2-22-1973

The Ursinus Weekly, February 22, 1973

Charles Chambers
(Uursinus College)

Joseph Van Wyk
(Ursinus College)

Judith James
(Ursinus College)

Gary Griffith
(Ursinus College)

John T. Fidler
(Ursinus College)

See next page for additional authors

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.ursinus.edu/weekly

Part of the Cultural History Commons, Higher Education Commons, Liberal Studies Commons, Social History Commons, and the United States History Commons

Recommended Citation
Chambers, Charles; Van Wyk, Joseph; James, Judith; Griffith, Gary; Fidler, John T.; Frye, Nancy; Borish, Mark M.; Van Wagoner, Elsie; Seigl, Peter; Whaley, Richard; Kadirgamar, Nesan; Vietri, Robert; Harsch, Marilyn; Connell, Ruthann; and Searles, Robert A., "The Ursinus Weekly, February 22, 1973" (1973). Ursinus Weekly Newspaper. 97.

https://digitalcommons.ursinus.edu/weekly/97

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the Newspapers at Digital Commons @ Ursinus College. It has been accepted for inclusion in Ursinus Weekly Newspaper by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ Ursinus College. For more information, please contact aprock@ursinus.edu.
Authors
Charles Chambers, Joseph Van Wyk, Judith James, Gary Griffith, John T. Fidler, Nancy Frye, Mark M. Borish, Elsie Van Wagoner, Peter Seigl, Richard Whaley, Nesan Kadrigamar, Robert Vietri, Marilyn Harsch, Ruthann Connell, and Robert A. Searles

This book is available at Digital Commons @ Ursinus College: https://digitalcommons.ursinus.edu/weekly/97
USGA Finally Elects 1973-4 Officers

By JOSEPH VAN WYE

After a three day postponement due to constitutional technicalities the Ursinus Student Government Association held its elections on Thursday, February 15. Of the fourteen offices available only two were contested and three of the offices went unfilled.

Dave Zimmerman, a junior from Wyomissing, Pa., was elected President. Previously Dave had been Vice-President of the USGA and the President of the Class of 1975. He served last year as a representative on the Student Activities Committee and is a member of the Board of Governors of the Student Union. Dave is a political science major and a member of Alpha Phi Omega fraternity.

The new woman's Vice-President is Kathy Flano who is a history major from West Chester, Pa. Before becoming vice-president she served last year as a representative on the Program Director of WRUC. Jeff Higgins who is a sophomore history major was elected men's Vice-President. Jeff is the President of the Class of 1975.

Mike Werner, a junior biology major from West Chester, Pa., was elected Treasurer. He is involved in ProTheatre and is a member of Madrigals. The office of Recording Secretary was filled by Cathy Le Cleire while Dave Ochocki was elected Corresponding Secretary. Cathy is from Wallingford, Pa. and is a Political science major. She is also Secretary of the Class of 1974 and historian of Omega Chi. Dave is from Reading, Pa. and is a Math major. He is on the Chess team and is an executive member of the Executive Board of the Class of 1975.

The representatives for the Class of 1974 are Dave Ochocki, Frank and Kathy Waltz. Sue Midgett is the only representative for the Class of 1972 while Richard Galupi and Gay McDonald are the representatives of the Class of 1976.

One of the first projects that the USGA will be undertaking is to make the Bloodmobile's visit to the campus successful. The date set for this event is March 5. Reforming the rules governing parking violations is another job the campus community has given to the newly elected council. This year's council would like to stress that they are dedicated to cooperating with the Administration. All in all they are looking forward to an accomplished year.

Ursinus College Union Opens Quietly But Successfully

By GARY GRIFFITH

Thursday, February 22, 1973

At the Student Union opening from left to right are President Pettit, Missy Madison, Bob LeMat, Bob Gay, Matt Weissel, and Mr. Richter. At the elected I.D. cards.

2. A time limit of one hour will be enforced only when others desire to use the computer. The limit will be increased to a maximum of two hours and any damage done.

3. Violations will result in reporting the violators to the Dean of Men or the Dean of Women.

Future action that may be necessary will be taken by the College Judiciary Board.

1. Any student or any organization desiring to reserve a room must request such reservation in writing on a form to be submitted to the Dean of Men.

