. It was, she said, a trip of a lifetime, something she had always wished she could go back and experience again. During her time abroad, she participated in a study program at the University of Paris, which also included a trip to several other major cities.

There was plenty of time to travel around Europe. During the weekdays, Nancy visited local sights and explored different countries and cities. After class, she attended concerts and social events, and sometimes went to cafes. She also went on day trips to England, London, and Amsterdam, and visited a number of art museums.

In Amsterdam, she visited the Rijksmuseum and the Van Gogh Museum. She also went to Bruges, Belgium, and visited the Canal Grande. She enjoyed shopping for clothes and souvenirs in Brussels, and also went to the Brussels Atomium.

Nancy really loved all the European food, especially the French. She discovered that eating in European restaurants was quite affordable for her budget.

Nancy's months in France made a deep impression on her. She had never experienced anything like it before, and it left a lasting impression on her.

The program also provided opportunities for students to travel around Europe. Nancy had the chance to visit several other countries, and she enjoyed the chance to experience different cultures.

Nancy and a roommate lived in a French family that rented rooms to students. They found it very comfortable. However, Nancy joked that in the beginning she was not always the most respected member of the family.

As summer came to an end, Nancy understood a lot more about the French people and their ideas and customs. After working hard at learning the language and culture, she felt she was ready to return to her home country, France.

On her way back to the States, Nancy visited Paris, where she spent time at the Eiffel Tower and the Louvre Museum. She also went to Versailles, where she saw the famous Hall of Mirrors. She loved the city's architecture and its historical significance.

Her experience abroad was a life-changing opportunity, and she is grateful for the opportunity to study and live in France.

Happenings by ALAN K. STELER

There are lots of concerts coming up in the next few weeks, enough for every kind of musical taste. A few of them are included on the list, making it seem as if there's really nothing but a real entertainment morass for the bicentennial year.

Meanwhile, back to what's com- ing up. At the Bijou Cafe' Theater, Michael Isom, Brothers, and Steve Martin, February 21-22, and on Broadway at the 24th-26th February, Featuring Keyboardist, Broadway try out. This is the second world premier of a musical, and we may be able to claim that on the Broadway stadium.

The 1976-1977 basketball team is looking forward to a very successful season. The team is dominated by varsity players. Women's basketball, led by senior and junior Carol Estes. She is followed by seniors Emily Snyder and Sherry Hackett, and by juniors and sophomores Deborah, and Tracy Amsden.

The M.C. A. team is not only a winning team, but is understood as such in this writing. The only impressed on coach Randy Davidson's squad's season is that the Middle Atlantic Conference Champions-ship is certainly within reach. The Bears have had five meets. The consensus effort, and some luck, it can bring them a championship, and a winning season.

The Bears have four meets remaining. They went into the Middle Atlantic Conference Champions-ship, with such players as McAdoo and Elvin Hayes summarizing the efforts of the rest should have a few days of serious practice. An organization, play and defense. The best way to start and become a winner.

The Bears have been of major importance in post-season's practices must not be hindered by everything. The confrontation is an immediate concept of organization, play and defense. The best way to start and become a winner.

Attention all intramural particip-ants. The intramural basketball team will be chosen all-star teams for all intramural sports. Our sports teams are entering their intramural performances, and we would like to congratulate you on making our selections. We are always open to other recommendations, even if you think yourself. If you really want to make it, your efforts may be left at the Weekly office.

The next issue of the University of Pennsylvania's Top Ten will be released on March 31.

How Vermell Got the Eagles Job!

As you all know, the Philadel-phia Eagles, after a long, intense search, finally found a new head coach. The Eagles didn't consider anyone who didn't have enough players who do. However, he lost the job when he raided the Eagles. How ever, he lost the job when he RAIDED THE EAGLES. The Eagles did consider him. How ever, he lost the job when he RAIDED THE EAGLES. He turned down the job however, said Tose.

With consistent rebounding and additional point, the Bears'还是 to their chief opposition this year, and may qualify for the CAA's, if they can continue their fine swimming the rest of the sea-son.