2. All I.D. cards must be presented at the time of reservation.

(Continued on Page 6. Col. 3)

Tuition Increase Slated

By GARY GRIFFITH

On November 17, 1973 the Board of Directors of Ursinus College voted to set the annual tuition charge for the 1973-74 academic year at $2,150 dollars, which is $1,075 per semester, the charge for room and board will continue to $1,100 dollars per year. The semester-hour charge for special and part-time students will be $72 dollars. The new rates will be effective July 1, 1973.

This resolution discussed the tuition increase which President Richter described as "approving the increase in order that the increased costs of operations of the college be covered." The costs of operations including maintenance of facilities, services, and educational materials of all kinds have been affected by the current inflationary situation. The proposal $100 dollar increase was approved based upon these circumstances. It is the feeling of the administration and the Board of Directors that the increase in tuition will maintain the excellent standards of Ursinus College and will benefit the entire student body.

In Memoriam

Miss Camilla Belle Stahr, former Dean of Women at Ursinus College, was elected to the Board of Directors of the Ursinus College Union and served as its President from 1948 until her retirement in September of 1969. Miss Stahr was born in Oley, Pa. She was graduated from Wilson College before her advancement to the position of Dean of Women at Ursinus College. She leaves many friends among the Ursinus College Weekly who joins in mourning her passing.

The more smooth, sangiuneous members of the campus community always join the Society of Dracula by contributing a pint or two to the BLOODMOBILE CONING MUDYDAY, MARCH 5, 1973 from 12:30 to 5:30 p.m.

S. F. A. R. C. Discusses Computer Use, Transcrip Cost, HH Use, & Olevian Stove

By JUDY JAMES

At their regular meeting on February 14 the members of the Student-Program Director of the Committee demonstrated once more the feasibility of the summer reading program. The committee recommended that the list contain only three books of general intellectual interest rather than books pertaining to the specific courses. These books should be discussed by the freshmen with faculty members at some type of symposium, perhaps a student-faculty dinner during the freshman orientation program arranged by the Central Coordinating Committee.

Freedom of Use

President Robert Boush called upon Dr. Evan S. Snyder for his report on the feasibility of the students' use of the computer. The computers currently has contracts with the outside firm for the computer and the facilities are not currently available for the students. However, it has been suggested that perhaps a "micro-lecture" could be installed in the gymnasium one or two weeks. The program committee approved the report.

Disciplinary Procedures

1. Violations of rules may result in a letter being sent by the Director to the Program Board. It will be the responsibility of the Program Board to take action against the violator.

2. The motion which may be imposed by the Program Board will be limited to the suspension from the College Union and/or charges may be imposed in any damage done.

3. The records violations will result in reporting the violators to the Dean of Men or the Dean of Women.

Future action that may be necessary will be taken by the College Judiciary Board.

1. Any student or any organization desiring to reserve a room must request such reservation in writing on a form to be submitted to the Dean of Men.

2. The new rates will be effective July 1, 1973.

(Continued on Page 6. Col. 3)

Large Bio Classes

SFARC considered the problem of overly large classes in the biology department and the possibility that in the future registration for certain classes may be limited. This crowding could be alleviated by the opening of more classrooms but this is impossible at the present time because all of the instructors are already carrying a full schedule of courses.

The next meeting of SFARC will be held Wednesday, March 14, 1973 at 11:00 a.m. in the College Union building.
The Prisons Return

By JOY FIDLER

Perhaps the big topic for news and commentary right now is the return of the former P.O.W.'s to American soil. One need only catch a few minutes (or, in some cases, that is all one might be able to stand) of the television coverage of the soldiers disembarking from mammoth transport planes to come to realize the emotional effect of the situation on the soldiers themselves, their welcoming committees and the families of the prisoners. Here are men who have been forced to live in an alien country in ways we might deem unthinkable in this country. Sooner or later, though the television cameras had asked that the men be welcomed quietly and honorably, members of the national press and news corps have already begun asking the inevitable question, "What was it like over there?"

To be sure, the first published reports of life as a prisoner of Mr. Wickersham relate some interesting facts about his experiences. He says that the student-teacher relationship there is entirely different from that found in the United States; it is strictly a tutorial relationship. The tutor is on the side of the student, the tutor is the student's friend. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree. Finally, he says that the tutor is the student every possible advantage about the reasons for Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's "generous" gift of free lifetime passes to every major and minor league game in the years to come. It will be up to each of them to decide what those rights mean to them and let them return to their original ways of life as their own speed.

Looking Back

By JOE VAN WYK

Today there are few of us who remember the time when a jacket and tie for men and a skirt and white ruffle for women were required of us as open dorms. Most of the juniors and seniors can recall when the only thing that happened on campus was a coffee house, in Bomberger basement. Things have changed.

KILMER IN HOSPITAL

Surgical Center

Mr. Kilmer is in the Suburban General Hospital, East Norriton, Pa. Well wishes may send cards to Room 122.
ERIC NEMEYER’S 19 PIECE JAZZ BAND MAKES DEBUT

By JOHN FIDLER

On Saturday, February 10, I had the pleasure of listening to a fine jazz band at the Ogontz Campus of Penn State University. Eric Nemeyer’s 19-piece Jazz Orchestra performed for two hours to an appreciative crowd of 200 young and old fans of jazz. The performance included numbers by such notables in jazz as Count Basie, Sonny Rollins, Thad Jones, and others from the late Paul Patterson, who was a mentor to the students.

The enthusiasm of the band is one of the overwhelming aspects of their stage performance. They played remarkably well for having been together only two months.

The performance Saturday night was sponsored by the Arts Council of Penn State and the band’s set was the spontaneous battement of the crowd. The reactions of some members of the audience as well as the players themselves tell the story of the evening. I overheard one man say, after the encore, “I’ve never heard a better band in my life.”

Eric Nemeyer’s orch. made sure that we knew they were there, but they did not, were abundant. Another fragment of a conversation told me that “you gotta have a real lip to blow like that,” right after the Rollins number. But the audience was ready with compliments during the entire show; at no point during the performance was any one person’s foot still. As Eric told me, “Part is something you have to feel. You can’t just listen with your ears.”

Origins

Eric Nemeyer has only been playing drums for a little more than two years. He studied with the late Paul Patterson, who was asked to be the drummer for the Tonight Show Orchestra, but, as Eric said, “that was too dedicated to his students,” and would rather teach others how to play drums than play professionally all the time. Eric says there is nobody in Philadelphia like him.

The enthusiasm of the band is one of the overwhelming aspects of their stage performance. They played remarkably well for having been together only two months.

Eric Nemeyer’s 19-piece jazz orchestra during their performance Saturday, February 10. Drummer Nemeyer and trombonist Gerald Mease are Ursinus students. (first trombone next to drums) are Ursinus students.

Eric Nemeyer is a freshman at Ursinus College and it set the stage for an electrifying performance. The rest of the band, Eric Nemeyer, he stated that he tries to model the band after his favorite drummer, which was sparked with an inner vitality. The enthusiasm of the band is Eric Nemeyer has only been playing drums for about six months.

The performance Saturday night was sponsored by the Arts Council of Penn State and the band’s set was the spontaneous battement of the crowd. The reactions of some members of the audience as well as the players themselves tell the story of the evening. I overheard one man say, after the encore, “I’ve never heard a better band in my life.”

Eric Nemeyer’s orch. made sure that we knew they were there, but they did not, were abundant. Another fragment of a conversation told me that “you gotta have a real lip to blow like that,” right after the Rollins number. But the audience was ready with compliments during the entire show; at no point during the performance was any one person’s foot still. As Eric told me, “Part is something you have to feel. You can’t just listen with your ears.”

Origins

Eric Nemeyer has only been playing drums for a little more than two years. He studied with the late Paul Patterson, who was asked to be the drummer for the Tonight Show Orchestra, but, as Eric said, “that was too dedicated to his students,” and would rather teach others how to play drums than play professionally all the time. Eric says there is nobody in Philadelphia like him.

The enthusiasm of the band is one of the overwhelming aspects of their stage performance. They played remarkably well for having been together only two months.

Eric Nemeyer’s 19-piece jazz orchestra during their performance on Saturday, February 10. Drummer Nemeyer and trombonist Gerald Mease are Ursinus students. (first trombone next to drums) are Ursinus students.

Eric Nemeyer is a freshman at Ursinus College and it set the stage for an electrifying performance. The rest of the band, Eric Nemeyer, he stated that he tries to model the band after his favorite drummer, which was sparked with an inner vitality. The enthusiasm of the band is Eric Nemeyer has only been playing drums for about six months.

Eric Nemeyer’s orch. made sure that we knew they were there, but they did not, were abundant. Another fragment of a conversation told me that “you gotta have a real lip to blow like that,” right after the Rollins number. But the audience was ready with compliments during the entire show; at no point during the performance was any one person’s foot still. As Eric told me, “Part is something you have to feel. You can’t just listen with your ears.”

Origins

Eric Nemeyer has only been playing drums for a little more than two years. He studied with the late Paul Patterson, who was asked to be the drummer for the Tonight Show Orchestra, but, as Eric said, “that was too dedicated to his students,” and would rather teach others how to play drums than play professionally all the time. Eric says there is nobody in Philadelphia like him.

The enthusiasm of the band is one of the overwhelming aspects of their stage performance. They played remarkably well for having been together only two months.

Eric Nemeyer’s 19-piece jazz orchestra during their performance on Saturday, February 10. Drummer Nemeyer and trombonist Gerald Mease are Ursinus students. (first trombone next to drums) are Ursinus students. Eric Nemeyer is a freshman at Ursinus College and it set the stage for an electrifying performance. The rest of the band, Eric Nemeyer, he stated that he tries to model the band after his favorite drummer, which was sparked with an inner vitality. The enthusiasm of the band is Eric Nemeyer has only been playing drums for about six months.

Eric Nemeyer’s orch. made sure that we knew they were there, but they did not, were abundant. Another fragment of a conversation told me that “you gotta have a real lip to blow like that,” right after the Rollins number. But the audience was ready with compliments during the entire show; at no point during the performance was any one person’s foot still. As Eric told me, “Part is something you have to feel. You can’t just listen with your ears.”

Origins

Eric Nemeyer has only been playing drums for a little more than two years. He studied with the late Paul Patterson, who was asked to be the drummer for the Tonight Show Orchestra, but, as Eric said, “that was too dedicated to his students,” and would rather teach others how to play drums than play professionally all the time. Eric says there is nobody in Philadelphia like him.

The enthusiasm of the band is one of the overwhelming aspects of their stage performance. They played remarkably well for having been together only two months.

Eric Nemeyer’s 19-piece jazz orchestra during their performance on Saturday, February 10. Drummer Nemeyer and trombonist Gerald Mease are Ursinus students. (first trombone next to drums) are Ursinus students.
ProTheatre Plans Several Productions And A Workshop For Spring Semester

By NANCY FRYE

Under the competent direction of Dr. Gerald L. Bergstrom, ProTheatre has become a most active organization. The Fantasticks, the group's most recent offering, is a case in point. ProTheatre has provided proof of the talent and capabilities of each member involved.

ProTheatre has a full agenda planned for the spring semester. On March 12, they will present three one-acts under student direction. Paul Rare will direct James Wallace and Bill Jones as the leads in My Momently Here, a play by Jean-Claude Van Italie. Dick Gallo will star in Crowing Arnold, a play written by Julian Pfeiffer and directed by Dave Friedenberg. Linda Mills will direct It’s Called Sunglum from Israel Horyvot featuring Kim Tilley and Mike Werner as the leads.

Shrew Taming

On May 12, Spring Parent’s Day, the group will present The Taming of the Shrew, their largest production of the semester. Casting is still underway and should be completed by April.

In addition to directing the play, Henry has recently organized an acting workshop which meets every Saturday morning at 9:30 A.M. in Wizmer - 007. No credit is given for the workshop, but interested students participate strictly on a voluntary basis. Dr. Henry offers valuable lessons in various techniques of acting, concentrating on the individual rather than the group. Each member involved.

ProTheatre has a vast amount of talent, able leadership, and enthusiasm within its ranks. Its efforts should be well worth seeing.

Photo by Roy

Kim Tilley and Mike Werner participate in the workshop.

Wisman’s Mother Hubbard Left With Bare Cookbook

By PETER SEIGL

Judging from Wismer’s open house, if the number of articles “borrowed” from the dining hall stashes at the present rate, last year’s record will be shattered along with the Dining Room budget. A few award winning snicknacks are glasses, silverware, and coffee cups. In both semesters last year, there were 598 knives stolen but just last semester 524 were missing. Water glasses came high with 104 missing last semester, up from 98 last year.

Three cheers for the students? Do not think so. Students often complain about the high cost of room and board. Admittedly the cost of missing articles is a business expense but that is no reason to make it as high as possible. The purpose of this article is to make students aware of the fact that even though they only borrow a few glasses and a spoon, this is multiplied by a large number of students and becomes a large operating expense. If this temptation can be overcome, students can save a few dollars and prevent the unscrupulous from accumulating any new high.

Rugger Anyone?

Anyone who has not signed a Rugger pledge is urged to do so, and ask for Bruce Branth. No experience is needed, just a willingness to play, and have a good time.

18 Year Old Drinking Age To Be Decided By Courts

Editor’s note: The weekly usually sends press releases without the circular file. In fact, the newspaper does not publish them. The following is a draft of an article which was intended to run in this publication, however the Collegeville Chapter of Alcoholics Anonymous feels we should refrain from printing it.

So far, a federal district judge Edward R. Becker has advised Philadelphia attorney Joseph A. Prim, Jr. that a Three-Judge District Federal Court has been appointed to hear Prim’s case and the validity of the three-year-old abstention of refusing alcohol to Pennsylvania citizens who are 18, 19 or 20 years of age.

Lack of Rights

Joseph A. Prim, Jr. retained the services of Robert J. Kiel, Pennsylvania, the plaintiff in the action, discussed what he feels the Court’s action means: “They obviously recognize that we have presented them with a very serious question. Since Pennsylvania recognizes that 18 year old are adults, clearly they cannot arbitrar-ially, or for political reasons, with- hold any rights from these citizens. I feel that the legislature should be the improved one of the ship is now. Since they haven’t, it’s now up to the Courts.”

Kiel is a law student, a Temple University and undergraduate for the plaintiff, Republican College Council of Pennsylvania, said that the plaintiff, Republican College Council of Pennsylvania, said that the 18 year olds finally will be fully recognized as adults. Pennsylvania has given us what we feel is par- tial recognition but we still have been denied the right to legally buy or consume alcoholic beverages in this state.”

By Summer!

It is expected by summer of this year that the Pennsylvania opinion will be followed by a clear right to drink in Pennsylvania. A hearing will be held before Judges Becker, VanDuzen and Davis in early March.

Prime is the lawyer who gained widespread publicity for previously challenging the illegality in the Pennsylvania support laws.

Pi Nu Notes Active Campus Musicians

By ELISIE VAN WAGONER

Although Ursinus does not have a major music program, there are many enthusiastic people on campus who devote their energies to vocal and instrumental music. In 1955, the Gamma chapter of the Pi Nu Epsilon Music Fraternity at Ursinus hosted a musical evening featuring many musical organizations as the Music Chorus, Wind Quintet, Madrigals, Marching Band, Concert Band, and Concert Orchestra. In order to qualify for membership in Pi Nu, a specific number of points must be accumulated from these activities.

Nominees

This semester twelve musicians have been invited into the music fraternity. The Pi Nu pledges include Randall Cole, Les Ann DeLan, Susan Furan, Robin Bostrom, Jim Leatherman, Gerald Meese, Anne Rich, Denise Bittman, Wayne Simon, David Spikto, Barbara T Axis, and Michael Werner.

From February 19-26, each pledge can be recognized by an individually designed tag which includes his name, the fraternity’s Greek symbol, and the Ten Commandments. It is also a chance for the Pi Nu pledges to become a part of the fraternity. Each pledge must sign a pledge book which states “I am a sixteen note.” Anyone interested in finding out more about the Pi Nu Music fraternity can ask any of the pledges for an explanation.

Activities

Under the capable leadership of Shirley Cressman, the President of Pi Nu, and its present membership, this fraternity has been active in many capacities. Pi Nu hosted a for the orchestra members and a benefit concert for the basketball team.

Another activity planned for the spring is a picnic for all the members of the organization. In sum, through all of its activities, Pi Nu ensures that the undergraduate students have an opportunity to actively express themselves through music and honors those students who have dedicated themselves to their diversified musical talents.

The TOWNE FLORIST CORTSAGES AND FLOWERS For All Ursinus Events 331 MAIN STREET COLLEGEVILLE Wire Service — 480-7235 MARZELLA’S PIZZA • Hot & Cold Sandwiches • Avoid Waiting - Call 489-0446 Tues., Wed., Thurs. 11 A.M. to 11 P.M., Fri., Sat., Sun., 3 till 12 P.M.

GOING ON . . .

at The Manning Street Theater, 1520 Lombard St., Phila.: "Pound’s Apprenticeship of Sophocles" "The Women of Trachin," now through March 7.

at The Tower Theater: Captain Beeheart and Good God, February 23; Miles Davis, March 2 at The Spectrum: Santana, February 26; The Ice Capades, now through February 27; Louis and Mezzas, March 3 at The Bijou Cafe, 1409 Lombard St., Phila.: Muddy Waters, now through February 24; David Steinerberg, February 28 at Grenda’s Lair, 500 South St., Phila.: Greta, Linda Cohen and friends, now through February 26

at Abbey Stage Door, 6615 Rising Sun Ave., Phila.: "Promises, Promises," Fridays and Saturdays through March 17

at The Forrest Theater, 1114 Walnut St., Phila.: "No, Nan-..." presented by the Philadelphia Civic Light Opera

at Ursinus: Coffee House in College Union, February 24; Forum: "Growing Up—Female," February 28 at 10:00; Arte Festival, March 3 at The Valley Forge Music Fair: Lily Tomlin, March 2 and 3

at The Main Point: Chuck Mangione, February 27; Good God, March 1-4 at The Academy of Music: Taj Mahal and Bonnie Raitt, February 26

at Bucks County Community College: Allen and Louis Gibson, February 28, 8:00 p.m.

at Beaver College: Brian Kovach, Concert Pianist, February 25, 8:00 p.m.

at Swarthmore College: Robert Creutz, post, February 25, 8:00-10:00 p.m.
By RICHARD WHALEY

This year's Ursinus College Bulletin will seem at first glance very similar to other ones in the past. Yet, a second look will prove there are important differences from previous bulletin. There have not been any radical changes, but many improvements have been made. The fact that a formal study of the new developments by Howard Pyle, the noted illustrator, was not before the family.

A recent study of the museum is well done by Pyle. His work is now as well known as his father's, Howard Pyle.

You do not have to be of the school to "like" the Pyle collection. Indeed, one need nothing about painting to enjoy this exhibit. The work is simple and easy, perhaps descriptively so, and beautiful enough to speak for itself. The fact that a particular portrait painted at a particular time illustrates a certain point in the development of the particular artist is incidental to the enjoyment of each work. Each picture is diverting in itself. This collection is not one of those which specialize in a type of picture to the point where all but the most avid reader of historical diaries die of boredom.

The Ursinus Art of School was categorized as only a diverting throwback to the days of realism, but a place in Chadds Ford while this collection of portraits is by no means a book of trash. This talented group of students has made a combination of mechanical proficiency and a photographic eye. But enough description, see the collection yourself. Students with the right to refuse religious studies are less in the interest of the student interests and requests for such a deep study of religion and the religions. During the last two decades study of World Religion and interests in various religions has been widespread in the West. Several Eastern religions have influenced American youth. With the introduction of this new course Ursinus hopes to keep up with the times.

It will also bring Ursinus in line with the main trend in the academic study of religion. Similar courses are offered in Harvard, Bryn Mawr, University of Pennsylvania and Temple University.

A Sunday paper supplement within the year illustrated the groundswell of student interest in the new (non-sectarian) study of religion. According to Dr. H. Polinski, Professor and Chairman of the Department of Religion, "we will now take our place in this development - of the accredited institution, he may receive his baccalaureate degree from Ursinus for a nominal fee.

Students who participate in band and chamber orchestra will earn one credit for each year of participation after the first full year.

Inter-Departmental Majors

A new addition to the bulletin on page 46 is the "Interdepartmental Courses of Study." A student who maintains a cumulative B average may arrange a special major which combines two or more recognized academic fields in his sophomore year. Examples given are: Biophysics, Biopsychology, American History and Literature, and Comparative Literature.

Dropped Science Requirements

Changes in requirements involve a few departments. Chemistry majors are no longer required to take German. The German department has had many changes, most of these changes in the course requirements being temporarily curtailed due to the death of Dr. Hallahan. The Philosophy and Religion Department has dropped Old and New Testament as a requirement and has made a new course, History and Anthropology of Religion of the Western and Eastern Setting the new requirement.

Due to changes in Harrisburg, a new course outline has been added to the bulletin—a Program Leading to General Science Certificate for Junior High School and Non-College Preparatory Senior High School.

History Comprehensive

Not only will English and Philosophy and Religion majors continue to have comprehensive exams, but now History majors have the exam added to their senior curriculum. Also the Economics department has added a Diagnostic test for Seniors of its department for surveying purposes.

New Introductory Religion Course Slated For Fall Semester

By NENAS KADIRGAMAR

The courses will be taught by Prof. Dr. Keith J. Hardman, Assistant Professor of Religion. Dr. Hardman is an alumnus of Harvard College, Princeton Theological Seminary, Union Theological Seminary, Columbia University and received his Ph.D. from the University of Pennsylvania. So he seems well qualified to teach this course.

According to Dr. Hardman, the Philosophy and Religion Department currently has courses in most of the areas of religious studies which are normally found in under-graduate schools, but has not intro-duced the course properly so styled. The new offering will stress the history and anthropology of world religions, rather than the scriptures of various faiths. It will attempt a systematic examination of the phenomenon of religion, and its personal, social, psychological and cultural manifestations throughout history with special attention to definitions, theories, and the facts of similarity and diversity. The Fall semester course is a prerequisite to the introductory course and will cover the same material as the introductory course. It will deal with the religions of the world. The second semester will examine some of the Eastern traditions, the Oriental and Hindu religions of the student to the major themes in the course history, thought and theory.

3000 at Kentucky

In a sense, says Dr. Hardman, "a third of the students who are going to have course offerings on campuses across the nation. Everywhere, colleges and universities are facing a problem. Religion has become a greatly renewed interest in all the phases of religion, and courses have burgeoned in the last decade. Many departments of religion have been founded, where previously little or no instruction was offered. Students are not only attracted by the faiths of Judeo-Christian tradition, but recently enormous student demand for exploration into Eastern religions and the occult has been felt everywhere. Two years ago the University of Kentucky, to cite one example, in acceding to the interest of some students, asked one professor if he would consider giving a course on the occult and witchcraft. He agreed with some reservations, uncertain of what the response might be. Over 4000 students in three phases of other religions are equally well represented. The number of Fall semester course surveyed Judaism, Islam, and Christianity. The second semester will examine some of the Eastern..."
By VEETS

Roger Blind is one of the exceptional sports people at Ursinus College. Each year, he has improved his game to such an extent that he is now a team leader. Ever since I've met this individual, I've been struck by his determination to excel in the world of sports, especially with respect to defense. Blind is one of the best defensive players on our varsity basketball team. He has consistently displayed great skill and has earned the respect of his teammates and opponents alike.

In the opinion of the author, Blind is a natural leader who possesses the qualities necessary for success in basketball. He is always prepared for a particular game and seems to have a clear understanding of his role in the team. Blind's contributions to the team are significant, as he is a valuable asset to both the offense and defense.

The author highlights the fact that Blind is not only a strong athlete but also a hard worker. His dedication to the sport and his commitment to the team are evident in his performance on the court. Blind's ability to adapt to different situations and his willingness to learn and improve are qualities that make him a valuable member of the team.

The author concludes by expressing his admiration for Blind's efforts and by emphasizing the importance of teamwork in the sport of basketball. The success of the team is, in part, due to the hard work and dedication of individuals like Blind. The author believes that Blind's contributions to the team are significant and that his efforts will continue to be important in the future.

In conclusion, Blind is a player who exemplifies the spirit of hard work and dedication. His efforts are an inspiration to his teammates and to the fans who support him. The author believes that Blind's contributions to the team are significant and that his efforts will continue to be important in the future.

---

By BOB SWEARS

Two for Three Not Bad

The Ursinus basketball team has continued to improve in recent games, with victories over Gettysburg and West Chester University. The team's success has been attributed to the exceptional performance of senior guard John Keck, who has been consistently scoring double-digit points. The team's defense has also been improved, with the addition of new players and increased teamwork. The Ursinus team is now ranked second in the conference and is poised to continue their winning streak against Franklin & Marshall this weekend.

---

By MARYLIN HARSH

Splish, Splash!

The Ursinus swimming team had a successful meet last weekend, with victories over Lebanon Valley College and Widener University. The team's success was due to the exceptional performance of several individual swimmers, including Emma Thompson, who set a new school record in the 50-yard freestyle. The team's winning streak has helped them maintain their position as one of the top teams in the conference.